REVIEW OF DECEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The event of the closing month of the year was of course the assembling on Dec. 7 of the new Congress in regular session and the submission of the President's annual message, along with some supplementary messages. There were two of these supplementary messages, one the budget message, which, like the annual message, has become a regular thing, and another message dealing with the country's foreign relations, but more particularly with the one-year moratorium arranged the previous June by Mr. Hoover with the other countries of the world concerned, in the matter of the payment of German reparations and of intergovernmental debts. While the subject of the messages dealt with the condition of the country and of the national finances, together with its foreign relations, the burden of what the President had to say concerned chiefly relief measures for assisting the country in its dire business distress, and the moratorium was of course also in the nature of a relief measure. All these relief measures occupied the time and attention of Congress during the brief period in which it remained in session before adjournment on Dec. 22 for the Christmas holidays.

THE PRESIDENT'S RELIEF MEASURES.

In his relief program the President recommended for enactment mainly measures which he had previously indicated would be proposed by him, and therefore what he said contained no surprises or anything not well known before. Some of these proposals were outlined in a statement which he issued Oct. 6, at which time his plans for the mobilization of the country's banking resources (through the National Credit Corp. subsequently created) were made known. In his annual message the President, after noting that the chief influence affecting the country during the past year had been the continued world-wide economic disturbance, and saying that "our national concern has been to meet the emergencies it had created for us and to lay the foundations for recovery," urged the establishment of "an emergency Reconstruction Corp. of the nature of the former War Finance Corp." "Its functions," he said, "would not overlap those of the National Credit Corp." With regard to the functions of the proposed Reconstruction Corp., the President remarked:

The Treasury should be authorized to subscribe a reasonable capital to it, and it should be given authority to issue its own debentures. It should be placed in liquidation at the end of two years. Its purpose is that by strengthening the weak spots, to thus liberate the full strength of the nation's resources. It should be in position to facilitate exports by American agencies; make advances to agricultural credit agencies where necessary to protect and aid the agricultural industry; to make temporary advances upon proper securities to established industries, railways and financial institutions which can not otherwise secure credit, and where such advances will protect the credit structure and stimulate employment.

"The establishment of a system of home-loan discount banks as the necessary companion in our financial structure of the Federal Reserve banks and our Federal Land banks" was also among the President's recommendations to Congress. An extension, "during emergencies," of the rediscount provisions of the Federal Reserve Act was likewise one of the proposals to Congress which the President had heretofore announced he would make. The President said that the need of a sounder banking system "is plainly shown by the extent of bank failures." He added:

I recommend the prompt improvement of the banking laws. Changed financial conditions and commercial practices must be met. Congress should investigate the need for separation between different kinds of banking; an enlargement of branch banking under proper restrictions, and the methods by which enlarged membership in the Federal Reserve System may be brought about.

The recommendation was also made in the message that Congress authorize the subscription by the Treasury of further capital to the Federal Land banks to be retired as provided in the original act, or when funds are available, and that repayments of such capital be treated as a fund available for further subscriptions in the same manner. The message observed that "the railways present one of our immediate and pressing problems." On that subject the President said:

The well-maintained and successful operation and the stability of railway finances are of primary importance to economic recovery. They should have more effective opportunity to reduce operating costs by proper consolidation. As their rates must be regulated in public interest, so also approximate regulation should be applied to competing services by some authority. The methods of their regulation should be revised. The Inter-State Commerce Commission has made important and far-reaching recommendations upon the whole subject, which I commend to the early consideration of the Congress.

The President renewed his recommendation of a year ago for a "Congressional inquiry into the economic action of the anti-trust laws." In expressing his opposition to "any direct or indirect Government dole" the President had the following to say in part on unemployment:

We must avoid burdens upon the Government which will create more unemployment in private industry than can be gained by further expansion of employment by the Federal Government. We can now stimulate employment and agriculture more effectually and speedily through the voluntary measures in progress, through the thawing out of credit, through the building up of stability abroad, through the home loan discount banks, through an emergency finance corporation and the rehabilitation of the railways and other such directions.

While the President dealt with the Government's finances in his budget message, issued later in the week, he made reference thereto in his annual message. Indicating the necessity of an emergency taxation measure, he said:

During the fiscal year ending June 30 last we incurred a deficit of about $903,000,000, which included the statutory reduction of the debt and represented an increase of the national debt by $616,000,000. Of this, however, $153,000,000 is offset by increased cash balances.

In comparison with the fiscal year 1928 there is indicated a fall in Federal receipts for the present fiscal year amounting to $1,683,000,000, of which $1,034,000,000 is in individual and corporate income taxes alone. During this fiscal year there will be an increased expenditure, as compared to 1928, on veterans of $255,000,000, and an increased expenditure on construction work which may reach $520,000,000. Despite large economies in other directions, we have an indicated deficit, including the statutory retirement of the debt, of $2,123,000,000, and an indicated net debt increase of about $1,711,000,000.

The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next (1932), after allowing for some increase of taxes under the present laws and after allowing for drastic reduction in expenditures, still indicates a deficit of $1,417,000,000. After offsetting the statutory debt retirements this would indicate an increase in the national debt for the fiscal year 1933 of about $921,000,000.

Several conclusions are inevitable. We must have insistent and determined reduction in Government expenses. We must face a temporary increase in taxes. Such increase should not cover the whole of these deficits or it will retard recovery. We must partially finance the deficit by borrowing. It is my view that the amount of taxation should be fixed so as to balance the budget for 1933, except for the statutory debt retirement. Such Government receipts would assure the balance of the following year's budget, including debt retirement. It is my further view that the additional taxation should be imposed solely as an emergency measure terminating definitely two years from July 1 next.

The President urged a return to the income tax schedules of 1924. This meant that the surtaxes were to run to a maximum of 40% on incomes over $500,000 instead of a maximum of 20% as at present and applying to incomes over $100,000. This would be in addition to a normal tax of 6%, making 46%, or in addition to a corporation tax of 12½c where the income is derived from the profits of corporations, in which latter event the total tax levied by the Federal Government on amounts over $500,000 would be 52½%. But there are the State income taxes also to be taken into account. In this State there is a corporation income tax of 4½% and a graded personal income tax to a maximum of 3% on amounts of income over $50,000. In other words, there is 7½% to be added for State taxes in addition to the 52½% which the Federal Government proposes to take, making no less than 60% on extra large incomes entirely independent of any real estate and/or other taxes that the individual or the corporation may have to pay.

In his budget message the President, though the country is beset with shrinking revenues and budget deficits running into billions, asked Congress to give approval to the agreement he entered into with the other governments for a one-year moratorium on German reparations and intergovernmental debt payments, but had further concessions of the same kind in mind, saying:

As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full, pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to blind ourselves to an obvious fact. Therefore it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

In order that we should be in position to deal with the situation I recommend the re-creation of the World War Foreign Debt Commission, with authority to examine such problems as may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency and to report to the Congress its conclusions and recommendations.

On Tuesday, Dec. 8, companion bills, designed to give effect to the recommendations of President Hoover, and providing for the creation of a "Reconstruction Finance Corp.," were introduced in the Senate by Senator Walcott of Connecticut and in the House by Representative Strong of Kansas. It appeared from these bills that this corporation was to have an initial Government subscribed capital of $500,000,000. It was also to have authority to issue debentures, or like obligations, to a maximum of $1,500,000,000.

OPENING OF CONGRESS AND ELECTION OF A DEMOCRATIC SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The opening of the first session of the Seventy-second Congress at noon on Monday, Dec. 7, was marked by the election of Representative John N. Garner (Democrat), of Texas, as Speaker of the House, Mr. Garner having the distinction of being the first Democrat since 1919 to preside over either the House or Senate. Out of a total of 430 votes cast for the Speaker, Mr. Garner received 218; Representative Bertrand H. Snell (Republican), of New York, received 207 votes; George J. Schneider, a Representative-elect from Wisconsin (Progressive Republican), received five votes. The Washington correspondent of the New York "Herald Tribune" remarked that in several respects the opening session of this House was probably without precedent since the earliest days of the Union. Only one member was absent, Representative J. Will Taylor, of Tennessee, a Republican, who was critically ill. The first roll call of the session showed 433 of the 435 authorized membership present, the First New Hampshire District being vacant. . . .

PRESIDENT HOOVER APPEALS FOR UNITED SUPPORT OF TWELVE-POINT NON-PARTISAN PROGRAM FOR ECONOMIC RECOVERY EMBODIED IN HIS ANNUAL MESSAGE.

In a statement issued at his conference with newspaper men on Dec. 11, President Hoover appealed to the nation for support of his program embodied in his annual message to Congress on Dec. 8, "for starting the country upon the road to recovery." "A part of the program," said the President, "requires legislation. It is a non-partisan program. . . . I appeal for unity of action for its consummation." He added that "the major steps that we must take are domestic." The principal parts of the program comprise 12 points, which include "provision for distress among the unemployed by voluntary and united action of local authorities in co-operation with the President's unemployment relief organization," assistance to home owners, enlargement of discount facilities of Federal Reserve banks, creation of emergency Reconstruction Finance Corp., assistance to the railroads, &c. The President outlined his 12-point program as follows:

1. Unemployment relief by voluntary organization and united local action.
2. Continuance of part-time work to spread employment.
3. Strengthening of the Federal Land bank system in the interest of the farmer.
4. Assistance to home owners through renewals of mortgages, strengthening banks and creating a home loan discount bank system.
5. Development of a plan to return to depositors money in closed banks.
6. Liberalization of Federal Reserve bank discount facilities.
7. Creation of an emergency reconstruction finance corporation.
8. Assistance to all railroads through restriction of unregulated competition, formation of a credit pool for weaker roads and other measures.
9. Revision of the banking laws better to safeguard depositors.
10. Support of banks through the National Credit Association.
11. Maintenance of public finance on a sound basis through drastic reduction of Federal expenditures and a temporary tax increase.
12. The maintenance of the American system of individual initiative and individual and community responsibility.

HOUSE PASSES BILL AMENDING FEDERAL FARM LOAN ACT TO PROVIDE $100,000,000 ADDITIONAL CAPITAL FOR FEDERAL LAND BANKS—A SENATE AMENDMENT ADDS $25,000,000 MORE.

In accordance with the recommendation in the annual message of President Hoover, and likewise in the annual report of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, a bill amending the Federal Farm Loan Act so as to provide $100,000,000 additional capital for the Federal Land banks was passed by the House of Representatives on Dec. 19 by a viva voce vote. All amendments were voted down, and a motion to recommit was rejected by a vote of 192 to 165. According to a Washington dispatch, Dec. 19, to the New York "Times," the bill was carried after the conservative Republicans, joined by several Democrats, including the Tammany delegation, defeated by a vote of 195 to 160 a farm bloc amendment providing for a one-year moratorium on all unpaid loans held by the Federal Land banks. An additional $25,000,000 to be used in granting postponements on farm mortgage payments was attached to the bill by a Senate subcommittee on banking. Associated Press advices from Washington, Dec. 26, further said:

The bill as passed by the House calls for the Government to subscribe $100,000,000 to the capital of the Land banks and authorizes the banks at their discretion to allow postponements of mortgage instalments due and their payment over a five-year period.

The Senate sub-committee, headed by Senator Robert D. Carey (Rep.), of Wyoming, voted to add the $25,000,000 in order to finance the so-called moratorium for farmer borrowers. The $25,000,000 is to be repaid to the Federal Treasury by the banks when their need for the money has passed. Senator Carey believes the amendment will permit a moratorium and, at the same time, avoid weakening the banks.

A favorable report on the measure with the amendment was decided upon by the Committee, which will approve the final language of the re-draft at another executive session. Mr. Carey said the bill would be reported promptly to the full Committee and probably would be laid before the Senate soon after Congress reconvened.

BILL FOR CREATION OF HOME LOAN DISCOUNT BANKS INTRODUCED IN HOUSE.

A bill to carry out the recommendation of President Hoover for the creation of 12 home loan discount banks was introduced in the House on Dec. 9 by Representative Robert Luce, Republican, of Massachusetts. With regard thereto, the New York "Times" said:

Capital stock, supplied by an appropriation of $150,000,000, but which would ultimately be returned to the Federal Treasury as private investors purchased the stock, is proposed in the Luce bill.

The measure embraces the principal features of the program recently outlined by the President in which he described the proposed home banks as "the necessary companion of our financial structure of the Federal Reserve banks and the Federal Land banks."

Early creation of the proposed home loan system, Mr. Luce said, would relieve many banks and building loan companies which now have difficulty in meeting requests for withdrawal of funds, for renewal of mortgages, loans and new mortgages.

With the opening subscription by the Government of $150,000,000 capital stock, the 12 banks could finance from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 for the borrowing institutions, raising funds by means of bond or note issues.

Bonds and notes to be issued under the Luce bill would be of a type to appeal to conservative investors, it was said. The security offered would be first mortgages on homes and would represent from 167 to 200% of the amount of the securities sold to the public.

A board consisting of five members appointed by the President would have general supervision over the system and would be authorized to appoint four of the proposed seven directors of each regional bank.

APPROVAL BY PRESIDENT'S CONFERENCE ON HOME BUILDING AND HOME OWNERSHIP OF PROPOSAL FOR HOME LOAN DISCOUNT BANKS—PROVISION FOR CONTINUANCE OF WORK OF CONFERENCE.

Adoption by the President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership of a resolution endorsing President Hoover's plan for a system of home loan discount banks and provision for a continuing committee to carry on its work marked the closing sessions of the organization's conference at Washington, D. C., which ended Dec. 5. President Hoover on that date suggested another similar conference in about a year, according to the "United States Daily" of Dec. 7, from which the following is also taken:

The Conference stated that establishment of such a bank system would "relieve the present financial strain upon sound savings banks, trust companies, and building and loan associations" and would be of permanent value in promoting home ownership in the future. It pledged its support of the plan in Congress.

The Secretary of the Interior, Ray Lyman Wilbur, on Dec. 5, transmitted to the Conference a "personal message" from President Hoover, in which the President promised to provide for the continuing committee suggested by the Conference and declared he "hoped to see you again in about a year in a second conference." He pledged also a continuation of the housing "war" until every home is "clean, convenient, wholesome, sanitary, and a fit place for a mother and father to bring to maturity young citizens who will keep our Nation strong, vigorous, and worthy."

The Real Estate Board of New York, Inc., on Dec. 6, after a careful study of the proposed system of home loan discount banks, pointed out that its approval of the project was limited to that feature of the plan that purposes to relieve the strain upon sound building and loan associations, savings banks, deposit banks and farm loan banks. It was made plain in the announcement that the Board could not at the present time extend its approval to cover any broadening of the plan that would lend further encouragement to a wide residential building movement without a more extensive survey of the number of private dwellings on the market throughout the country. The Realty Board's announcement, in part, follows:

Realizing that the emergency value of the Hoover plan depends upon its speedy application, the Real Estate Board is urging its members to write to their Congressmen or directly to the White House urging immediate passage of the requisite Federal legislation. If the law is enacted the Board will probably take similar steps to bring to the attention of members o. the State Legislature the advisability of instant consideration of whatevef State legislation is necessary for the adequate functioning of the systemr

Under date of Dec. 2, Associated Press advices from Syracuse, N. Y., reported that disapproval of the proposal for nation-wide promotion of home-building as a means of relieving depression was voiced in a statement sent to President Hoover by the Syracuse Society of Architects. The proposal, they said, would be "an aggravation of an acute disease and simply defer a greater misery to a future time." The architects said that the need at present is not financing for new home building, but aid for present overburdened home owners to place their financing on a sounder basis.

BILL FOR CREATION OF RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION INTRODUCED IN SENATE AND HOUSE BY SENATOR WALCOTT AND REPRESENTATIVE STRONG—PROPOSAL FOR DISCOUNTING SECURITIES BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS.

As noted above, companion bills, designed to give effect to the recommendations of President Hoover for the creation of a "Reconstruction Finance Corp.," were introduced in the Senate and House on Dec. 8 by Senator Walcott, Connecticut, and Representative Strong, Kansas, respectively. The New York "Journal of Commerce," indicating this in a Washington dispatch, further said:

This corporation, with an initial Government subscribed capital of $500,000,000, would do substantially what was undertaken by the former War Finance Corp. Authority would be given the body to issue debentures, or like obligations, to a maximum of $1,500,000,000.

The bill is understood to have been drafted by the Administration and Walcott and Strong selected to pilot it through Congress.

The new formula of the White House to combat financial depression will meet with vigorous opposition in both branches of Congress, it was indicated immediately. While declaring he did not wish to engage in a political controversy in the matter of Government finance arrangements, Senator Glass of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the Banking and Currency Committee, expressed the opinion the Walcott measure would fail of passage.

Glass already has made known his opposition to extension of Federal aid to the banks, asserting that "if the United States was going to the people for funds with which to help these financial institutions when they make mistakes, there would be no end to mistakes made."

Principal objection to the bill among Banking and Currency Committee members in the Senate will be based upon the belief that the Administration has not given the half billion dollar National Credit Corp. a chance to prove its worth before launching the plan for the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, proposed by President Hoover in his message to the Congress, was urged at a hearing before the Banking and Currency Committee of the House and a subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, Dec. 18, by Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, as the one thing which will, in his opinion, do more than any other to reassure the people who are dominated by fear at the present time. "The very knowledge of its existence," Mr. Meyer told the Committee, "would do more to reassure people in fear than any other one thing." The foregoing is from the "United States Daily" of Dec. 19, from which we also quote as follows:

Governor Meyer told the House Committee that he prefers not to make predictions as to the result of the creation of the Corporation, because of the many factors influential in shaping economic events, but stated that he was "hopeful" that a higher price level for commodities and securities might result from its activities. "It would contribute strongly in that direction," he stated in reply to a question by Representative Goldsborough (Dem.), of Denton, Md.

Real Estate Situation.

He referred to the fact that there was a rise in the price level during the period of activity of the War Finance Corp., after which the proposed Corporation is modeled.

The most important unfavorable economic factor at the present time, in Mr. Meyer's opinion, is the real estate situation, with the condition of the railroads also of prime importance. Building and loan associations, he said, are suffering from depression and demoralization of values, which have been carried in many cases to an extreme.

Foreign conditions are also a factor in the situation, he stated, entirely apart from the matters of investments, loans reparations, and other intergovernmental relationships, in that reduced buying power abroad, intensified by disturbed exchanges, interrupts normal foreign trade activities.

Availability of Funds.

The main value of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., according to Governor Meyer, will lie in the availability of funds, if needed. While loans will be made, and perhaps in some volume, the Corporation will be of fundamental importance in removing the fear that grows out of uncertainty as to whether funds can be obtained or not.

Mr. Meyer referred to his recommendation of 10 years ago that the War Finance Corp. be formed. "I said then and feel now that it is a sound principle of government in exceptional circumstances involving the national interest to depart from the ordinary governmental activities and ordinary governmental participation in the financial operations of the country and to provide temporary and exceptional institutions and measures to deal with them."

He reviewed briefly the history of the War Finance Corp., particularly its operations under the non-war or reconstruction powers. Not much money was loaned under the war powers, he told the Committee, but the support to financial institutions was of great importance. "It was a confidence-inspiring institution," he said, "and figures do not show its full value effectively. On occasions there were industries which needed financing, and when the support of the War Finance Corp. enabled the bankers to finance the requirements of the concerns in question through the regular investment market, such transactions were of better effect than the actual lending of money by the Corporation."

Fear Is Dominant.

"We have a situation now where fear is dominant, just as it was in 1921," he continued. "The fear, now as then, is not fear of the borrower of good character, and standing, or of his securities, but fear of the general situation. In many cases it is the fear of the weak in the minds of the strong, not the weak fearing the strong."

On Dec. 19, George L. Harrison, Governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, appearing before the Senate Subcommittee on Banking and Currency, urged prompt action on the bill providing for the creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. A Washington dispatch on that date to the New York "Times" went on to say:

He explained that the National Credit Corporation, representing a pool of banking interests, could not be employed in the general situation and had not done so much as desired in relieving frozen credit in the banks.

He said that the banks associated in the pool had not been called upon to pay their debentures in full because thus far aid had been furnished to weak banks through loans.

Both he and Ogden L. Mills, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, said that the formation of the National Credit Corporation had had a splendid psychological effect in re-establishing confidence of depositors. Neither witness, however, told the Committee how much money had been borrowed to aid distressed banks.

Mr. Mills insisted that immediate need existed for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, saying that "if it is not created it will be a matter of regret to every member of the subcommittee."

He agreed with Senator Glass that there would be no objection to excluding foreign securities as collateral for loans with the proposed corporation.

Senator Glass objected to the provisions in the bill which make paper of non-member banks eligible for rediscount. On this point Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, said it was necessary to assist Federal Reserve members as well as non-member banks.

Senator Glass replied that this was a dangerous practice, opening the door of the Reserve System in respect to the rediscounting of paper and even to unlimited rediscounting of government bonds. He declared that the "Federal Reserve System was organized to respond to demands of commerce and industry," and not to make investment securities eligible. The rediscount privilege, he said, had already been "frightfully abused."

NATIONAL CREDIT CORPORATION NOT FUNCTIONING UP TO EXPECTATIONS.

Disclosures came that the National Credit Corp., so prominently brought into view only a little over two months before, had failed of its purpose or was proving entirely inadequate to accomplish the ends for which it was established. This revelation came in the testimony given before a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency. It will be remembered that the basis for the National Credit Corp. was laid at a conference at the White House at Washington late on the night of Oct. 6, and, according to President Hoover's official announcement, "the purpose of this institution is to be the rediscounting of banking assets not now eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve banks in order to assure our banks, being sound, that they may attain liquidity in case of necessity." The New York Clearing House banks pledged themselves to contribute $150,000,000, or 2% of their net demand and time deposits, and all the other banks in the country were to do the same thing, thereby providing a fund of at least, it was estimated, $500,000,000. The Credit Corp. also was to have authority to issue up to $1,000,000,000 of debentures. Now came eminent banking men to express disappointment with the outcome. Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, went on record to express the view referred to. Mr. Traylor's testimony was given at the hearing on the proposal recommended by President Hoover in his annual message that a $500,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corp. be established with the idea of extending aid generally and to assist the railroads and various other undertakings badly in need of funds. Mr. Traylor gave it as his opinion that the taking over, through the National Credit Corp., by banks which are in most liquid condition of slow-moving assets from less fortunate banks meant only a transfer of undesirable loans from bank to bank and eventually would mean that banks would find themselves with $500,000,000 invested in such paper. Relief work of that description, Mr. Traylor contended, is the function of an organization outside of the banks themselves, under present conditions, and he pronounced the proposed Reconstruction Corp. as the proper agency.

With reference to the defects of the National Credit Corp., of which he is Committee Chairman in his own Federal Reserve District, and the need of replacing it by some institution like the proposed Reconstruction Finance Corp., Mr. Traylor said:

"The National Credit Corporation was formed voluntarily by the banks of the country to meet an emergency that they felt clearly existed at the time. That emergency arose because of the believed inability for solvent banks to borrow against their collateral.

"As a matter of fact, banks had two avenues open, either their Federal Reserve membership or their correspondent relations, but there was a general public feeling that a number of banks had assets that were good, but too slow to meet requirements. This Corporation was formed, therefore, for the purpose of making loans against slow assets.

"What it meant was that the pooled assets of the banks would be loaned to borrowing banks against assets that were slow. The result is that to the extent that this pool loans against frozen assets they are taking into their own portfolio assets that, at the moment they come in, are subject to criticism as slow. To pursue this policy to the end would mean tieing up $500,000,000 in slow assets. Therefore, I believe this bill should be enacted at the earliest possible moment to relieve the banks from further tieing up their assets."

The resumption of public confidence in banks would be sufficient reason for the adoption of the bill embracing the new organization, Mr. Traylor said, asserting that "if the confidence in our central banking institutions fails, then everything else fails."

Immediate action for the establishment of the $500,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corp. was also urged before the Senate Sub-committee on Banking and Currency as an aid to the railroads. Among those appearing on behalf of the railroads on Dec. 22 were Ezra Brainerd, Jr., Chairman of the Inter-State Commerce Commission; Frederick H. Ecker, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Morgan B. Brainard, President of the Aetna Life Insurance Co.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S WAR DEBTS MORATORIUM RATIFIED BY CONGRESS IN AMENDED FORM AND BECOMES A LAW.

In his special message to Congress on foreign affairs, submitted Dec. 10, President Hoover, as already noted, discussed in detail his moratorium proposal of the previous June and requested that a law be passed before the following Tuesday (Dec. 15) authorizing the postponement of payments due the U. S. Treasury from foreign Governments in the year ending June 30 1932, and providing for their payment over a 10-year period beginning July 1 1933. As a majority of the members of Congress had committed themselves in advance to the proposal, the passage of the ratifying Act was a foregone conclusion, but not by the date set, and yet very rapid progress was made in pushing the measure through, especially considering the decided opposition to any general debt cancellation. The measure finally passed with a rider attached expressing the opposition of Congress to any debt cancellation. The House Ways and Means Committee on Dec. 17 approved the ratifying resolution by a vote of 21 to 4, but with an amendment declaring it "against the policy of Congress that any of the indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States . . . be cancelled or reduced." The amendment against cancellation or reduction had first been adopted by the Committee by a vote of 16 to 9. The declaration against debt curtailment was offered by Representative Heartsill Ragon, Democrat, of Arkansas. As adopted, it read as follows:

Sec. 5. It is hereby expressly declared to be against the policy of Congress that any of the indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States should be in any manner cancelled or reduced, and nothing in this joint resolution shall be construed as indicating a contrary policy, or as implying that favorable consideration will be given at any time to a change in the policy hereby declared.

Two days were set aside for consideration of the joint resolution, namely, Friday, Dec. 18, and Saturday, Dec. 19, with night sessions. The House, however, did not need the two days allowed. It was rushed through with great speed and was ratified Friday night, Dec. 18, by a vote of 318 to 100. Congress on Dec. 22 completed action on the joint resolution. On that date the Senate approved the resolution at 10 p.m. by a vote of 69 to 12. The President signed the resolution on Dec. 23, and with the signing of the bill issued the following statement:

I have signed the Act authorizing the foreign debt postponement for one year. I am gratified at the support it received in the Congress as indicated by the approval (including those absent, yet who expressed their views) of 79 Senators as against 15 opposed, and the approval of 317 members of the House of Representatives as against 100 opposed. [The Congressional Record gives the House vote as 318 to 100.—Ed.] It is further gratifying that both political parties strongly supported this proposal.

The suggestion of our Government for the year's postponement of intergovernmental debts among all principal nations, of which ours is only a part, averted a catastrophe, the effects of which would have reached to the United States and would have caused the American people a loss of many times the amount involved. No part of the debt owing to us has been cancelled or reduced; the postponed amounts are repayable over a period of about 10 years with interest at 4%.

In saving the collapse of Germany by the year's postponement, the American people have done something greater than the dollars and cents gained from the maintenance of our agricultural markets, the prevention of panic and unlimited losses. They have contributed to maintain courage and hope in the German nation, to give opportunity for the other European countries to work out their problems.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE OF BANK FOR INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENTS AT BASLE RENDERS ITS REPORT SAYING GERMANY CANNOT MEET REPARATIONS PAYMENTS UPON EXPIRATION OF PRESIDENT HOOVER'S MORATORIUM—GOVERNMENTS URGED TO TAKE IMMEDIATE ACTION FOR DEALING WITH CRISIS.

The special advisory committee appointed at the instance of the Bank for International Settlements to examine into German's ability to pay reparations as provided in the Young Plan presented its conclusions in a report signed at Basle on Dec. 24. They reached the conclusion that Germany would be unable to meet the required payments with the expiration of the year's moratorium on July 1 1932. The special advisory committee after some preliminary exchanges of views on Sunday, Dec. 6, began its formal meetings on Monday, Dec. 7. Professor Alberto Beneduce of Italy was promptly named Chairman, after Walter W. Stewart of the United States had declined the honor. Other members were Sir Walter T. Layton of Great Britain, Charles Rist of France, Dr. Carl Melchior of Germany, Emile Francqui of Belgium and Daisucke Nohara of Japan. The right of the committee to name four additional members was exercised and the body was increased to 11 members through the addition of Dr. Rudolph G. Bindschedler of Switzerland, Hendryk Colijn of Holland, Otto Rydbeck of Sweden, and George Djouritch of Yugoslavia. The co-operation of the four additional members was expected to speed up the work, and so it did. The report of the committee headed by Alberto Beneduce of Italy, and running to more than 8,000 words, and agreed on unanimously, expressed the conclusion derived from "its survey of the facts" that "Germany would be justified in declaring, as she is entitled to under the Young Plan, that in spite of the steps she has taken to maintain the stability of her currency, she will not be able in the year beginning in July next (1932) to transfer the conditional part of her annuity." But the report really went considerably further than this. The larger part of the report naturally is given over to an elaborate analysis of Germany's financial and business condition, particularly during 1931 down to the date of the report. The committee find that the recent heavy surplus of exports "is in part the result of certain abnormal factors," among them the sale of goods, "in many cases at a loss," to obtain needed cash, some exceptional sales to Great Britain in anticipation of tariff duties, and a decline in imports due to unemployment, lower wages, high taxation, and a fall in the world price level. The committee are doubtful if this export surplus can be kept up in the face of hostile tariffs, import and export restrictions, exchange control measures, and competition occasioned by the depreciation of sterling and other currencies. On the other hand, "the decline of economic activity, the fall of profits resulting from the fall in prices, and the lower yield of the taxes on wages due to increased unemployment and lower wage rates, have seriously reduced the yield of taxation." To meet the decline in receipts from taxation, taxes have been greatly increased, at the same time that the expenditures of the Reich "on all objects other than service of the debt, transfers to the Federal States external war burdens, and emergency unemployment relief," have been reduced 22% from 1929 to 1932. "In view," however, the report continues, "of the measures taken in the four decrees relating to taxation and expenditure issued in the last two years, and in particular in that of Dec. 8 1931, the committee is of the opinion that the burden of taxation has become so high that there is no margin for a further increase." The receipts of the German Railway Co. fell off 28% in 1931 as compared with 1929, and in both 1930 and 1931 the surplus of receipts was heavily below the amount which the railways must contribute to the reparations payments.

Without attempting to examine all of the underlying causes of the present world-wide depression, the committee note that the circumstances and conditions which have led to the present crisis are in part peculiar to Germany and in part international. The extreme fall in prices, unparallelled in any crisis for the past hundred years, "has deeply affected all economic activity." "The sharp reduction of the purchasing power of the large masses of consumers has involved in the last two years a reduction or the complete disappearance of industrial profits, serious unemployment and an uninterrupted slump in stock exchange securities." The consequent banking crisis "has provoked a general lack of confidence and involved a withdrawal of foreign capital from countries which hitherto have had the use of it"; the exchange value of a number of currencies has been maintained on a nominal basis only by government decrees or the partial suspension of foreign payments; a fresh disturbance has been occasioned by the abandonment of the gold standard, and tariffs have cut down international trade. "Attempts to maintain the international balance of payments by means of larger and abnormal movements of gold have weakened the monetary foundations of many countries." In Germany particularly, obligated to transfer large sums annually to its creditors, the inability to obtain further foreign loans has produced a situation, "clearly pointed out" by the Dawes committee, in which international payments "can be made only in the form of goods." Regarding the large short-term credits obtained because of Germany's "demand for capital to fill the gap left by the war, the aftermath and the inflation," the committee point out that "a substantial part . . . . have proved to be immobilized in long-term investments. Withdrawal of these credits must therefore threaten not only the exchange but also the liquidity of banks themselves."

The committee accordingly conclude that "it is evident . . . that Germany would be justified in declaring—in accordance with her rights under the Young Plan—that in spite of the steps she has taken to maintain the stability of her currency she will not be able in the year beginning in July next to transfer the conditional part of the annuity." The committee have felt it their duty, however, to "draw the attention of the Governments to the unprecedented gravity of the crisis, the magnitude of which undoubtedly exceeds the 'relatively short depression' envisaged in the Young Plan, to meet which the 'measures of safeguard' were designed. . . . Action is most urgently needed in a much wider field than that of Germany alone. . . . The year 1931 has not yet ended, and already the crisis has taken formidable dimensions, shattering the exchanges of many countries one after the other and accumulating difficulties which, if not dealt with, will only prove the forerunners of further catastrophies." Further, the economic decline has produced "a general political instability from which an anxious world is suffering more and more"—a condition which has been aggravated by the political considerations which have "often been allowed to influence the treatment of economic problems by the Governments, thus preventing the latter from viewing these problems in their true light and from dealing with them on their merits."

The report concludes by emphasizing three considerations which the committee regard as "of great importance." "The first is that transfers from one country to another on a scale so large as to upset the balance of payments can only accentuate the present chaos. It should also be borne in mind that the release of a debtor country from a burden of payments which it is unable to bear may merely have the effect of transferring that burden to a creditor country, which, in its character as a debtor, it in turn may be unable to bear. Again, the adjustment of all inter-governmental debts (reparations and other war debts) to the existing troubled situation of the world—and the adjustment should take place without delay if new disasters are to be avoided—is the only lasting step capable of re-establishing confidence. . . . Finally, although the German Government is energetically defending the stability of its currency, steps are necessary to assure that these measures shall have a permanent effect."

It should be observed that while the report is silent on the specific question of the unconditional part of the German annuities—a subject which the committee, mainly because of the opposition of France, was debarred from considering—and deals only incidentally with the question of German short-term credits regarding which a report from another committee of bankers will shortly be forthcoming, the reference to transfers in the first of the committee's concluding observations appears comprehensive enough to admit of including both matters among those which the conference may consider. The report is further silent on the question whether the moratorium to be accorded to Germany should be limited to the two-year period contemplated by the Young Plan or should be given a greater extension. There is nothing in the report to indicate an opinion on the part of the committee adverse to the further payment of reparations or war debts, the only recommendation being that such payments should be adjusted "to the existing troubled situation of the world."

Cable advices stated that the most important annex to the report of the Advisory Committee of the Bank for International Settlements was that of the sub-committee on German Assets Abroad which revealed that no accurate estimate could be made of Germany's foreign investments. This sub-committee estimated that short-term credits, long-term investments and bank claims abroad amounted to 8,400,000,000 reichsmarks in July and 8,100,000,000 in November. A Basle cablegram Dec. 24, to the New York "Times" gave the handicaps as follows:

> The object of the foreign indebtedness committee was to establish Germany's net income, but because of insufficient information on German assets abroad it was obliged to give merely a rough estimate of what the income from investments might be. The concealed investments were closely connected with the flight of capital from Germany since the Hoover moratorium was announced, and this flight of German capital, together with withdrawals of credits by foreign investors, was declared by the experts to be one of the principal causes of Germany's critical condition.
> The fact that the proceeds from Germany's favorable trade balance are mostly contained in these hidden assets, which are chiefly the property of private individuals and not of the German State, makes it impossible for Germany to use this favorable balance in extricating herself from indebtedness.

The issuance of the report by the Advisory Committee on the inability of Germany to meet reparations payments was followed by a movement on the part of Great Britain and France to bring about a conference on war debts and reparations. The first reports with regard thereto, which came from London Dec. 25, indicated that those two Governments were addressing notices to the nations interested to meet at The Hague on Jan. 18. It has been indicated since that the conference will be held at Lausanne on that date. The initiative in calling the conference was taken by Great Britain on Dec. 30, according to a London cablegram on that date to the New York "Times," which said:

> No formal invitations were issued, but instead the curiously indirect procedure was adopted of giving the Government of Switzerland the responsibility for issuing them. Instructions were given to the British Ambassadors and Ministers abroad "to suggest to the Governments of ten foreign countries that they should ask Switzerland to allow the conference to meet at Lausanne on Jan. 18."
> The ten countries mentioned are the creditors of Germany—France, Italy, Belgium, Portugal, Greece, Poland, Japan, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugoslavia.

PRIVATE BANKING COMMITTEE ON EXTENSION OF GERMAN SHORT-TERM CREDITS ALSO MEETS, BUT DOES NOT CONCLUDE ITS LABORS.

Representatives of the banking interests of the United States, Great Britain, France, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland began their consideration of the extension of the "Stillhaltung" aggreement on German private short-term credits at Paris, Monday Dec. 7, (the same day as the Advisory Committee of experts appointed at the instance of the Bank for International Settlements began its deliberations) at a meeting that was preliminary to the scheduled conference at Berlin which began on Thursday, Dec. 10, but no official conclusions or report was forthcoming during December. According to a Berlin cablegram, Dec. 17, to the New York "Times" the bankers at that time were busy cataloguing the two categories of German credits, commercial or reimbursement credits and the non-commercial credits, that is those not granted for certain business transactions. The chief problem the cablegram stated, was what should be done with the non-commercial credits which definitely are frozen while the reimbursement credits are self-liquidating. The Bankers' Committee, therefore, split up into two sub-committees, of which one was to catalogue the credits as to their categories, while the other one discussed the fundamental stabilization problems.

RAILROAD SITUATION DOES NOT IMPROVE AND WABASH RY. IS PUT INTO THE HANDS OF RECEIVERS—PLANS FOR MODERATE ADVANCES IN FREIGHT RATES PERMITTED BY INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION COMPLETED, BUT WAGE QUESTION STILL UNSETTLED AND MAKING NO PROGRESS.

The plight of the railroads remained one of the worst sore spots in the general economic situation and little progress was made in carrying out measures of relief during December. Losses in revenues continued of frightful proportions, notwithstanding comparisons were with very poor returns in the corresponding periods of the previous year. Numerous additions were made to the dividend reductions and dividend omissions by leading railroads which have so long been a feature of affairs among the railroads in all parts of the country, testifying how serious was the situation of the roads.

As if this were not enough, a new chapter was now opened in the beginning of railroad receiverships on a large scale, evidence that a stage had been reached where even the ability to earn interest payments was in question. One of our big railroad systems, the Wabash Railway, situated in the very heart of the country, passed into the hands of receivers on the first day of the month, marking the climax of the troubles with which the railroads have been affected for the past 18 months and affording new testimony to the seriousness of these troubles and how urgent the need of relieving or removing them. Very naturally the bond market, and especially railroad bonds, which were weak before, suffered a new break more disastrous than any yet encountered in the whole of the long lane of depression. Another bad piece of news came about the same time. The news was to the effect that the New York Central RR. had filed application with the Inter-State Commerce Commission for authority to issue $100,000,000 of refunding and improvement mortgage 5% bonds series C, to be dated Oct. 1 1921 and maturing Oct. 1 2013, but subject to call at 105 in 1951. There was nothing remarkable about an application for such a large new issue in the case of a railroad system of the size of the New York Central and nothing that need occasion the slightest concern on that account. The west side improvement alone in this city which the Central is carrying on and which is freighted with such decided advantages to the city, as well as to the System itself, will entail expenditures of $150,000,000 or more, not to speak of the other projects in which the System is engaged.

There was nothing strange, therefore, in a petition asking approval for such a large amount of new capital. What did, however, command attention and what was highly significant as illustrating prevailing unfortunate conditions, was that it was expressly stated in the application that there was no present intention of selling the bonds, but that the purpose was that they be authenticated and delivered so that they might be pledged and repledged from time to time as collateral security for short-term notes to be issued. In other words, things reached such a pass that it is not possible for a system of the strength and commanding position of the New York Central to dispose of new bond issues in the market except on prohibitive terms. The new issue, we were told, would be pledged in a ratio not to exceed $125 of bonds at current market prices for each $100 face value of the notes to be secured thereby—that is, the collateral to be pledged for bonds of apparently indubitable safety must be greatly in excess of the face value of the notes representing the money to be obtained. In its application the company stated that it had expended for betterments and additions in the 10 years ended June 30 1931, $205,505,230 which has not been capitalized and which is available for use as a basis for the bonds proposed to be issued. It is understood that the company has borrowed some $50,000,000 or more from banks on short-term notes to date and that the management has been awaiting a favorable opportunity to refund these obligations through a bond issue, but as prices of high-grade railroad bonds have steadily shrunk in value this is now considered out of the question and certainly the Central's own experience in floating new bonds during 1931 went to prove that a long-term bond issue at the present time could hardly be undertaken with any assurance of success. In March 1931 the Central brought out $75,000,000 of 4½% refunding and improvement bonds due in 2013. These bonds were sold at par, but in common with other railroad securities suffered such great depreciation in the interval since then that at the time of the application they were quoted on the Stock Exchange at only 61½, though the close on Dec. 31 1931 was slightly better at 68.

In the face of all this the movement for lowering wage scales so imperatively demanded, made little progress. Many leading railroad systems in different parts of the country in their returns for the 11 months ending Nov. 30 showed net earnings for the period in 1931 only about one-half to one-fifth or one-sixth of the net earnings for the corresponding 11 months two years before in 1929. Thus the net operating income of the New York Central for the 11 months of 1931 was only $27,511,513 as against $98,-167,812 in the 11 months of 1929; that of the Pennsylvania only $48,136,625 as against $129,432,504; the Atchison $30,504,313 against $65,339,450; the Southern Pacific $21,616,331 against $56,656,938; the Chicago Milwaukee St. Paul & Pacific $7,740,175 as against $24,978,406; the Southern Railway $7,931,306 against $27,957,905 and the Illinois Central System $10,316,839 against $25,089,712, &c.

SLOW STEPS IN THE ADJUSTMENT OF RAILROAD MEASURES TO A LOWER BASIS.

Fifteen hundred general chairmen of the 21 standard railway unions representing 1,500,000 members, decided at Chicago on Dec. 11 to propose to the railroads that they appoint a committee with full power to negotiate a settlement of the roads' demands for a 10% decrease in wages and the unemployment program proposed by the unions. The policy was adopted as the general chairmen accepted unanimously and with tremendous applause the report of the sub-committee which had been laboring since the previous night. According to the report, the joint committee of union and railway executives was to have power to lower wages and to agree upon any other terms of an unemployment program without recourse to the machinery of the railway labor act, which would involve months of delay.

This looked promising, but the labor chiefs proceeded with the utmost deliberation. Acting in response to the invitation of the railway labor unions, the presidents of the Nation's railroads on Dec. 18 appointed a committee empowered to "negotiate to a conclusion" with the Railway Labor Executives' Association on wages and employment. At the same time, however, the executives agreed to serve notice on the unions "of a desire to revise the existing contracts so as to effect a 15% reduction in wages of all classes of employees." The Railway Labor Executives' Assn., on its part, comprising 21 brotherhoods and unions, met in Cleveland Dec. 29 and set Jan. 14 as the date for meeting in Chicago with the committee of nine railroad presidents to discuss the unions' proposals for unemployment relief and the railroad's proposed 15% wage cut. Thus the whole of December had been frittered away and at least half of January was to be lost in the same manner.

SPEED IN RAIL AID URGED BY HOOVER—SAYS RECONSTRUCTION CORPORATION COULD ACT IN EMERGENCY "IF NECESSARY"—TALKS TO HOUSE LEADERS.

Expressing the belief that the plight of American railroads is only temporary and that they will be able to work themselves out of the depression "trough" in which they find themselves, President Hoover in talking to newspaper correspondents at Washington on Friday, Dec. 18, declared that only 16% or 17% of all the roads, excluding those in receiverships, are earning less than their fixed charges. Various agencies are ready to function for railroad rehabilitation, the President said, and these agencies will, if the situation makes it necessary, include the proposed Reconstruction Corporation. The President's discussion of the railroad bond situation took place at his conference with the correspondents in the afternoon.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION APPROVES PLAN OF THE RAILROADS TO APPLY THE FUNDS TO BE DERIVED FROM THE INCREASES IN RATES AUTHORIZED BY THE COMMISSION IN AID OF FINANCIALLY WEAK ROADS—ADVANCES TO BE CONSIDERED LOANS RATHER THAN GIFTS OR GRATUITIES.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission, Dec. 7, permitted the railroads to put into effect their plan to provide for the needs of financially depressed railroads through the medium of loans administered by a credit corporation from moneys realized from the freight rate increases authorized by the Commission. The Commission acted on the petition of the Association of Railway Executives asking certain modifications in the plan suggested by the Commission for restoring railroad credit and preventing receiverships. The executives objected particularly to the inference in the Commission's plan that funds resulting from the increases recommended should be distributed as gratuities to the roads in need of assistance. The Commission declared that it could "neither approve nor disapprove either the loaning plan or the agency the carriers say they expect and intend to use in making the plan effective." The executive's plan, the Commission said, would not be "pooling" within the meaning of the Inter-State Commerce Act, and that Congress had not given it jurisdiction to act on proposals such as that made by the executives. However, it was asserted, in order to avoid delays "which will be injurious to the general public, including the carriers, we hereby modify our original report to the extent of relieving the carriers from the necessity of complying with the "pooling plan" therein described. This will leave them free to apply in the premises their own loaning plan."

The majority report was dissented from by Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman, who was joined in his dissenting opinion by Commissioners Frank McManamy, Claude Porter and

Charles D. Mahaffie. "If our plan had been accepted in the spirit in which it was suggested, and put promptly into effect, certain recent and unfortunate developments in the railroad financial situation might have been averted," says the dissenting opinion. The Commission further modified its original report so as to provide a cents-per-ton basis instead of a dollars-per-car basis on certain commodities slated for increases. Lighterage charges was included with switching charges in a proposed increase of 10%, while less-than-carload rates were given an advance of 2 cents per 100 pounds. The Commission's report was the outgrowth of an application of all the railroads in the country for a 15% increase in all freight rates and charges. In refusing the carriers' plea for a 15% horizontal advance, the Commission asserted it would permit certain increases on specified commodities on the condition that the moneys accruing from such increase be placed in a "pool" to be distributed to those carriers which could not meet their interest payments on maturing securities. The railroads, in answer, asserted that such a plan was unlawful, and suggested a substitute which provided for "loans" rather than "gifts" to the weaker lines. In giving the roads permission to go ahead with the loan feature, the Commission declares: "We rely on them (the railroads) to apply the funds to be derived from the authorized increases in rates in aid of financially weak railroads in accordance with the purpose expressed in our original report."

The Railroad Credit Corp., which will administer the loans to financially depressed railroads from revenues derived from freight rate increases permitted by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, filed articles of incorporation at Wilmington, Del., according to a statement of the Association of Railway Executives transmitted to the Commission Dec. 14. The railroads of the country, on Dec. 11, by unanimous vote of their executives in session at Washington, accepted the modified Inter-State Commerce Commission project for an increase in freight rates of $100,000,000 to $125,000,000, the extra earnings to be set aside for loans to financially weak lines. The Inter-State Commerce Commission, Dec. 24, authorized the railroads of the country to increase freight rates on five days' notice to the general public. Immediately after the Commission made known its decision, it was announced by representatives of the railroads that the rates would be posted on Dec. 30 to become effective Jan. 4.

TRADE DEPRESSION UNRELIEVED—IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTION AT A LOW LEVEL.

There was no change for the better in the business situation during December and exceedingly gloomy views prevailed in all lines of trade and industry. The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York in its "Monthly Survey," published Dec. 28, remarked that the end of the year found business activity at the lowest ebb since the beginning of the depression, adding: "Altogether this country, and the world outside, face one of the great dramatic moments of history, whose outcome is still too crowded to be forecast and only as men's minds rest back upon the assurance that sound methods will eventually produce sound results and that the course of events is always upward in the long run is there any great ground for present optimism. Hard work, economy, and balanced production and budget, will be important factors in any recovery and, if their lessons are learned, may speed it more rapidly than is now anticipated." The Guaranty "Survey" also said: "The year 1931, like 1930, has been one of swift and rather steady recession in the volume of business and in prices, punctuated by temporary rallies that created false hopes for recovery. In the early months of both years there were fairly well defined increases in industrial output and in trade volumes that could not be traced entirely to seasonal causes, and these upturns were regarded in some quarters as the beginnings of business revival. All such favorable interpretations were discredited by the actual course of developments." In the automobile industry and in the iron and steel trade, the depression was especially pronounced. The output of motor vehicles in the United States for the calendar year 1931 is estimated at only 2,378,000 against 3,355,986 in the calendar year 1930 and 5,358,420 in the calendar year 1929, showing that 2,980,420 cars less were turned out in 1931 than two years before in 1929. The "Iron Age" in its issue of Dec. 24 reported that holiday shutdowns had reduced the rate of ingot production for the week to 21% of the country's capacity, which was 4% lower even than at the close of 1930, when the mills were working at an average of 25% of capacity. But the "Age" in its issue of Dec. 31 reported that a partial resumption of steel plant operations had occurred at Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Wheeling, but that the Chicago district, which had had no sharp curtailment the previous week, was down to a 15% ingot output largely offsetting the gains elsewhere. Nevertheless the average for the country was at 22% of capacity, against 21% the previous week, and a gain was indicated for the first week of January. Prices were exceedingly weak, though at the end of the year steel companies were making a determined effort to check the decline. Chicago mills announced an advance of $2 a ton on bars, plates and shapes to 1.70c. a lb., but meanwhile Pittsburgh and Youngstown bar makers were taking business at 1.50c., Pittsburgh, a reflection of the weakness that had developed in plates and shapes. Hot roll stripped steel, the "Age" reported, was being widely offered at 1.45c. a lb., Pittsburgh, for the wide and 1.55c. for the narrow, but automobile companies had obtained prices $1.00 a ton lower. There was continued weakness in sheets, particularly automobile body stock, and in cold rolled fender stock, tin mill, black plate and long ternes. Recent maximum prices on sheets had virtually disappeared, it was stated, even on small lots. Semi-finished steel in the form of billets, slabs and sheet bars, it was added, had been marked down $1 a ton, but the recently announced advances of $2 a ton on wire rods and $1 a ton on some merchant wire products were now in effect and firmly held. Price declines extended to pig iron. Buffalo producers having reduced quotations $1 a ton for deliveries within their district, though elsewhere pig iron quotations were reported fairly steady, "though largely untested." The "Iron Age" reported the composite price for finished steel on Dec. 29 as down to 2.052c., the lowest figure since April 1929. The high for 1931 was on Jan. 13 at 2.142c. The composite price of pig iron was reported Dec. 29 at $14.79 a gross ton against $15.90 on Jan. 6 1931. Steel scrap was reported as down to $8.50 a gross ton Dec. 29 as against $11.33 on Jan. 6 1931.

The "Iron Age" reported the make of iron for the calendar year 1931, 18,275,165 tons against 31,399,105 tons in 1930, and 42,286,000 tons in 1929. The American Iron & Steel Institute estimates the production of steel ingots at 24,900,195 tons for 1931, against 39,286,287 for 1930 and 54,312,279 tons in 1929.

THE COURSE OF THE NON-FERROUS METALS.

The first increase in copper prices in many months occurred on Dec. 16 when the quotation was marked up ¼c. to 6¾c. delivered in Connecticut. Later in the month there was a further advance to 7¼c. The export price of copper was raised ½c. a lb. to 7½c. on Dec. 18. The increase followed a reported agreement of leading British, Belgian and American producers to cut output by 40%, or to approximately 26½% of their potential capacity. The agreement came after long negotiations, first with the Belgian producers and then with the Phelps Dodge copper group which meantime had resigned from Copper Producers, Inc., and later was induced to rejoin and make a pact possible. In the New York market electrolytic copper was advanced from 6.25c. to 6.75c. on Dec. 17 and to 7c. Dec. 18; Lake copper was advanced on Dec. 16 from 6.87½c. to 7.37½c. The price of lead at New York was reduced from 3.85c. to 3.75c. Dec. 14. Tin prices continued to move downward the early part of the month and touched 20.55c. on Dec. 9, but after that moved up to 21.95c. Dec. 23, with the close Dec. 31 at 21.62½c. From its Paris bureau the "Wall Street Journal" on Dec. 19 reported that the minimum release price for the International Tin Pool's holdings had been raised to £165 a long ton from £150 under the revised quota control scheme agreed to by participating members of the pool. At £165 only 5% of the holdings are releasable, and then only provided that the average spot price at London has remained higher during any preceding calendar month. At £176, the next price of the revised sliding scale, 10% of the holdings become releasable. Members of the pool agreed, it is stated, to abide by the scheme for a period of 3 years from Aug. 12 or until the pool has been liquidated.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS—VOLUNTARY REDUCTION IN TEXAS.

In petroleum and its products, an important development during December was the action of leading oil companies operating in Texas in voluntarily shutting down both producing and refining activities one day a week, beginning with Sunday, Dec. 20. thereby automatically cutting down production 15%. As a result of this let down daily average gross crude oil production was reduced from 2,430,300 barrels in the week ending Dec. 19 to 2,292,000 barrels in the week ending Dec. 26 and to 2,209,100 barrels in the week ending Jan. 2. As to price changes the following shows the leading changes of the month, both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products:

Crude Oil.

Dec. 1.—Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency of the South Penn Oil Co. announces 10c. per barrel reduction in Pennsylvania grade crude oil in Buckeye Pipe Line Co. lines. New price $1.40 per barrel. All other Pennsylvania prices unchanged.

Dec. 1.—Vacuum Oil Co. posts prices for Cameron Meadows, La., crude as follows: Below 26 gravity, 60c. a barrel, with 1c. advance for each higher gravity to 40 degrees and above, with 75c. per barrel top.

Dec. 11.—Primrose Refining Co. announces a reduction of 20c. per barrel for all crude oil purchased in the north Texas area, retroactive to Dec. 1. The new price is 65c. per barrel for 40 gravity and above.

Dec. 15.—A 15c. reduction in all grades of Bradford and Allegheny crude oils was announced to-day by purchasing agencies, the new prices for Pennsylvania crude being: Southwest Pennsylvania pipelines, $1.55; Eureka Pipeline Co. lines, $1.45; Buckeye Pipeline Co. lines, $1.25; the Tidewater Oil Co. reduced Bradford and Allegheny crude 15c. to $1.85. Corning was unchanged.

Gasoline and Kerosene.

Dec. 1.—Richfield Oil Corp. of New York advances bulk gasoline ¼c. to 6¼c. tank car, at refinery.

Dec. 2.—Sinclair Refining Co. advances U. S. Motor gasoline ½c. to 6½c., tank car; Sinclair white gasoline, ½c. to 7c., tank car; 41-43 water white kerosene, ½c. to 6c., tank car.

Dec. 3.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey advances U. S. Motor ½c. to 6½c., tank car, for below 65 octane, and 7c. for above 65 octane, tank car at refinery; advances 41-43 water white kerosene ½c. per gallon to 6c., tank car.

Dec. 3.—Atlantic Refining Co. advances U. S. Motor ½c. per gallon to 6½c., tank car, for below 65 octane, and 7c. for above, tank car.

Dec. 3.—Warner-Quinlan Co. advances U. S. Motor ½c. to 6½c., tank car, for below 65 octane, and 7c. for above.

Dec. 4.—Standard Oil Co. of New York advances U. S. Motor ½c. per gallon to 6½c., tank car, for below 65 octane, and 7c. for above; 41-43 water white kerosene advanced ½c. per gallon to 6c., tank car.

Dec. 8.—Standard Oil Co. of New York announced reduction, effective immediately, of 2c. per gallon in tank wagon and service station prices on gasoline in New York City, Westchester County and Long Island.

Dec. 22.—Standard Oil Co. of New York reduces tank wagon prices 1c. per gallon in Buffalo and Rochester; same company reduces kerosene prices 1½c. per gallon, tank wagon and service station, in Buffalo and Rochester.

Dec. 26.—Standard Oil Co. of New York reduces tank wagon and service station gasoline prices 2c. per gallon in Yonkers, N. Y.

Dec. 31.—Continental Oil Co. reduces tank wagon and service station gasoline prices 1c. per gallon throughout the State of Oklahoma. This was brought about by 1c. reduction in State tax, reduced from 5c. to 4c. per gallon.

THE COURSE OF THE TEXTILE MARKETS.

The textile markets were quiet, as is usually the case during the closing months of the year. In the case of cotton the price of the raw material tended upward, as is indicated by the fact that spot cotton at New York, after touching 6.00c., Dec. 9, sold up to 6.55c. Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 6.50c. Print cloths at Fall River for 28 in. 64 x 60, after being marked down from 2⅝c. to 2 9-16c. Dec. 5, was marked up again to 2⅝c., Dec. 29. The advance in raw material occurred notwithstanding that the Department of Agriculture in its report issued on Dec. 8 made a further slight increase (15,000 bales) in its estimate of the 1931 crop raising the total to 16,918,000 bales, of 500 lbs. as against a crop the previous season of only 13,932,000 bales, and putting the crop second in size only to the bumper crop of 1926 when the yield was 17,977,370 bales. However, planters were withholding their cotton from market on account of the low price prevailing and the receipts from the plantations from August 1 to December 31 in 1931 were only 7,548,269 bales, as against 8,024,019 bales in 1930 and 7,902,355 bales in 1929. Besides this, exports rapidly increased during December, mainly however because of the large takings by Japan and China, bringing the export shipments for the season up to 3,927,109 bales on Dec. 31 against 3,900,043 bales in the previous season. The United States Census report, issued Dec. 14, showed that 428,870 bales of lint and 52,687 bales of linters were consumed in the United States during November 1931, against 415,315 bales of lint and 54,173 bales of linters in November 1930, and made the consumption for the four months ending with November 1,780,418 bales of lint in 1931 against 1,604,615 bales in 1930, and the consumption of linters 238,525 bales as against 241,751 bales. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, in its statement made public Dec. 14, and covering four weeks of November, reported production during the month at 231,446,000 yards or at the rate of 57,861,000 yards per week. This was 1.9% more than the rate of production during the month of October. Sales during November were 224,207,000 yards, equivalent to 96.9% of production. Shipments during the month were 213,889,000 yards, equivalent to 92.4% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 273,390,000 yards, representing an increase of 6.9% during the month. Unfilled orders on Nov. 30 1931, were 354,957,000 yards, representing an increase of 3% during the month. Both sales and shipments during November 1931 were greater than in November 1930—sales being 22.5% greater and shipments 6.6% greater. The Board of Managers of the New York Cotton Exchange voted on Dec. 11 to set the maximum limit of interest on future contracts for delivery in any one month by any member, firm or corporation and his or its affiliations at 1,000,000 bales for delivery in Dec. 1931 and in all months up to and including Nov. 1932. In the woolen trade a development of the month was the action of the American Woolen Co. in reduc ng wages 10% and going back to a 54-hour week schedule, compared with 40 hours previously. Prices averaging 10% to 15% under previous levels were named by the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. in opening spring 1932 floor covering lines in New York City at the beginning of December.

Raw silk prices further sharply declined during the month, the putting of an embargo on gold exports by Japan and the decline in yen exchange having been a contributing factor. Even before this, however, in the early part of December silk futures dropped to new low levels on the New York Silk Exchange. On Dec. 31 Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $1.85@$1.90, against $2.20@$2.25, on Nov. 30 and also on Oct. 31, and comparing with $2.25@$2.30 Sept. 30; $2.50@$2.55 on Aug. 31; $2.30@$2.40 on July 31; $2.35@$2.40 on June 30; $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29; $2.35@$2.40 April 30; $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930; $2.35 @ $2.45 Sept. 30, 1930, and $4.70 @ $4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $1.85 Dec. 31 against $2.30 @$2.32½ Nov. 30; $2.10 @ $2.15 Oct. 31; $2.25 @ $2.35 Sept. 30; $2.45@$2.55 Aug. 31; $2.25@$2.30 July 31; $2.40@$2.50 June 30; $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29; $2.25@$2.30 April 30; $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930; $2.25@$2.30 Oct. 31 1930, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930.

RUBBER PRICES CONTINUE TO RULE LOW—REPORTS REGARDING RESTRICTION PLANS.

Crude rubber continued to rule low except that reports that rubber restrictions plans were making progress sent the spot price over the 5c. level on Saturday, Dec. 19, though prices subsequently dropped back again. In the New York market ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted 4 13-16c. bid and 4 15-16c. asked a pound Dec. 31, which compares with 4 5-16@4⅝c. on Nov. 30; 4 9-16@4⅝c. Oct. 31; 4½@4⅝c. Sept. 30; 5@5⅛c. Aug. 31; 5⅛@5¾c. July 31; 6 13-16@6 15-16c. June 30; 6½c. bid May 29; 5⅞@6c. April 30; 6⅞@7c. March 31; 7⅝@7¾c. Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. Feb. 28 1930. As expected, the mail order houses followed the action of the tire companies in making reductions in tire prices to the lowest level in history. Both Sears Roebuck Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co. cut tire prices between 5 and 15%.

NEWSPRINT PAPER PRICES CUT BY INTERNATIONAL PAPER AND OTHER LARGE COMPANIES.

Following a cut of $2 a ton in the price of newsprint paper for 1932, announced on Dec. 1 by the Great Northern Paper Co., reducing the price from $57 to $55, it was stated on Dec. 6 that a further reduction of $2 would be made by that company, lowering the price to $53. The International Paper Co. announced on Dec. 7 that the price of newsprint in New York and Chicago had been reduced, effective Jan. 1, to $53 a ton, a cut of $4 a ton having been made by it in the price.

COURSE OF GRAIN, COFFEE AND SUGAR PRICES.

Grain prices during December moved within narrow limits, though fluctuating irregularly up and down. The December option for wheat in Chicago ranged between 52¾c. and 55c. on Dec. 31, as against 52⅝@56c. on Dec. 1. The range for March wheat in Chicago on Dec. 31 was 55@56⅛, against 54¼@57½ on Dec. 1. At Winnipeg December wheat ranged at 59⅛@60 Dec. 31 against 57⅞@60¾. Dec. 1 December corn in Chicago, after declining from 39¼c. Dec. 2, to 34c. Dec. 14, recovered, and ranged Dec. 31, between 36½ and 37⅝. December oats at Chicago after falling from 25c. Dec. 1, to 23c. Dec. 10, sold up to 25½c. Dec. 31. The United States Department of Agriculture on Dec. 16, made public its final estimates of the 1931 crops, and these did not differ materially, as far as the yield of the leading cereals is concerned from the figures given out the previous month, total wheat production in the United States being estimated at 892,271,000 bushels against 858,160,000 bushels in 1930, but with the winter wheat yield 787,465,000 bushels against 601,840,000 bushels, and the spring wheat yield only 104,806,000 bushels against 256,320,000, with the corn crop put at 2,556,863,000 bushels against 2,060,185,000 the previous year, (the 1930 corn crop having been decidedly short) and with the oats crop put at 1,112,142,000 bushels against 1,277,764,000 bushels. The report, however, served to indicate in a striking way how seriously the agricultural classes were suffering by reason of the great decline in the market value of agricultural products, inasmuch as the report placed the total farm value of all agricultural products in 1931 at only $4,122,850,000, as compared with $5,818,820,000 in 1930 and $8,088,494,000 in 1929. In other words the 1931 farm crop is valued at $1,695,970,000 less than in 1930 and $3,965,644,000 less than in 1929. It appeared from another report of the Agricultural Bureau that the acreage planted to winter wheat in the autumn of 1931 had been only 38,682,000 acres, a reduction of 4,467,000 acres, or 10.4% from the area sown in the autumn of 1930.

On Dec. 14 the Federal Farm Board announced the receipt of a report from the Farmers' National Grain Corp., in which it is stated that the corporation during the first two years of its existence (to Oct. 31 1931) had purchased and handled more than 390,000,000 bushels of grain and "that this vast amount of grain has been handled at a cost of less than 1c. a bushel, including a total cost for salaries and wages in all departments and branches of not to exceed 1-5 of 1c. on all bushels bought, handled and(or) sold." Sugar prices took a further downward plunge, and it appeared as if faith in the Chadbourne plan was disappearing. Cuban raw sugar, as against 1.25c. at the close of November, sold as low as 1.05c. on Dec. 14, but the latter part of the month recovered with sales on Dec. 31 at 1.20c. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this market was reduced on Dec. 10 from 4.40c. to 4.20c. Thomas L. Chadbourne, author of the international sugar agreement, in company with Manuel Perdomo as expert statistician, Marcelino Garcia and J. M. Casanova sailed on Dec. 5 to attend the International Sugar Conference, which opened in Paris on Dec. 14. They were joined by Everett Smith, sales manager of the Nationa Sugar Export Corp. After four days of negotiations in Paris! to readjust the Chadbourne plan to regulate world sugar production the International Sugar Council adjourned on Dec. 17 until early in January. Considerable opposition to the Chadbourne plan and to restriction developed all over Cuba. Representatives of the National Union Labor Federation, the Railroad Brotherhood of the Island and the Maritime Unions of the cities of Santiago, Cienfuegos, Matanzas and Havana at a meeting on Dec. 12 at Havana resolved to join the cane planters in their fight against restriction of the coming sugar crop. H. H. Pike Jr., President of the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange, in his annual review in referring to the sugar market during 1931, said:

> The early part of the year saw a steady sugar market, with a background of hopefulness generated by the Chadbourne Plan. This agreement, signed on May 9 this year by seven of the principal sugar exporting countries of the world—Cuba, Java, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Belgium, Poland and Hungary, and just recently joined by Peru—contemplated a strict limitation of exports by the signatory nations over a period of five years. It further provided for the segregation of present surpluses and the adjustment of production during the five-year period to permit the release of the segregated stocks and to prevent the building-up of any further excess.
> The plan has failed to improve prices, partly because of the increased production of non-exporting countries and partly because of reduced world consumption and distribution. As is invariably the case with attempts at artificial regulation, the buying public, whether for consumption, for stock, or for speculative purposes, sat back in the traces when the control started and left the producer with additional stocks to carry. . . .
> In both coffee and sugar, two of the world's largest and most interesting schemes for artificially bringing equilibrium back to supply and demand are being tried. There has never been a plan for limitation of production so ambitious, nor with so many participants, as the Chadbourne Plan. Similarly, in coffee, history knows no such contemplated wholesale destruction of merchandise—another method, but the same end in view. The whole world will be awaiting with intense interest the outcome of these two efforts.

Coffee prices, unlike sugar prices, registered a still further slight improvement in prices following that recorded in November and October. No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 7@7¼c. Dec. 31, against 6½@6⅝c. Nov. 30; 5¾@6c. Oct. 31; 5½c. Sept. 30; 5½@5¾c. Aug. 31; 5⅛@6c. July 31; 6⅞@7c. June 30; 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c. April 30; 5½c. Mar. 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 8@8¼c. Dec. 31, against 7¼@7½c. Nov. 30; 7¼c. bid Oct. 31; 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30; 6⅝@6⅞c. Aug. 31; 7½@7⅝c. July 31; 8½@9c. June 30; 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figures for Apr. 30; 7¾@8c. Mar. 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼c. Oct. 31 1930. On Dec. 8 it was stated that the National Coffee Council of Brazil had announced plans the previous day for the stabilization of coffee prices, including the destruction of 12,000,000 bags in the next twelve months and the placing of an additional tax of five shillings a bag on coffee exports from the country, according to a cable dispatch to the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange. The coffee that is pledged against foreign loans, it was stated, is to be safeguarded, the cable said. The decision to destroy the 12,000,000 bags was reported as unanimous. The Brazilian Government increased the export tax on coffee to 15 shillings gold per bag (60 kilos), according to a cablegram dated Dec. 11 to the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache Carlton Jackson, Rio de Janeiro. It was noted that the export tax on coffee was heretofore 10 shillings gold plus an additional tax of 3 shillings gold per bag.

GERMANY'S DRASTIC MEASURES TO RESTORE ECONOMIC EQUILIBRIUM.

Measures of extreme gravity were announced at Berlin, Dec. 8, by the Government of Chancellor Bruening with a number of objects in view, not the least important being that of setting the German house in order as a preliminary to the reparations discussion which had now been re-opened. In a sweeping emergency decree signed by President Paul von Hindenburg under Article 46 of the Weimar Constitution, new taxes were imposed in order to achieve a balanced budget. The decree provides also for severe price and rent reductions and for lowered interest rates throughout Germany, as it is believed that the nation will thus be enabled to cope to better advantage with the effects of the current world-wide economic depression and compete in foreign markets for orders. It aims, moreover, at a more rigorous rule in order to meet the rising tide of Fascism, under the leadership of Adolph Hitler. Some of the provisions of this fourth general emergency decree of the Bruening regime, were, indeed, obviously provoked by a series of statements made by Herr Hitler on German politics and international relations. In explaining the decree to the press, Chancellor Bruening emphasized the importance of balancing the National budget in view of the reparations negotiations. "In the past," he said, "we entered negotiations without the backing of strong finances at home, but I did not feel that I could bear the responsibility of international negotiations in this historic hour before the public treasuries were safe, even if they could be safeguarded only by stringent measures. The moment has finally come when even the closest examination of our budget fails to afford evidence for criticism abroad. The budgets now are scaled down to such an extent that, disregarding the expenditures on war cripples, it can well stand comparison with the smallest pre-war budgets."

The Chancellor discussed the measures broadly in a radio address to the German nation Dec. 8, and in this address he also replied to some of the previous declarations of Herr Hitler on German policy. He denounced bitterly what he called the attempt of the National-Socialist, or Fascist, leader to "create the impression abroad that Germany was not only divided within herself, but that there was in Germany a Government of to-morrow that assumed to speak for the German people." Hereafter, as heretofore, the conduct of the Reich and the representation of its interests abroad will rest exclusively in the hands of the Reich's President and the Constitutional Government, he declared. "While the leader of the National-Socialists proclaims his adherence to legality, his responsible aides are allowed to go forth preaching subversive doctrines and scattering schisms and distrust in the ranks of the people," Chancellor Bruening continued: "However widely they may spread among the people, the Government must not and will not shrink from opposing them with iron energy. The Government admits no power save the Constitutional one. The Reich's President and the Reich's Government alone control the power of the State, and this will be used with relentless severity—if need be through declaring a state of siege—against any attempt to interfere with the Constitutional authorities." The popularity of Hitlerism was explained by the Chancellor as a natural inward protest against Germany's fall from her former heights and against her harsh fate to-day. "Growing numbers of our people are taking refuge in dream visions," he said, "but these constitute no political program. Germany's salvation will be possible only if those responsible for her policy do not also enter the realm of illusion, but on the contrary remain governed by sober reflection and clear consideration of available ways and means."

In his discussion of "The President's Fourth Decree for safeguarding the economic life and finances and for the protection of domestic peace," the Chancellor added little to his press statement. The measures, he said, marked the conclusion of the post-war period when the billions in gold flowing into Germany temporarily prevented the people from realizing that they had lost the war. He described them as representing the last stages in the process of deflation and added that the program of economic measures now completed after weary months of searching must also be viewed as a prelude to the Government's preparations for the impending international financial negotiations. "As the Basle negotiations have just begun, I must refrain from discussing the reparations question," he said, "but once more I most fervently appeal to all the interested governments to allow the principle of understanding and the solidarity of cooperation so often proclaimed on all sides to be translated into concrete action at this eleventh hour." Enforcement of the measures, the Chancellor stated, would make possible the maintenance of German currency on a gold basis and insure the solvency of the Reich through permanent budgetary equilibrium. The emergency decree, which covers 46 pages of the Federal legal gazette, is a quite remarkable document. In order to balance the budget, it provides for a reduction of 9% to 10% in the salaries and wages of all Government employees, whether of the Reich or the States and municipalities. For the Reich Government alone this step, which is effective Jan. 1 1932, will mean a saving estimated at $20,000,000 a year. In addition the turnover tax is raised from 0.85% to 2%, and this will bring in an estimated $40,000,000 for the remainder of the current fiscal year. Numerous economic provisions are contained in the decree, and these, to be effective Jan. 1, are intended to bring about a 10% reduction in the general price level within Germany. The office of a Reich Price Commissioner is created for this purpose, and Mayor Carl Coerdeler of Leipzig was appointed to the post. Wages in industry are to be reduced to the level prevailing Jan. 1 1927, while salaries of corporation officials receiving 15,000 marks or more yearly also are liable to reduction. Physicians' fees are to come down with other forms of compensation, while house rents are to be cut 10% in the case of buildings put up before the war, and 15% in the case of newer structures. Prices charged by cartels are to be lowered 10%, and iron, coal, gas, water and electricity prices are to be reduced similarly. Railway rates are to come down approximately 10%, although in the case of some goods the reduction will be as much as 26%.

Of exceptional gravity is a provision for the lowering of interest rates on virtually all classes of fixed-interest bearing obligations, whether Government, State or municipal securitures, industrial obligations or mortgages. In an Associated Press report it was stated that the rate will be lowered to 6% where it was as high as 8%, while levels above the 8% figure will be cut from one-quarter to one-half. German bonds floated abroad are specifically exempted from this provision. The rate on Lombard loans was ordered lowered from 10% to 9%, while the Reichsbank followed Dec. 9 with an announcement of a reduction in the discount rate from 8% to 7%. The decree also strengthens measures against the flight of capital by providing various degrees of confiscation. Issuance of new 4-pfennig coins is provided for, and Germans living abroad are enjoined to deliver to the Government 25% of their funds invested in Germany. Landowners are protected against forced auction sales by a provision that no bid under 70% of the value of property need be accepted at such sales. In order to insure domestic peace the decree prohibits the wearing of political uniforms and emblems throughout the Reich. The States, moreover, are empowered to enact legislation compelling the registration of all firearms sold to private citizens. Imprisonment up to three months is ordained for all who defame public officials.

HUNGARY FORCED TO DECLARE A PARTIAL MORATORIUM.

Difficulties experienced by the Hungarian Government in obtaining sufficient foreign exchange to meet the service on external debt in full occasioned a long anticipated announcement, Dec. 22, of a partial moratorium. This action is considered due, in large part, to the general financial crisis afflicting all the world. The suspension will mean the deposit in pengoes, within Hungary, of sums due for interest and amortization on approximately two-thirds of the external debt of about $715,000,000. An attempt will be made to meet, in the currencies in which they are payable, the sums due on the remaining one-third of the foreign debt. Preference is to be given to the League of Nations, or reconstruction, loan of 1924, on which some $4,000,000 is due annually, while if additional foreign exchange is available payments will be met similarly on the secured relief loan, the secured Treasury bills, the Caisse Commune obligation, the Austro-Hungarian State Railway and the Danube-Save-Adriatic Railway loans, the payments to be made under the London protocol of Aug. 11 1931, and the pre-war city of Budapest loan, in the order stated. Payments due on the obligations named were estimated in a Budapest dispatch to the New York "Times" at $20,000,000 annually, while the remaining service on foreign debt is said to be approximately $40,000,000 annually. Service on the latter obligations, and also on the former in so far as they cannot be met in foreign exchange, will be deposited in pengoes at the rate quoted the day before sums are due, in an account at the National Bank of Hungary for the benefit of bondholders. This partial or "transfer" moratorium was foreshadowed by the application for relief made by the Hungarian Government to the League of Nations Finance Committee and by recent pronouncements of leading Cabinet Ministers. The announcement thus occasioned little comment in international financial centres. American investments in the country were estimated at the end of 1930 at $118,878,000. In the official statement of the Hungarian Government it was indicated that the suspension would be made effective Dec. 23. The action was attributed to "the exceptional decline in the prices of the principal Hungarian exports and the consequent difficulty, in present circumstances, of obtaining sufficient exchange for foreign debt remittances." The National Bank of Hungary will receive authorization, it was further stated, to sell to Hungarian nationals foreign exchange for the purpose of meeting interest or discount and commission on short-term debts to bankers and others, and of giving effect to appropriate standstill arrangements which the Government intends to propose to short-term creditors in foreign currencies for a period of six months. Any interest earned by the pengo account at the national bank will be applied for the benefit of the creditors, less expenses incidental to administration. "The Hungarian Government," the announcement concluded, "will request the foreign governments concerned to accept temporarily similar arrangements as regards the outstanding clearing office payments. In the event of any monopolies or other public assets being disposed of abroad, the proceeds of such disposal will be applied to lightening Hungary's existing burden of external indebtedness."

THE DECEMBER FINANC NG OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

The quarterly financing of the United States Treasury during December was for a large total and was, on the whole, no easy task, considering the firmer tendency of the money market, the great depreciation of United States obligations of every kind, due to the knowledge that large additional United States issues of one kind or another would be forthcoming in the near future, to take care of the Treasury budget deficit estimated for the current Government fiscal year as likely to run in excess of two billion dollars, and also to provide the means for the heavy capital outlays that were being sponsored by the Administration at Washington in order to extend aid to suffering industries or to supply new credit facilities with the idea of bringing about a revival in trade. However, Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury, was equal to the occasion, and by his customary cleverness in dividing up the maturities and confining them entirely to short-term obligations, was able to carry his proposals to success, though it is understood that the banks needed considerable urging to send in subscriptions for the requisite amounts so that the Treasury might not trip up on any portion of the total loan.

The Treasury program embraced an aggregate offering of $1.300,000,000. Of this total, $600,000,000 consisted of one-year 3¼% Treasury notes, dated and bearing interest from Dec. 15 1931. The offering also included two issues of Treasury certificates of indebtedness, one for amount of $300,000,000, running for six months and bearing 2¾% interest, and the other for amount of $400,000,000, due in nine months and carrying 3% interest. It will be seen that the issues all consisted of short-term obligations, they running for six months, nine months, and 12 months, respectively. It was necessary for the Secretary to proceed with considerable caution, inasmuch as the $800,000,000 3% Treasury bonds offered as part of the Treasury's September financing, with a maturity date of Sept. 15 1955, but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after Sept. 15 1951, almost immediately after the offering dropped heavily below par and sold on the Stock Exchange during the week of the December offering at as low as 88 23/32, and later in the month sold down to 82 24/32; even United States Treasury 3⅛s of 1946-1949 at the time of this December offering were selling at only a little above 90, and later in the month got as low as 84 20/32. The Treasury's problem was to sell $600,000,000 of one-year 3¼s at par, though of course these 3¼% notes running for so short a time had the saving grace of falling within the short-term class, and short-term obligations, as is known, have been selling at a much lower interest cost than long-time issues. Besides, in limiting the notes to a year the Secretary was able to offer them as exempt from the surtaxes as well as from the normal income taxes, exemption from which surtaxes longer term issues do not enjoy. In addition, there was the further advantage that the greater part of the whole $1,300,000,000 of new issues was intended to take up old issues, and these old issues could be tendered in exchange for the new issues. Six months previously the Treasury had called for redemption on Dec. 15 1931, one year in advance of maturity, 3½% Treasury notes of Series C-1930-1932, of which $452,000,000 remained outstanding. In addition, about $543,000,000 of old Treasury certificates of indebtedness became due and payable on Dec. 15 1931. It was provided in the new offering that subscriptions for which the maturing Treasury notes or the maturing certificates of indebtedness were tendered in payment would be given preferred allotment up to the amount of the offering. Moreover, any qualified depository was permitted to make payment by credit for notes allotted to it for itself and its customers up to any amount for which it should be qualified in excess of existing deposits when so notified by the Federal Reserve bank of its district. Thus payment was to a great extent by credit on the bank, involving little transfer of cash. The effect of such credits is to establish a large line of Government deposits, and as against Government deposits, as the reader knows, the banks are not required to hold any reserves, while against ordinary deposits the customary legal reserves are obligatory. Thus there were especial considerations calculated to induce subscriptions, even though other considerations might serve to repel them. At all events, while the subscription books were opened on Monday, Dec. 7, the Treasury Department was able to report subscription books closed at the close of business on Thursday, Dec. 10. To be sure, the rates of interest in the certificates were much higher than those in the September offering, the December rates being, as already stated, 2¾% for the six months issue and 3% for the nine months issue, while the September offering included a 12 months issue of certificates for $300,000,000 bearing only 1⅛% interest.

Aggregate subscriptions for the $1,300,000,000 Treasury notes and Treasury certificates of indebtedness reached $1,784,068,000, with the amount allotted $1,323,483,700. Almost the whole of the oversubscription, however, was in the case of the $300,000,000 six months certificates bearing 2¾% interest, for which the subscriptions reached $619,715,500 and the allotments were $324,578,500; in the case of the offering of $400,000,000 of nine months certificates bearing 3% interest the subscriptions were $460,650,000 and the allotments $398,355,000, showing only a moderate oversubscription, while in the case of the offering of $600,000,000 3¼% Treasury notes aggregate subscriptions were $703,703,400, showing also only a moderate oversubscription. The exchange subscription on the three issues combined, all of which were accepted, footed up $581,094,300. The amount of the subscriptions paid for with member bank credit, and which, accordingly, became Government deposits to that extent, was $698,544,000, of which $358,547,100 was in the New York Federal Reserve District. The Treasury almost immediately began to send out notices to the depositaries for the repayment of portions of such deposits, a call being issued on Dec. 18 for the repayment of $86,187,000 on Dec. 21, and a like amount on Dec. 22, and on Dec. 23, of which $44,220,000 in each case were in the New York Reserve District, these figures representing 37% of the combined amount on deposit, and further calls came on Dec. 28, and Dec. 30, these latter for payment on Jan. 4 and Jan. 5, respectively, after which there still remained on deposit in the New York Federal Reserve District $188,618,500, and in the entire country $367,033,600.

Announcement also came on Dec. 22 of a new issue of 91-day Treasury bills, to be sold on a discount basis, to the amount of $100,000,000, "or thereabouts." Tenders were received up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard time on Monday, Dec. 28. These bills were dated Dec. 30, and mature on March 30 1932. The bids totaled $190,072,000, of which $101,332,000 were accepted. The average price on the bids accepted was 99.178, or an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 3¼%. This was a further increase in interest rates, and served further to emphasize the steady rise in cost to the Government of this class of borrowing. At the last sale in November, when $100,490,000 of 93-day bills was placed, the average rate to the Government on a bank discount basis was only 2.59%. Back last July the Government disposed of $51,806,000 of bills on a discount basis of only 0.46%. The proceeds of the December offering of bills evidently went to take up about the same amount of old bills which were about to mature, as newspaper accounts stated that $102,979,000 of bills would have to be taken care of during January.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN DECEMBER.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING DECEMBER 1931

December again proved a period of great gloom in the stock market, and thus the year 1931 closed in a manner characteristic of that for which it will ever be distinguished in Stock Exchange history. It has been a period of almost constant depression, and it seems no exaggeration to say that for magnitude and extent of depreciation and its all-pervading nature, no class or group of share property being exempt, and bond prices having suffered even greater collapse than share properties, the year will stand as the most dismal ever known. And additional significance attaches to the further breakdown during 1931, because of the antecedent huge declines during the closing months of 1929 and during the calendar year 1930, these antecedent declines having themselves been of huge proportions and such as to make a very exceptional record in price declines all by themselves. As a matter of fact, in our review of the stock market for 1930, we described it as probably the most disastrous in Stock Exchange history, not imagining that anything worse would or could come the very next year. Without question this period of 27 months, extending through the last quarter of 1929 and the whole of 1930 and 1931, will ever stand as the bluest and blackest in the annals of security movements, bonds as well as stocks.

It was hoped that the year would redeem itself by some substantial rally or recovery in the closing month, so as at least to inspire hope of better things to come in the near future, leaving the outlook not altogether devoid of promise. There was some upward reaction in the closing days of the month and year, but it was of minor size, was fitful and irregular, and came only after heavy further declines in the early part of the month. Additional severe declines characterized price movements in both stocks and bonds during the first half of the month, and for some days thereafter, the low figures of the month and year being generally recorded on or about the 17th of the month. The average in the case of 50 stocks kept by the New York "Times," 25 of these being railroad shares and 25 industrial properties, all of them considered typical of the better grade of share issues and many of them classed in the past as gilt-edged, touched a low of 67.61 on Dec. 17, which compares with 173.07 on Feb. 24 1931, the high for the year, showing a decline of 105.46 points, and the recovery was only to 72.35 at the close on Dec. 31. These same stocks sold at a high of 245.60 on April 10 1930 and a high of 311.90 on Sept. 19 1929. A drop from a high of 311.90 in 1929 to 67.61 in December 1931 certainly constitutes a record of collapse which will always remain memorable. During December 1931 the range was from a high of 83.46 on Dec. 7 to a low of 67.61 on Dec. 17, with the close on Dec. 31 at 72.35, as already stated. In the case of the 25 industrial stocks the range was from 134.23 on Dec. 7 to 110.73 on Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 118.12. These 25 industrial properties, as against 110.73 on Dec. 17, sold at a high in 1931 of 251.22 on Feb. 24, a high of 358.16 on April 10 1930, and of 469.49 on Sept. 19 1929. The plunge, it will be seen, was from 469.49 in 1929 to 110.73 in December 1931, with a rally in the last few days of the month to 118.12, on Dec. 31. In the case of the 25 railroad stocks the range in December 1931 was from 33.77 on Dec. 1 to 24.49 on Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 26.59. The average of these 25 railroads was at a high in 1931 of 94.93 on Feb. 25, showing the extraordinary drop of over 70 points during this period and which reflects the desperate plight to which the railroads were reduced, and the recovery in the closing days of the year was only to 26.59, on Dec. 31, as just stated. In 1930 the average of these 25 railroad stocks reached a high of 136, on March 29, and in 1929 a high of 158.71, on Sept. 3.

In addition to the many general depressing influences which marked the course of the whole calendar year, and nearly all of which were closely related to or had their origin in trade depression of unparalleled extent, there were some special depressing developments (having their origin, however, in the same set of circumstances and the same set of conditions) that served to send prices on a new downward plunge, with the result that the previous low of the year, established about Oct. 6, was once more broken through and a still lower level of prices established—as a rule on Dec. 17, as noted above. Among these special developments referred to foremost place must unquestionably be given to two events which occurred at the beginning of the month. Overnight on Tuesday, Dec. 1, came the startling announcement that the Wabash Ry., situated in the heart of the country, had been placed in the hands of receivers. This piece of news completely demoralized the bond market, which suffered perhaps greater depreciation than on any other occasion in recent years. Not only the Wabash issues, but bond issues of many other companies suffered declines running as high as 10 or 15 points. The stock market itself, while weak, did not fare so badly except in the case of the Wabash stocks and a few other low-priced shares. The Chicago Rock Island & Pacific omitted dividends on both issues of preferred stock about the same time, yet interest in the case of the stocks seemed to center more upon another piece of news, namely, that the Board of Conciliation in the case of the Canadian Railways had by a majority vote sustained a reduction of 10% in the wages of all classes of railroad workers. This, it was thought, would have an important bearing upon the negotiations for lower wages on the railroads in this country. Unfortunately, however, while this proved a temporary sustaining influence on the stock market, expectations built upon it were not realized and the whole month passed without any indication of definite progress having been made in getting wage schedules lowered, a step which in general estimation was considered an indispensible prerequisite to the rehabilitation of the railroads. Another event which came about the same time and which dealt a new blow to values was an announcement from Washington saying that the New York Central RR. had filed application with the Inter-State Commerce Commission for authority to issue $100,000,000 of refunding and improvement mortgage 5% bonds series C, to be dated Oct. 1 1921, and maturing Oct. 1 2013, but subject to call at 105 in 1951. It was not the size of the proposed new issue of bonds that created a new feeling of uneasiness, since the West Side improvement in this city alone, which the Central is carrying on, will entail expenditures of $150,000,000 or more, not to speak of the other projects in which the system is engaged, but that the company asked permission at the same time to pledge and repledge these new bonds from time to time as collateral security for short-term notes, and that the purpose was to pledge not to exceed $125 of bonds for each $100 face value of the notes thus to be secured. This meant that a railroad of such commanding position as the New York Central could not dispose of new bonds in the ordinary way, by a public sale, but was obliged to resort to the banks for temporary accommodation. At the same time it appeared that the $75,000,000 of 4½% refunding and improvement bonds due in 2013 which the Central had brought out the previous March at par were now selling on the New York Stock Exchange at only 61½.

As the month progressed there came further unfavorable developments which played their part in accentuating and continuing the downward course of prices. Not the least of these was a further recession in sterling exchange to a new low level since 1920 for the British pound sterling, attended also by further dividend reductions in a host of different corporations. In the railroad list the suspension of dividends by the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. attracted special attention, and this was followed later in the month by other dividend reductions. The Baltimore & Ohio RR. on Dec. 16 omitted declaration of its usual quarterly dividend, though it was pointed out that the company had already declared dividends the current year aggregating 3½% on the common shares. Missouri-Kansas-Texas passed the quarterly dividend on its 7% cumulative preferred shares. Towards the close of the month the Reading Co. reduced the quarterly dividend on its common stock, par $50, from $1 a share to 50c., and the Delaware Lackawanna & Western suspended dividends altogether for the first time since 1880. The President's message to Congress earlier in the month, indicating that Federal taxes would have to be heavily increased also served to accentuate the decline, while anxiety prevailed regarding the outcome of the conferences in Germany relating to German reparations payments and the further extension of Germany's short-term banking loans. The placing of an embargo upon gold exports by Japan, on Dec. 13, with the resulting collapse of the market value of the Japanese yen, naturally did not tend to brighten things. The further sharp decline in bond prices all around proved distressing as well as additionally depressing. Matters were made still worse by the fact that United States Government obligations shared in the general depreciation, all issues of United States obligations, with one single exception, selling at below par. Municipal obligations also fell into disfavor, and New York City, on temporary borrowing in the shape of $60,000,000 short-term issues, had to pay 5½% interest; last September, when $51,000,000 in three months' loans were negotiated, the borrowing was at a record low of 1⅜%. On top of it all, returns of railroad earnings for November showed frightful losses, the same as for previous months, while trade reports found business depression unrelieved.

Sales of stocks on the New York Stock Exchange for December aggregated 50,158,818 shares against 58,764,397 shares in December 1930 and 83,861,660 shares in December 1929. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales were 10,196,569 shares in December 1931, against 15,897,300 shares in 1930 and 26,816,900 shares in 1929. On the New York Stock Exchange no less than 935 stocks established new low records for the year in December, and 1,024 bonds were distinguished in the same way. On the New York Curb Exchange 678 stocks and 439 bonds reached new lows for 1931 in the closing month.

The general course of the stock market during the month has been indicated in the averages used above from the New York "Times." The drop in the case of many separate stocks deserves also to be indicated, at least for a few speculative issues. New York Central kept recording new declines almost every day, and on Dec. 9 touched a low of 24⅞, which compares with a high for the year of 132¼ on Feb. 24. In 1930 this stock sold as high as 192¾, and in 1929 at 256½. United States Steel fell from 55¼ Dec. 2 to 36 Dec. 18, and closed Dec. 31 at 38⅜, and this compares with a high for 1931 of 152⅝ on Feb. 26. In 1929 this stock sold at 261¾. American Tel. & Tel. declined from 131¾ Dec. 7 to 112⅛ Dec. 28, and closed Dec. 31 at 116¾; the previous February this stock sold at 201¾. Allied Chemical & Dye sold down from 78¼ Dec. 4 to 64 Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 68⅝. On Feb. 24 1931 the stock sold at 182¾; in 1929 it sold at 354¾. American Can sold down from 69½ Dec. 1 to 58⅛ Dec. 28, which compares with 129¾ the previous March.

In the case of bonds, the declines, as already remarked, have been as noteworthy as in the case of stocks, and in many instances even more so. It is to be observed, however, that very substantial recoveries ensued the latter part of the month, especially in the case of the high-class issues. One instance of the kind is seen in the Atchison general 4s; these dropped from 89¼ Dec. 1 to 81½ Dec. 16, and closed Dec. 31 at 87¾. These bonds sold as high as 101 May 23, and the decline from that figure to 81½ Dec. 16 furnishes a striking illustration going to show how in the general collapse even gilt issues suffered enormous depreciation. Of course the second grade issues fared worst of all, and there the record of collapse in values is a startling one. Some of these, now rated as second or third class issues, would hardly have been designated as such two years ago, when they still ranged high, particularly the railroad issues. Southern Railway general 4s series A dropped from 88¾ Feb. 19 to 27 Dec. 15, though they recovered to 41½. St. Louis-San Francisco consol. 4½s series A, as against 86 last January, touched 14¼ Dec. 2, with the close Dec. 31 at 19. Southern Pacific Co. 4½s of 1981, as against 94⅞ May 8, fell to 53½ Dec. 15, and Missouri Pacific general 4s, which in January sold at 75, touched 23 Dec. 15 and closed Dec. 31 at 34. And similar instances all through the list could be cited almost without number. The table below shows the fluctuations for the month of December in the case of a large number of separate issues:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING DECEMBER 1931.

A condition of considerable strain developed in the money market during December, the closing month of the year, though as far as rates are concerned this found reflection only in a slight rise in the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange, which, however, possessed greater significance owing to the fact that Stock Exchange borrowing has been reduced to moderate levels, and during December kept shrinking even still further. For a variety of reasons credit conditions became deeply disturbed and recourse to the Federal Reserve banks became a noteworthy feature of affairs. It seemed impossible to arrest the decline in security values and renewed weakness developed in both the stock market and the bond market, and especially the latter, where prices dropped lower even than the low figures recorded during October. The Government bond market in particular was depressed, both because of the unfavorable situation of Government finances, evidence of which appeared in greatly emphasized form with the convening of the new Congress in December, and also because the country was confronted with the necessity of frequent appeals to the money and the investing markets by the United States Treasury. Confidence, too, in things generally, owing to the lack of any signs of early recovery in trade, also had a disquieting effect, creating a disposition to take a very gloomy view of prospects, which sporadic new outcroppings of bank failures in different parts of the country served greatly to intensify. Then, also, constant demands for further credit inflation, with imperious demands in and out of Congress for new credit inflation as a possible remedy for the ills from which the country is suffering, tended to conjure up new doubts and uncertainties as to whither all this was to lead, and what the eventual outcome would be. At all events, anxieties began to crop up afresh in all directions and to create a state of great bewilderment, and the Federal Reserve banks were called upon for a great deal of additional assistance, and seemed inclined at the same time to add to the volume of Reserve credit outstanding in the purchase of Government securities and bankers' acceptances in the open market. The "Monthly Review" of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, issued under date of Jan. 1, points out that the amount of Federal Reserve credit outstanding increased over $300,000,000 between Dec. 9 and Dec. 30. In the first week of this period the increase was in the form of special day-to-day cerificates of indebtedness, representing temporary borrowing by the United States Government pending the collection of the income tax receipts. Following the repayment of these certificates, in the week ended Dec. 23, Reserve bank discounts for member banks increased more than $200,000,000, about half of which was in New York and the remainder in other parts of the country, and at the year-end there were substantial offerings of bills and Government securities to the Reserve banks, and also a further temporary increase in member bank borrowings in anticipation of year-end statements. The New York Reserve Bank explains this situation by saying that during December there were the usual demands upon the banks incident to the holiday trade and the year-end, including a demand for approximately $225,000,000 of currency, fourth quarter income tax collections, and preparations for the year-end corporation and bank statements. These requirements, we are told, assumed somewhat more than their usual significance because a large number of member banks throughout the country entered December with a substantial amount of indebtedness at the Reserve banks, due to the gold and currency withdrawals of the early autumn.

Underlying all this, however, there were many unusual and exceptional conditions betokening a highly unsettled state of things growing out of the period of stress through which the country has been passing, and these are discussed as follows by the New York Reserve Bank:

"During the past month there has been a continued decrease in the volume of bank credit in use. In the second week of December the total loans and investments of weekly reporting member banks of the Federal Reserve System declined to a volume $2,500,000,000 smaller than a year previous, and the deposits of these banks showed an accompanying decline of about $3,000,000,000. These weekly reporting banks, which are located in the larger cities and have approximately half of the total deposits of all commercial banks in the United States, showed little decline in their credit advances until the movement had been in progress in country banks for some time. Their loans and investments have now shown, however, an almost continuous decline since last March. In fact, their loans have been declining since the autumn of 1930, but the decline in loans was offset for several months by an increase in investments.

"Since September the tendency toward credit reduction has been accelerated, as a decrease of investments has been added to the reduction in loans. This accelerated decline started with heavy withdrawals of deposits from the banks, a considerable part of which represented the funds of foreign depositors, following the suspension of gold payments by Great Britain in September. The ensuing rise in money rates was accompanied by a decline in the prices of high grade securities, and this decline in security values, together with the loss of deposits, appears to have set in motion a cycle of credit reduction which continued after the immediate cause ceased to operate. Individual banks sold bonds or reduced their loans in order to strengthen their position. The result, however, was a further decline in the market value of investment securities and a loss of deposits by other banks, so that those banks also considered it necessary to strengthen their position by selling securities or reducing their loans. This action, in turn, while strengthening for the time being the position of individual banks, merely passed the burden along to other banks and tended to perpetuate and make progressively larger the losses of deposits and the decline in market value of bank assets for the banking system as a whole.

"At the middle of December this movement was interrupted by subscriptions to new issues of Government securities, which resulted in a net increase during the week ended Dec. 16 of $340,000,000 in the Government security holdings of the reporting member banks, but part of this increase was lost in the following week. Prices of long-term United States Government bonds declined in December to levels about 10% below those prevailing a few months ago; and corporation bonds showed still larger declines. With year-end and holiday demands for funds impending and a general feeling of caution prevailing, the demand for investment securities was limited so that the security markets did not show their usual ability to absorb offerings, and prices reacted to any liquidation of investment holdings. Trading was in such small volume, however, that quoted prices were purely nominal."

Call loans on the Stock Exchange remained unchanged at 2½% (this being the figure both for renewals and for new loans) until Friday, Dec. 18, when, after renewals had again been put through at 2½%, the rate for new loans advanced to 3%. The following Monday, Dec. 21, all loans were at 3%, including renewals, and there was no deviation from that figure thereafter until Wednesday, Dec. 30, when, after renewals had again been effected at 3%, the charge for new loans was raised to 3½%. On Thursday Dec. 31, all loans were at 3½% including renewals. In the early part of the month when the prevailing rate on the Stock Exchange was 2½%, banking house funds were available every day at 2% or a concession of ½ of 1% from the official rate. When the Stock Exchange rate moved up to 3% loans for a day or two were obtainable outside the Stock Exchange at 2¼%. After that, however, there were no offerings at any time at concessions from the Stock Exchange rate. Time money on security collateral remained inactive with little or no demand for this class of accomodation. In the first two weeks of the month rates for time loans for all dates from 30 days to 6 months were at the uniform figure of 3@3½%. Beginning on Dec. 14, the quotation for all dates was 3@4%. These quotations, however, were entirely nominal and in the absence of any demand for this class of accomodation every transaction received individual treatment, though all appeared to have been within the range given. Quotations for commercial paper remained unchanged. The demand for prime paper the latter part of the month was extremely light and while there was very little paper available the supply then was adequate for all requirements. Quotations for choice names of 4 to 6 months maturity continued at 3¾@4¼%. Names less well-known were 4½%. On some very high class 90-day paper an occasional transaction at 3½% continued to be noted. The New York Reserve Bank says that during December the bank investment inquiry for open market commercial paper continued in small volume and was concentrated on choice material of short maturities. This class of paper remained scarce, it is stated, as in fact were all drawings of paper, reflecting in part at least the usual seasonal tendency toward a reduction in the outstanding amount of paper on the approach of the year and statement date. On Nov. 30 outstandings of commercial paper amounted to $174,000,000, according to reports received from dealers by the New York Reserve Bank. This total, it is stated, was 17% smaller than the amount outstanding at the end of October and 61% less than in November 1930.

There was no change during the month in the rates for bankers acceptances which remained at 3⅛% bid and 3⅜% asked for bills running 30, 60 and 90 days; 3¼% bid and 3⅜% asked for bills running 120 days and 3⅞% bid and 3⅝% asked for bills running 5 and 6 months. There was a good demand for acceptances on the part of foreign central banks who do their buying through the Federal Reserve institutions, but nevertheless the market for acceptances was quite slow most of the time and especially the latter part of the month when the small supply of paper proved sufficient to meet all demands. The bill buying rate of the New York Reserve Bank remained unchanged at 3% on maturities up to 45 days and 3⅛% on maturities of 46 to 90 days. The New York Reserve Bank has the following to say with reference to the conditions prevailing in the acceptance market during the month.

"The supply of bankers bills offered to the discount market increased somewhat in the first part of December, and dealers' portfolios of bills tended to expand, though they remained of comparatively small volume up to the middle of the month. During this period, foreign buying of bills was accelerated, the Federal Reserve Banks' holdings of bills for foreign correspondents increasing $80,000,000 between December 2 and 16, but investment demand from domestic sources declined considerably. In the third week of the month, slightly firmer conditions in the money market were reflected in a further increase in offerings of bills to dealers and a smaller aggregate investment demand, and dealers' holdings of bills consequently showed a considerable rise. The dealers felt it unnecessary, however, to raise their rates for bills, which were offered throughout December at 3% for maturities up to 120 days and 3⅝% for five- and six-month maturities.

"Holiday and year-end demands for credit and currency reached their peak in the last week of the month, and, for the first time since October, bills were offered in volume to the Reserve Banks. Bills were sold by the banks directly to the Reserve Banks and also to the dealers, who by tendering the bills to the New York Reserve Bank under repurchase agreement supplied Federal Reserve credit to the money market indirectly; consequently, the System's total portfolio of acceptances increased $70,000,000 in the week ended December 30, after having shown a continuous decrease totaling $512,000,000 in the previous 9 weeks."

The American Acceptance Council in its monthly statement issued Dec. 15, showed a reduction again in the volume of acceptances outstanding, the amount Nov. 30 being reported at $1,002,304,705 as against $1,039,784,979 Oct. 31, and as against $1,571,417,674 12 months before on Nov. 29 1930. Robert H. Bean, Executive Secretary of the American Acceptance Council, in his analysis of the figures remarks that "of particular note is the reduction for the month of $32,117,851 in the market volume of bills against credits based on goods stored in or shipped between foreign countries. A large proportion of these bills, he says, are from German credits and the steady drop in total in recent months, from $493,643,884 on June 30 to $298,365,420 on Nov. 30, indicates how rapidly the problem of frozen credits is being solved so far as this concerns the bills in the open market."

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

The weekly returns of the Federal Reserve Banks during December showed that Federal Reserve credit was being freely employed and extended, and that, indeed, decided inflationary tendencies were developing, in sharp distinction from the improvement in that particular which appeared to be in evidence during November. The 12 Reserve institutions greatly increased their holdings of discounts, enlarged their holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market, and also added materially to their holdings of U. S. Government securities. The result altogether was a huge expansion in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding. The underlying reasons for all this have already been indicated in our discussion of the money market a little further above and accordingly all that it is necessary here is to cite the figures. The discount holdings, representing member bank borrowing, as against $686,401,000 Nov. 25 and $717,567,000 Dec. 2, increased to $1,024,133,000 Dec. 30. How different in that respect the situation was from that at the end of 1930 will appear when we say that as against $1,024,133,000 on Dec. 30 1931, these discounts 12 months before, on Dec. 31 1930, aggregated no more than $251,398,000. The holdings of acceptances during December first continued their downward courses decreasing from $479,798,000 Nov. 25, to $257,351,000 Dec. 23, but from this there was an increase to $326,975,000 on Dec. 30. The holdings of U. S. Government securities increased from $717,021,000 Dec. 2 to $803,228,000. The result altogether was that total bill and security holdings, which constitute a measure of the volume of Reserve credit outstanding, stood at $2,185,216,000 Dec. 30 as against $1,888,227,000 Dec. 2. The expansion was the more noteworthy as the bulk of the increase occurred in the last week of the month, when the bill and security holdings jumped from $1,957,221,000 Dec. 23 to $2,185,216,000 Dec. 30. Here again the contrast with a year ago is noteworthy, the aggregate of the bill and security holdings for Dec. 31 1930 having been only $1,351,852,000 thus showing an expansion for the 12 months in the large sum of $833,364,000.

Gold reserves increased somewhat during the month, rising from $2,941,570,000 Dec. 2 to $2,987,564,000 Dec. 30, but this was not sufficient to offset the increase in deposits and Federal Reserve notes and deposit liabilities and accordingly the ratio of total reserves to Reserve note liabilities combined dropped Dec. 30 to 61.9% as against 66.1% Dec. 9 and 65.6% Dec. 2. Twelve months before, on Dec. 31 1930 this ratio was 73.7%. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation increased from $2,478,130,000 Dec. 2 to $2,661,206,000 Dec 23 and was $2,613,104,000 Dec. 30, which latter was not far from a billion dollars in excess of the amount 12 months before on Dec. 31 1930, when the amount of Reserve notes in circulation was reported as only $1,663,538,000. As already noted further above in our discussion of the money market, foreign holdings of acceptances steadily increased as appears from the fact that the Federal Reserve returns show a contingent liability by the Federal Reserve banks on bills purchased for foreign correspondents of $248,529,000 Dec. 30 1931, as against only $117,650,000 Nov. 25. Simultaneously deposits of foreign banks were reduced from $145,656,000 Nov. 25, to $77,259,000 Dec. 30.

Changes in brokers loans call for little comment as the amount borrowed is now down to very low figures and the amount still keeps decreasing. For Dec. 30 the reporting member banks in New York City show brokers loans as only $591,000,000, against $720,000,000 Dec. 2. The monthly statement of Stock Exchange borrowings as compiled by the New York Stock Exchange itself, in like manner shows further contraction, the total of such borrowings by Stock Exchange members for Dec. 31 being reported at $587,159,813 against $730,151,908 on Nov. 30; $796,268,768 on Oct. 31; $1,044,407,879 on Sept. 30 and $1,354,067,350 Aug. 31.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING DECEMBER.

Sterling exchange moved erratically during December and touched new low figures, partly as the result of seasonal influences, but chiefly because of uncertainty regarding the stabilization of the pound sterling, now so greatly depreciated. On Tuesday Dec. 1, cable transfers on London which during November had declined from $3.83½ on Nov. 10 to $3.39 Nov. 30 dropped still lower and touched $3.29½. This brought the rate close to the post war low figure of $3.18 touched on Feb. 4 1920. A brisk upward rebound brought the rate the next day (Dec. 2) back to $3.45. The recovery however did not hold and on Monday Dec. 7, the rate dropped still lower, touching $3.24¼. These declines were traced to a number of different causes. Primarily December is normally the time of year when pressure on sterling increases, owing to large imports of foodstuffs and raw materials, particularly from the United States. Inasmuch as gold, owing to Great Britain's passing off the gold standard, is not employed automatically to ease the exchange situation through gold exports, such seasonal imports of goods exert an unusual influence on exchange rates. The weakness of sterling exchange was also due to heavy imports movement of goods in anticipation of the higher British tariffs. Such imports, it is believed, were largely instrumental in depressing sterling rates. In addition sales of sterling on a considerable scale were being made by holders inclined to withdraw funds from London even at a great sacrifice, because of Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard and the resulting great depreciation in the price of the pound. One instance cited as an example of that kind was the case of the Bank of the Netherlands in Holland. This bank in referring to its statement as of Sept. 27, stated that after negotiations with the Bank of England it was found that the latter was not inclined to make good the depreciation in sterling exchange held by the Netherlands bank. As a result, the Netherlands bank was unwilling to take risks of further declines in sterling and started negotiations with the Dutch government with the result that the Government took over a part of the Netherlands Bank sterling exchange for use in the redemption of the Dutch East Indian Sterling loans at a later date. Transactions of that kind found their parallel in many other similar instances. In other words, the pound sterling was sold in all markets by many large holders of sterling anxious to realize even at a great loss. Another factor depressing sterling has been general apprehension over the Central European situation and the outcome of the Franco-German negotiations as well as the parleys regarding German reparation payments and the renewal and extension of German short term loans. The course of sterling exchange was irregularly upward after the break to $3.24¼ on Dec. 7, and on Dec. 16 cable transfers sold as high as $3.46¾ but on Friday Dec. 18 took a sudden plunge downward again to $3.33¾. After that there was improvement again owing, it was believed, to considerable transfers for gift remittances usual at the Christmas season. It was also indicated that some of the banks called funds home from abroad for window dressing purposes in order to make a good showing in their statements at the end of the year.

But these proved only temporary sustaining influences and the overuling consideration remained the uncertainty regarding the stabilization of the pound sterling. Cable transfers Dec. 31 were quoted at a range of $3.38@$3.39¾. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald made it plain that there would be and could be no haste in the attempt at stabilization. He informed the House of Commons on Dec. 9 that it would be madness to attempt stabilization of sterling before adjustment of the international factors which controlled exchange values. He referred hopefully to the conference of governments which was to follow the Basle meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Bank for International Settlements. "We regret the delay in bringing the nations together at a conference table to settle the question of international debts that lies at the basis of our currency position" the Prime Minister said. "We are convinced that any move to hasten the matter on our own initiative would be fruitless. But we are sure the able experts now sitting at Basle (these experts later rendered their report showing that Germany was unable to make the reparations payments required of her) are fully aware of the urgency of their task and will produce a report with the greatest expedition possible. Thereafter a conference of governments will be held, and in the opinion of this government immediate action should be taken after the report of the experts is received. That conference must approach its task in a spirit of realism, examine all the facts and reach an agreement not merely to tide over the difficulties temporarily but to link the whole world in a hopeful effort."

The British Treasury decided on Dec. 1, to maintain its fiduciary issue—that part of the note issue not covered by gold—at £275,000,000. The authority of the Bank of England to issue fiduciary bank notes to that amount was extended until Dec. 14. The issue had been increased by £15,000,000 on Aug. 1. The announcements set at rest rumors that the Treasury intended increasing the fiduciary issue in view of the Christmas demand for currency. London advices Dec. 14 stated that the British Treasury had extended the maintenance of the fiduciary issue at £275,000,000 until Jan. 31 1932. The Bank of England continued to show small losses in its gold holdings from week to week. For the week ending Dec. 9 the loss was £82,104; for the week ending Dec. 16, £88,876; for the week ending Dec. 23 £75,096; and for the week ending Dec. 30 £4,547. There seemed to be expectations of considerable arrivals of gold from India. According to one estimate quoted in a dispatch to the New York "Herald Tribune" on Saturday Dec. 26, as much as £75,000,000 may be shipped in 1932. Some amounts of the metal were received during December. The gold from India, however, did not stay in London upon its arrival, but was immediately sold and transhipped just as are receipts of South African gold when sterling exchange is too low to permit the Bank of England to compete in the open market. $3,000,000 of gold from British India reached the United States during December.

The gold movement during December to and from the United States is summarized as follows by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

"The monetary gold of the United States continued to increase during the first three weeks of December, and showed only a moderate net reduction in the final week, with the result that a total increase of about $40,000,000 was reported for the month. As the diagram indicates [We omit this.—Ed.], the increase in the gold holdings of this country that occurred in the first nine months of the year has been resumed following the large outflow of late September and October, so that the net loss of gold for the year 1931 has been reduced to about $135,000,000.

"The month's gain in the gold stock reflected principally further imports from Japan at San Francisco, which amounted to $68,000,000, thereby increasing to $168,000,000 the total received from that country since mid-October. In addition, $1,000,000 was received from Australia and $500,000 from China at San Francisco. At New York, imports amounted to $17,700,000, of which $4,600,000 came from England, $4,000,000 from Canada, $2,000,000 from Colombia, $3,000,000 from British India, $1,800,000 from Cuba, and $900,000 from Mexico. Exports totaled $32,200,000, of which $15,000,000 went to France, $10,200,000 to Holland, $5,700,000 to Belgium, and $800,000 to Switzerland, and there was a net increase of $22,800,000 in the amount of gold held under earmark for foreign account.

"During December a total of over £1,000,000 of gold arrived in the London market principally from South Africa, of which £440,000 was taken for the United States, £485,000 for the Continent, and the balance for an undisclosed destination at varying prices."

Canadian exchange ruled at a severe discount all through the month of December and, what is more, the discount kept steadily increasing, checks on Canada here at New York being quoted at a discount as high as 20½ cents Dec. 15 which compares with 13⅞ cents on Dec. 1; on Dec. 31 the discount ranged from 17¼ cents to 16 11/16 cents.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Outside of sterling exchange there were two outstanding developments in the foreign exchanges during December. One of these was the declaration of a moratorium on about two-thirds of its foreign debt by Hungary and the other was the virtual abandonment of the gold standard by Japan through the placing of an embargo on further gold exports. However, attention was mainly concentrated on the situation in Germany, where, as related in the earlier part of this article, two important committees were at work in determining Germany's financial condition,

(1) The Advisory Committee appointed by the bank for International Settlements under the Young plan to determine Germany's ability to continue reparations payments after the expiration of the Hoover moratorium on July 1 1932 and the other the committee of private bankers headed by Albert H. Wiggin for arranging an extension of the short term indebtedness of Germany embraced in the so-called "stillhaltung" or "freezing agreement" which expires Feb.29. The Advisory Committee of the Bank for International Settlements made its report during the month, just before Christmas, placing a very low estimate on the capacity of Germany to make reparations payment, the details of which appear in the early part of this article, but the private bank Committee was still holding the short term debt question under consideration at the close of the month. The German Government and bankers manifested every indication of a desire to meet the foreign obligations. Complete repayment, immediately, however, of the short term debt was considered an impossibility and it was apparent that payment would have to be spread over a period of time. The task of the private bank committee was largely that of formulating a procedure of gradual liquidation which would best meet the requirements of both debtor and creditor. Chancelor Bruening's Government issued a very drastic new series of decrees on December 8 having an important bearing on the business and economic affairs of Germany such as cuts in rents, commodity prices, wages, salaries, interest rates &c., all with the purpose of exercising complete control of financial movements.

As a result of the decrees, or in keeping with their spirit, the Reichsbank on Dec. 10 reduced its discount rate from 8% to 7% and its Lombard rate (or interest on security loans) from 10% to 8%. The private banks in turn reduced overdraft charges from 12% to 10% and the interest credit from 5% to 4%. One decree also provided for the issuance of new 4-pfennig coins worth approximately one cent. A new Germany coinage program calls for the minting of 100,000,000 marks of silver coin requiring 8,000,000 ounces of metal. The silver was reported as already on hand.

The Bank of Germany showed a gain in gold and bullion for the first quarter of December of 188,000 marks, but reported losses in the succeeding quarters, that of the second quarter being 2,942,000 marks, that of the third quarter 17,288,000 marks and that of the final quarter 931,000 marks. This brought the gold holdings down to 983,955,000 marks, or the lowest figure of the year. On May 30, before the bank became involved in its difficulties, the amount of these gold holdings was 2,390,327,000 marks. Reserves in foreign currencies, however, increased in the last half of the month. For the first quarter of December there was a trifling increase in these reserves, namely 196,000 marks, but followed by a decrease in the second quarter of 12,111,000 marks, while in the third quarter there was an increase of 11,461,000 marks and in the final quarter an increase of 2,482,000 marks. Note circulation decreased 49.027,000 marks in the first quarter, 53,439,000 marks in the second quarter and 26,006,000 marks in the third quarter, followed however, by the usual big increase in the fourth quarter, this increase reaching 263,645,000 marks. The demand for money in the holiday season, which money is expected to flow back to the bank in short order, was held largely responsible for the size of the expansion and there was of course also an extra demand incidental to the close of the month and the close of the year. The ratio of reserve to outstanding circulation was down to 24.2% at the end of the year. Exchanges rates on Berlin fluctuated more or less during the month, but not within a wide range, and the fluctuations were not considered of any great consequence, since the market for marks continued to be more or less a nominal affair, owing to the severe restrictions on exchange and on financial operations generally in Germany. Cable transfers on Berlin were quoted at 23.73@23.80 on Dec. 31 as against 23.74@23.78 Dec. 1. After three months suspension members of the Berlin Boerse were permitted for the first time on Dec. 17 to meet for an hour, but they were pledged not to engage in deals.

Hungarian exchange is at all times of minor importance in the New York market. Special interest, however, attached to it in December because of the declaration of a moratorium on two-thirds of the Hungarian foreign debt, as already referred to on Dec. 22. Hungary will pay most foreign debts in pengos (Hungarian currency) instead of in foreign currency, but will continue to pay, it was announced, the interest amortization in foreign currency on the League of Nations loan of 1924, so far as exchange supplies allow. Baron Koranyi, the new Finance Minister of Hungary, declared a few day previously that Hungary would maintain the gold standard instead of pegging the currency to sterling or letting it drift. This latter point was considered to be a victory for France, which has been active in resisting the tendency to abandon gold wherever it arises. The market for Hungarian currency is largely nominal. It has been steady for a long time around 17.50. The par of the pengo is 17.49. Officials of the Bank for International Settlements on Dec. 16 notified the Hungarian Government that the $20,000,000 loan granted by a consortium of ten Governments to Hungary, which was to fall due Dec. 18 would be extended to a certain date, but which was not made public. Because of the difficult situation of Hungary, however, Basle advices said that it was feared that this extension would be insufficient to make any material difference in the status of Hungarian finances which were known to be very precarious. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York on the same day announced that it had renewed its participation in the $20,000,000 credit extended to the Central Bank of Hungary.

French francs showed a rising tendency and moved above the gold export point from this country and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reports that $15,000,000 gold was exported to France during December, besides which there was a net increase of $22,800,000 in amount of gold held under earmark for foreign account, which presumably also was largely for French account. An abrupt decline, however, in the rate of the franc on Dec. 29 would appear to have put an end to the French takings of gold at New York at least for the time being. Cable transfers on Paris, as against 3.91 Dec. 1 sold as high as 3.93¾ on Dec. 18 and hovered above 93 for every day thereafter until the day after Christmas, when it began to move downward again and on Dec. 29 touched 3.91¾, with the range on Dec. 31 at 3.92⅛@3.92 9/16. The market in French exchange has been thin for some weeks and the gold shipments from New York served to force the rate below par very readily. Most of the gold coming to the London open market, according to cable advices, is being reshipped to Paris for French account. The greater part of the gold comes from either South Africa or India.

The French Chamber of Deputies on Dec. 15 approved the Government's project for reimbursing the Bank of France for its losses in sterling exchange resulting from the decline in the pound after Great Britain abandoned the gold standard. It was stated that in its year-end report of Dec. 24 the Bank of France was expected to account for a loss of $100,000,000 suffered by it during the autumn from the slump in sterling. Unable longer to ignore the loss, and facing Great Britain's reluctance to stabilize sterling, the French bank was obliged to ask the French Treasury to share in the responsibility. It was to help the Treasury that the Bank of France bought foreign currency on a large scale in 1927 and 1928. At the moment of stabilization these French purchases of foreign currencies totaled approximately, it is stated, $1,720,000,000. A large part was later transformed into gold or otherwise liquidated. When sterling went off the gold basis the Bank of France still held £62,000,000 upon which the loss is estimated at 2,500,000,000 francs. The French Senate passed the measure on Dec. 23 after a heated debate and after making some amendments. The Bank of France declared a dividend of 150 francs net for the second half of the year, which, together with 235 francs for the first half, made a total dividend of 385 francs for the entire year, compared with 620 francs in 1930; 529 in 1929 and 350 in 1928. The Bank of France in its statement for the week ending Dec. 4 reported an increase in gold holdings of 109,442,390 francs, a further increase of 39,939,696 francs in the week ending Dec. 11, of 70,188,167 francs in the week ending Dec. 18, of 417,477,969 francs in the week ending Dec. 24 and of 382,000,000 francs in the week ending Dec. 31.

In view of the constant reports that other countries contemplated suspension of gold payments, it seems important to note that Baron Maurice Houtart, the Finance Minister of Belgium, said on Dec. 23 that the Belgium cabinet never had considered and did not intend to consider devalorization of the Belgium franc. The gold standard was the beginning and end of Belgium's financial policy, he said. Cable transfers on Antwerp fluctuated much in the same way as French francs. As against 13.88 Dec. 1 cable transfers on Antwerp reached 13.94½ Dec. 24 but dropped to 13.89 Dec. 30 and was 13.89½@13.90 on Dec. 31.

Italian exchange fluctuated rather widely the latter part of the month when considerable weakness developed. Cable transfers on Italy Dec. 31 were down to 5.07@5.10 as against 5.15½ on Dec. 1. However, there appeared to be no special reason for this and the Government expressed a determination to hold down the note issue of the Bank of Italy to the lowest level possible, and, as a matter of fact, nearly every return of the Bank of Italy showed a small decrease in note circulation. While exchange on Czechoslavakia continued quiet and unchanged, as for a long time previously, it deserves to be noted that the National Bank of Czechoslavakia on Dec. 22 reduced its rate from 6½% to 6%, this being the only change in any central bank rate in Europe during the month aside from the reduction in the rate of the Bank of Germany.

Exchange on the countries neutral during the war moved somewhat erratically. Both Swiss francs and Holland guilders moved lower the latter part of the month after having shown increasing firmness during the early portion. Cable transfers on Switzerland, as against 19.42 Dec. 7 sold as high as 19.54 on Dec. 26 but dropped back to 19.48 Dec. 30 and were 19.50@19.53½ Dec. 31. Cable transfers on Amsterdam after selling up from 40.27 Dec. 1 to 40.46 Dec. 11 dropped to 39.99 Dec. 15 and were 40.09@40.12 Dec. 31. The Bank of the Netherlands announced at the opening of the month that no dividends would be paid for 1931 because of heavy losses through the fall of the pound. This, Amsterdam advices said, had seldom, if ever, happened in the history of the Netherlands Bank. To liquidate its considerable holdings of pounds without weighing too heavily upon the market, the Bank, it was stated, had made an agreement with the Dutch Government whereby the Government would take over the holdings at a fixed rate for amortization of a Dutch-Indian loan quoted in pounds sterling.

Exchange on the Scandinavian centers was disturbed by the suspension of a number of Norwegian private banks. Announcement from Washington on Dec. 16 reported that two of the largest private banks in Norway had been forced to suspend payments the day before and that the Norwegian Government had granted the banks a three months moratorium. Norwegian exchange dropped sharply as a result. The suspension of the Norwegian banks also led to a drop in Dutch exchange and reports were current in Wall Street that Holland would soon pass off the gold standard, though there appeared to be no basis for the rumor. It was declared in banking quarters that other European countries had drawn heavily on Holland in fear that Dutch funds were being tied up in Norway. Sharp recoveries ensued, however, when it appeared that the different rumors were baseless. The early part of the month the Scandinavian exchanges were weak because of the break in sterling. Cable transfers on Norway, as against 18.59 Dec. 1 was down to 17.92 Dec. 8 owing to the decline in sterling and then sold up to 19.20 Dec. 14 but dropped back to 18.36 Dec. 18 on the bank failures and was 18.55@18.75 Dec. 31. Swedish exchange went through similar gyrations, cable transfers on Sweden dropping from 18.90 Dec. 2 to 17.95 Dec. 7; the rate then mounted to 19.50 Dec. 14, after which it moved irregularly downward again with the rate Dec. 31 18.90@19.01. Exchange rates on Denmark pursued the same irregular course. It will be remembered that the currencies of Norway, Sweden and Denmark all followed the pound sterling in going off the gold standard. Spanish exchange after further weakness the early part of the month showed recovery the latter part, though the improvement was not fully retained. On cable transfers the peseta as against 8.40c. Dec. 1 dropped as low as 8.22⅝ Dec. 8, but then rebounded to 8.52½ Dec 17, with the close Dec 31 at 8.45½@8.47½. There were reports that the Spanish authorities were considering the withdrawal of the Central Control Bureau from foreign operations.

Exchange on the South American countries continued inactive. All are hampered by interference on the part of government exchange control offices. Most of the South Americans are only nominally quoted, with practically no transactions of any kind except surreptitious trading outside the law. Professor Edwin W. Kemmerer, of Princeton University, returned to New York on Dec. 28 from Lima, Peru, where he had attended a conference of the Central banks of Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador, Chile and Colombia. Professor Kemmerer said: "The conference dealt only with central bank problems. All the countries represented reaffirmed the use of the gold standard and passed resolutions pleading for greater world co-operation in maintaining its usage." Peru and Ecuador, he said, are actually on a parity, but Colombia, Chile and Bolivia are only nominally on the gold standard. Advices from Buenos Aires continue to discuss a temporary stabilization of the peso at around 25.00, compared with the present par of the paper peso at 42.45. The stabilization, it is admitted, is merely a de facto stabilization pending legal measures to make the level permanent, should events in the future indicate the wisdom of stabilization de jure at this point. In the meantime it is believed that the Government will limit note circulation to 1,200,000,000 paper pesos and at the same time limit the minimum gold reserve to 250,000,000 gold pesos. On Dec. 14 the Argentine note circulation amounted to 1,212,675,832 paper pesos, against which was a gold reserve of 269,326,878 gold pesos and rediscounts of 315,830,223 paper pesos. With the new limit to the gold reserve the Government will have available, based on the report of that date, 19,326,878 gold pesos (par of the gold peso is 96.48) for service on the external funded debt. This, it is estimated, will be sufficient to last for the next six months, but local banking circles do not believe that the Government will permit shipment of gold for service on State obligations. This belief is based on the fact that upon the exhaustion of the surplus stocks in the Caja de Conversion above the legal minimum, the Government will be compelled to depend upon purchases of exchange in the open market, which will complicate the problem of holding the paper peso stable at 25.00. The probable course of events hinges largely upon the Argentine crops and world grain prices. Any improvement in the price of grain will automatically provide the Government with more exchange and relieve the pressure upon the peso. Brazilian customs duties are now collected entirely in gold and banking circles regard this as the first step toward the gradual building up of a Brazilian gold reserve which has been completely depleted through service on foreign obligations. The contemplated central bank of issue, as outlined by Sir Otto Niemeyer in his report on Brazil, would require a 30% gold reserve against notes in circulation and other demand liabilities. There were no striking changes in any of the South American exchanges during December, but the Argentina pesos developed growing firmness, with the pesos or cable transfers quoted at 25.75@26.00 Dec. 31 against 25.50@26.00 Dec. 1.

In exchange on the Far East the feature was the decline in the Japanese yen following the change in the Japanese ministry and the placing of an embargo on gold export from Japan. The resignation, on Dec. 11, of the Japanese Cabinet headed by Premier Baron Reijiro Wakatsuki in response to the criticism of its policy on foreign affairs and its financial policy, was followed on Dec. 13 by the issuance of a decree placing an embargo on exports of gold. Stating that the embargo on gold exports meant in effect the suspension of the gold standard, a cablegram from Tokio, Dec. 13, to the New York "Journal of Commerce" also said:

> Despite the embargo the Yokohama Specie Bank, Inc., is shipping an additional $15,000,000 to New York. The balances to be created by these shipments will be used to meet debts payable in foreign currencies. The new Premier, Tsuyoshi Inukai, is understood chiefly to represent an industrial group.
> A statement issued by the Japanese Financial Commissioner and cabled to New York yesterday stated that obligations of Japan payable in dollars will be serviced as in the past. The decree issued in Japan prohibits the shipment of gold coin leaving Japanese notes convertible internally into gold.
> The fact that the Yokohama Specie Bank is shipping another $15,000,000 to the United States was taken to indicate that debts payable in domestic currency would be discharged promptly and in full. It was pointed out in local banking circles that the Yokohama Specie Bank already holds large dollar balances.

Yen exchange declined sharply as a result of the gold embargo, and the last few days of the month completely collapsed, so that the rate for checks on Yokohama Dec. 31 was down to 35.06@35¼ as against 49 9/16@49¾ on Dec. 1. The Chinese exchanges, on the other hand, the latter part of the month moved upward, presumably on the recovery in the price of silver. The Hong-Kong dollar, from 24.44 Dec. 9, advanced to 26 5/16 on Dec. 17, and was 25.31@25⅜ Dec. 31. The tael for checks on Shanghai, after dropping from 32.50 Dec. 1 to 31¾ Dec. 3, rose to 34.63 Dec. 17, and was 33.19@33.63 Dec. 31. Rupees on Bombay moved irregularly up and down, and were 25.81@26.00 Dec. 31 against 25.06@25.75 Dec. 1, after having sold as high as 26.81 Dec. 15 and as low as 24.69 Dec. 7. The price of silver in London, as against 18 13/16 Nov. 30, sold as high as 20 11/16 Dec. 8, and after dropping back to 19 13/16 Dec. 14, and then advancing to 20 7/16 Dec. 19, was 20 3/16 Dec. 31.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during December and range for year 1931. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges, but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for equipment bonds are based on average maturities

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on.

Note.—Owing to the present demoralized condition of the municipal bond markets, brokers and dealers find it difficult, and in many cases, almost impossible to make quotations for municipal bonds. Bid prices, especially for the smaller municipalities, are practically out of the question and sales or terms are simply a matter of bargaining between buyer and seller. In fact the absolute lack of demand offers causes good bonds to be offered at almost any price.

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF JANUARY—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Highly important developments marked the course of affairs during the opening month of the new year, both domestic and foreign. Those relating to internal affairs had to do mainly with the intense depression in business which, after continuing for more than two years, showed little or no sign of relaxing its hold, and with the steps taken by President Hoover and Congress for coping effectively with it and paving the way for its removal. Another development of large consequence was the negotiations between the railroads and their union employees for a temporary lowering of wage schedules in view of the frightful losses in traffic and revenues which these rail carriers sustained during the calendar year 1931, leading not only to suspensions and reductions in dividend declarations on railroad stocks on an unparalleled scale, but bringing some of the strongest railroads in the country to the point where they barely earned their fixed charges in the shape of interest payments on their bonded indebtedness, and in not a few cases falling short of meeting such fixed charges.

In this state of things, too, accentuated by the enormous depreciation in the market value of their securities and the general gloom in which the financial world was shrouded, the roads were no longer able to finance their new capital needs through the issue of either stocks or bonds, since no market for the same could be found, thereby reducing the great transportation systems of the country to a state of utter helplessness and really threatening its ruin. The negotiations with the railroad labor unions, or brotherhoods, as the most of these railway labor organizations are called, dragged wearily along during the last half of the month, with the labor chiefs raising all sorts of objections against reductions in their pay, even temporarily, but found fruition in a signed agreement on the very last day of the month, Sunday, Jan. 31. By this agreement the unions consent to a reduction of 10% in their pay, but only for the period of a single year, when there is to be an automatic return to the old scale. As the 10% reduction involves a saving in expenses of somewhat over $200,000,000, the railroads will gain a distinct advantage by the action, at least for the time being. In that respect, therefore, the event constitutes a favorable development full of considerable promise for the immediate future, though it is to be doubted that the condition of the roads will so greatly improve during the period of a single year that they can then resume the old scale of pay. We outline the provision of this railroad agreement more at length under a separate heading further along in this article.

THE LEGISLATIVE RELIEF MEASURES.

The relief measures passed by Congress on the initiative of President Hoover, so far as they serve to stimulate and revive trade, which is their sole object, are also to be looked upon as favorable developments, though there is always the qualifying consideration to bear in mind that they involve going into debt, more particularly in the case of the National Government, already beset by financial problems of the gravest nature, because of the growing budget deficiency arising out of shortened revenues, owing to the collapse of trade, and such going into debt finds its only warrant and justification if it has the effect of restoring the country to sound business health. In short, the domestic developments carry the promise of a better state of things for the near future.

THE ACUTE CRISIS AT SHANGHAI—THE ARBITRARY COURSE OF JAPAN.

Not the same can be said of the foreign developments. These latter at the best involve new complications and troubles, and one of them—the further rift in the relations between China and Japan—carries such a menace to the maintenance of peaceful relations among the nations of the world that they can only be contemplated with the deepest affright and solemn prayers that the dangers they threaten may, through a concensus of wise counsel on the part of the governing authorities of the countries most immediately concerned, be averted. The acute crisis in Chinese-Japanese affairs grew out of the action of Japan in extending the area of its military operations begun in Manchuria last September to the Shanghai district. A Japanese military expedition was sent into the native areas of Shanghai, designed to terminate anti-Japanese propaganda and the boycott of Japanese goods. After a series of ultimatums by Japanese commanders, demanding the immediate suppression of anti-Japanese organizations, troops from the vessels stationed at the chief treaty port of China were landed on Thursday, Jan. 28, and a determined attack launched on the Chinese districts of the city. Serious fighting promptly developed, as the Chinese Government had assembled troops to repel the invasion. The Japanese, however, appear to have conducted their operations in a very high-handed fashion, sending airplanes into the area which dropped bombs on the Chinese population without much regard as to the consequences to the foreign population and without much respect for treaty rights and treaty possessions of other countries. The Japanese airplanes dropped some bombs even within the International Settlement, while violations of the boundaries of the Settlement by the Japanese marines were also reported, and these marines ruthlessly shot down anyone in their path in the native areas. The United States took drastic measures to protect its interests, and so did Great Britain and the other countries as the crisis became steadily more acute. On Sunday, Jan. 31, President Hoover's decision to increase the American forces in the International Settlement in Shanghai was announced at the White House late in the afternoon in the following statement:

"A conference was held by the President to-day with the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, Under Secretary of State Castle, Chief of Staff General MacArthur and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Pratt. The request of American Consul-General Cunningham and our naval officers at Shanghai for still further protection of American citizens in the International Settlement at Shanghai was considered.

"Directions have been given to send to Shanghai the Thirty-first Regiment of about 1,000 men now at Manila, together with 400 marines [later increased to 600] on the transport Chaumont leaving to-morrow. The cruiser Houston and six destroyers left Manila this morning for Shanghai.

"With these additions to the marines already there, the total American forces in the settlement will number about 2,800. As soon as conditions permit, the troops will be returned to Manila."

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE REGARDING REPARATIONS—NO LONGER ABLE TO PAY.

While the Japanese crisis was the most momentous of the foreign affairs, there were several others of no mean consequence. They included an official announcement by Chancellor Bruening of Germany that when the Lausanne Reparations Conference convened on Jan. 25 he would inform the world that Germany's ability to pay reparations was at an end. They also included the action of Great Britain in announcing on Jan. 20 that the Lausanne Conference which had been scheduled for Monday, Jan. 25, would not be held. "The conversations which have been taking place between the governments chiefly concerned with the conference at Lausanne are not yet concluded," the statement said, "and it is evident the conference cannot begin as early as next Monday, the date which had been previously fixed. Further conversations are now in progress and the British Government entertains the hope that it may be possible to come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the procedure to be adopted in the course of a few days. Premier Laval of France at the same time took pains to reaffirm the French attitude regarding reparations payments, and on Tuesday, Jan. 19 (the day before Great Britain announced postponement of the Lausanne Conference) M. Laval went before the Chamber of Deputies for the first time since the reorganization of his Cabinet early in the month (the change consisting mainly of the replacement of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand by the Premier, who assumed the foreign affairs portfolio in addition to his duties as President of the Council), and in his ministerial declaration set forth that the French claim to reparations payments would be firmly maintained. His policy would be, not to make any sacrifices unless war debts were correspondingly reduced. The French Premier was particularly emphatic in his references to reparations. France, he said, will not permit her right to these payments from Germany to be suppressed. "A discharge in favor of our debtors is asked of us," M. Laval said. "A double duty is imposed on us. Toward the generation which suffered from the war there is the duty of fairness—to sacrifice nothing of our credit without a corresponding remission of our own debts. Toward future generations there is the duty of prudence to subordinate all agreements to a just balance of the conditions of production and of existence. This balance will be broken if, when this crisis is passed, a disproportion of financial charges burdening the activities of the peoples places us in any state of inferiority in the international markets." Great Britain and France seemed to be agreed on the need for the extension of the moratorium on reparations payments for another six months or a year when it comes to an end on July 1, and an attempt was made to sound out Germany on some compromise of that sort, but the German position on that point was made plain in an official notification by Chancellor Bruening to Sir Horace Rumbold, the British Ambassador, that Franco-British suggestions for a temporary adjustment would prove unacceptable. The British representative called at the Foreign Office, it was indicated, to learn whether Germany would consent to a 12-month prolongation of the present reparations respite, pending final action. This proposal was definitely rejected by the Chancellor, a Berlin dispatch to the New York 'Times" said, and the stand taken that a definitive solution of the problem must be undertaken before July 1. The proposal that the formal conference be deferred to some date next autumn, before the Allied War Debt payments to the United States become due, also was rejected" the dispatch added. "To-day's announcement was supplemented by a positive declaration that the German Government would stoutly oppose any sort of provisional adjustment which sought to evade a final show-down. The Government, it was said, had reached the conclusion, supported by the Basle experts, that the resumption of payments under the Young Plan, including the non-postponable annuities, was no longer within the capacity of German economy.

EXTENSION FOR ANOTHER YEAR OF THE GERMAN SHORT-TERM PRIVATE DEBTS.

Another event of importance witih reference to German affairs was the extension for another year from Feb. 29 1932 of Germany's short-term private debts. This was of course gratifying action. The new agreement which involves "frozen" short-term credits totaling approximately $1,500,000,000, cancels the provisional six-month accord concluded at Basle last August and takes effect on Feb. 29. Discussing the new arrangement, Albert H. Wiggin, Chairman of the Committee and chief American delegate, said: "Experience under the first 'standstill' agreement, which was for a period of six months only, made necessary a most careful study of the whole position, and it was found desirable to revise the plan in many details. The interests of the banking creditors of the various countries naturally vary somewhat in detail, and full consideration had to be given to the points of view of all interests concerned." "German members of the Committee made a thorough examination of every point of the new agreement before signing it," Mr. Wiggin declared, adding that "their attitude throughout the prolonged and difficult negotiations commanded the full respect of the foreign credit bankers, and that it is evident they would do their utmost to live up to and carry out the agreement." "They have been properly concerned to make no commitments which they would not fulfill, and it is evident they believe in the essential stability of German finance, feeling confident of their ability to protect it," Mr. Wiggin continued. He said the foreign creditors had come away from the conference with great respect for the German leaders with whom they had had to deal.

In the preamble of its report the committee emphasizes the responsibility of the governments in the premises, recalling that the original credit agreement was made at the recommendation of the London Seven Power Conference last July, which called for immediate financial relief to Germany in the nature of a central bank credit of $100,000,000 and concerted measures for the maintenance of private credits already extended. The conclusions reached by the Committee after its six weeks of deliberations are summarized as follows:

"The short-term creditors have done all that is possible to insure that the next 12 months will afford Germany a period of recuperation. The Committee has been impressed by the very great efforts and sacrifices which the German Government and the German people are making to maintain their position in the midst of such unprecedented difficulties.

Would Remove Hindrances.

"While German economy possesses within itself immense recuperative powers, which will manifest themselves as more favorable world conditions emerge, it is imperative that the hindrances to such development should be removed. It will not come without positive action by the governments and peoples in the sphere of international co-operation and, as both Basle committees have urged, there is no time to be lost.

"The present extreme crisis must bring home to all peoples of the world the fact that all the countries grow poor together. The inverse is as true; all countries grow rich together. A lightening of burdens and a greater freedom of trade enriching one country will enrich all."

Continuing the report says:

"The process of liquidation has proceeded further in Germany than in any other country, since Germany has been subject not only to the effects of the world depression but also to the continuing exceptional pressure from outside. Germany replaced the loss of a large part of her working capital due to the war, heavy post-war payments to other governments, inflation, and by long and short-term loans from abroad on a large scale.

" In the past 16 months she, however, has paid back to the world very large sums, a process which has given evidence of her underlying strength, but has, at the same time, placed an extremely heavy strain on the whole internal and external credit structure. The process of readjustment to which she has been forced, involving great unemployment, great internal restriction of credit and budgetary deficits has been necessary in order to maintain her exports, on which her capacity to pay her creditors entirely depends.

Aim to Strengthen Whole System.

"In view of these circumstances the Committee considered that the first interest of the creditors lay in strengthening the general credit system of Germany and in particular the Reichsbank. It is their policy to protect the Reichsbank and the stability of currency. The wisest policy is not to attempt to liquidate completely the short-term debt, which indeed could not possibly have been done without disaster, but to restore confidence so that foreign creditors will be willing to continue to grant credit to Germany.

"The short-term debt to be dealt with under the new standstill agreement already matured, and maturing before March 1 1933, amounts to about 5,360,000,000 Reichsmarks. When the world returns to a normal condition it will not, in the opinion of the Committee, be difficult for a great country like Germany to carry a short-term debt of this amount."

THE PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATIONS OF REMEDIAL LEGISLATION FOR THE RELIEF OF BUSINESS.

Emergency remedial legislation for the relief of trade and business, was pushed with great energy in Congress. Congress re-assembled on Jan. 4 after the Christmas holidays and received a special message from President Hoover urging immediate Congressional action on measures recommended by him in his annual message. He said the proposals recommended by him were designed to check the further degeneration in prices and values, to fortify the country against continued shocks from world instability and to unshackle the forces of recovery. The need was manifestly, he said, even more evident, than at the date of his message a month earlier. He would be derelict in his duty if he "did not at this time emphasize the paramount importance to the Nation of constructive action upon these questions at the earliest possible moment." He added: "These recommendations have been largely developed in consultation with leading men of both parties, of agriculture, of labor, of banking and of industry. They furnish the basis for full collaboration to effect these purposes. They have no partizan character. We can and must replace the unjustifiable fear in the country by confidence. Combatting a depression he urged was like a great war, in that it was not a battle upon a single front but upon many fronts.

"The United States has the resources and resilience to make a large measure of recovery independent of the rest of the world. Our internal economy is our primary concern and we must fortify our economic structure in order to meet any situation that may rise and by so doing lay the foundations for recovery. This does not mean that we are insensible to the welfare of other Nations, or that our own self-interest is not involved in economic rehabilitation abroad which would restore the markets for our agricultural and other commodities. But it is our duty to devote ourselves to the problems of our own internal economy not only as the first necessity to domestic welfare, but as our best contribution to the stability of the world as a whole."

The measures on which the President urged action without delay may be summarized as follows: (1) The strengthening of the Federal Land Bank system to aid the farmer; (2) the creation of a Reconstruction Finance Corporation to furnish during the period of the depression credits otherwise unobtainable under existing circumstances in order to give confidence to agriculture, industry and labor against further paralyzing influences; (3) the creation of a system of Home Loan Discount banks in order to revive employment by new construction and to mitigate the difficulties of many of our citizens in securing renewals of mortgages on their homes and farms; (4) enlargement of the rediscount facilities of the Federal Reserve Banks; (5) development of a plan to distribute to depositors moneys in closed banks; (6) revision of laws relating to transportation as recommended by the Inter-State Commerce Commission to "restore confidence in the bonds of our railways;" (7) revision of banking laws in order to better safeguard depositors; (8) reduction of Federal expenditures, adequate increase of taxes and "restriction of issues of Federal securities."

THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION BILL BECOMES A LAW—ITS PROVISIONS AND POSSIBILITIES—GENERAL CHARLES G. DAWES NAMED AS PRESIDENT AND EUGENE MEYER AS CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD.

On Jan. 5 the Senate Banking and Currency Committee voted to report favorably the bill providing for the creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. The sub-committee decided not to amend the bill so as to permit loans to closed banks. This type of aid, it was agreed, should be undertaken in a separate bill. The sub-committee also decided against permitting the debentures of the Corporation to be eligible for rediscount through the Federal Reserve System. The original bill contained provision for such rediscount. The sub-committee altered the bill so as to provide that the Reconstruction obligations may be purchased and sold by the Treasury Department by using the proceeds of bonds of its own which may be sold for the purpose of obtaining the means wherewith to sustain the market for obligations of the new corporation should such obligations be necessary. The bill was reported favorably to the Senate on Jan. 6 and debate on it began on Jan. 7. It passed the Senate late at night on Jan. 11 by a vote of 63 to 8. During the course of the debate numerous amendments offered were voted down, though on the other hand the bill was altered in a number of particulars without however making any essential changes in the purpose of the measure. One incident during the consideration of the measure was the rejection of an amendment offered by Royal S. Copeland, United States Senator from New York, at the instance of James J. Walker, Mayor of the City of New York, urging that the bill contain a provision authorizing the Corporation to lend money to cities and municipal corporations of the country on acceptable security such as bonds or notes "to relieve their acute needs." Mayor Walker in his telegram to Senator Copeland said that "before the proposed Reconstruction Finance Corporation Bill to provide the vast sum of $2,000,000,000 in public credit for the relief of banks and bankers is enacted, attention should be called to the needs of the cities throughout the country which are refused loans by the banks to carry on their affairs and to rescue their inhabitants from starvation." The telegram contained many other striking passages of the same nature, among others the following: "Almost every city, small and large, in the United States is now in a financial straitjacket because of severe restrictions imposed by the banks on lending money for the operations of local Governments. On the one hand, the National authorities are urging that the relief for the acute poverty and distress resulting from unemployment must be provided by the localities themselves, that is by cities, towns and villages. On the other hand the banks have raised the interest charges on short-term loans to prohibitive rates and are imposing almost impossible conditions or even flatly refusing to do business with the authorities of their own communities. While billions have been loaned through these same banks to foreign lands, they are now professing inability to meet imperative necessities right at home." Senator Robert Wagner, Mr. Copeland's colleague in the United States Senate, joined him in urging the insertion of the provision requested and the two also received considerable assistance from Senator J. Ham Lewis of Illinois (the City of Chicago having long been in a bad financial plight) but in the end the proposition was voted down by a vote of 45 to 28.

In the meantime, the House of Representatives also had under consideration a bill for a Reconstruction Finance Corporation and this passed that body late in the day on Jan. 15 by a vote of 335 to 55; on Jan. 18 the Senate substituted its bill for the House measure and ordered it to conference to reconcile the differing provisions. These differences were finally adjusted on Jan. 20 and the conference report laid before both branches of Congress on Jan. 21. On Jan. 22 both Houses adopted the conference report and the measure was then ready for the President's signature. Before the reference of the bill to conference, Senator Copeland renewed his effort to include a provision making loans available to States and municipalities. The proposed amendment on this occasion differed from his original amendment in that it limited to $200,000,000 loans that might be made to cities and States at any one time. The proposal, however, was again defeated, this time by a vote of 53 to 24. As already stated, complete agreement on all the controversial features of the bill was reached late in the day on Jan. 20 by the conferees. The daily papers stated that the outstanding point of difference was settled when the conferees agreed to the Senate language which made the Corporation's securities purchasable and salable at the Treasury, but neither rediscountable nor purchasable at the Federal Reserve banks. management of the Corporation is vested in a board of directors consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury (or in his absence the Under Secretary of the Treasury), the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and the Farm Loan Commissioner, who are members ex-officio, and of four other persons appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Of the seven members of the board of directors, not more than four may be members of the same political party and not more than one shall be appointed from the same Federal Reserve district. As the three ex-officio members are all Republicans and General Dawes is also a Republican, the remaining three members had to be of a different political faith, and accordingly Messrs. Couch and Jones are Democrats and so likewise is Wilson McCarthy of Salt Lake City, Utah, the last member of the board, whose nomination was sent for confirmation to the Senate on Feb. 1 and confirmed Feb. 3.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is a gigantic proposition, with provision for a capital of $500,000,000 to be subscribed by the United States Government, and with authority to issue also $1,500,000,000 of debentures, bonds, or other obligations. It is very broad and comprehensive, too, in its scope and application. The title describes it as "An Act to provide emergency financing facilities for financial institutions, to aid in financing agriculture and commerce and for other purposes." Under Section 5 of the Act the Corporation is authorized to aid "in financing agriculture, commerce and industry, including facilitating the exportation of agricultural and other products, and empowered to make loans, upon such terms and conditions not inconsistent with this Act as it may determine, to any bank, savings bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance comp... ortgage loan company, credit union, Federal L... such railroads or railways are unable to obtain funds upon reasonable terms through banking channels or from the general public, and the Corporation will be adequately secured:

"Provided that no fee or commission shall be paid by any applicant for a loan under the provisions hereof in connection with any such application or any loan made or to be made hereunder, and the agreement to pay or payment of any such fee or commission shall be unlawful.

"Any such railroad may obligate itself in such form as shall be prescribed and otherwise comply with the requirements of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and the Corporation with respect to the deposit or assignment of security hereunder, without the authorization or approval of any authority, State or Federal, and without compliance with any requirement, State or Federal, as to notification, other than such as may be imposed by the Inter-State Commerce Commission and the Corporation under the provisions of this section."

The Corporation is given a life of 10 years, and Sections 12 and 13 of the Act deserve also to be quoted as follows:

Sec. 12. When designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Corporation shall be a depositary of public moneys, except receipts from customs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by said Secretary; and it may also be employed as a financial agent of the Government; and it shall perform all such reasonable duties as depositary of public money and financial agent of the Government, as may be required of it. Obligations of the Corporation shall be lawful investments, and may be accepted as security for all fiduciary, trust and public funds, the investment or deposit of which shall be under the authority or control of the United States or any officer or officers thereof.

Sec. 13. Upon the expiration of the period of one year within which the Corporation may make loans, or of any extension thereof by the President under the authority of this Act, the board of directors of the Corporation shall, except as otherwise herein specifically authorized, proceed to liquidate its assets and wind up its affairs. It may, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, deposit with the Treasurer of the United States as a special fund any money belonging to the Corporation or from time to time received by it in the course of liquidation or otherwise, for the payment of principal and interest of its outstanding obligations or for the purpose of redemption of such obligations in accordance with the terms thereof, which fund may be drawn upon or paid out for no other purpose.

PASSAGE OF BILL PROVIDING ADDITIONAL CAPITAL FOR FEDERAL LAND BANKS.

The bill providing additional capital for the Federal Land Banks and granting powers to them to extend the time for repayment of loan installments was passed by the United States Senate on Jan. 13 with numerous amendments. As passed by the House on Dec. 19 the bill provided $100,000,000 additional capital for the Federal Land Banks. The bill passed by the Senate increased the amount to $125,000,000, $25,000,000 of this being earmarked for specific use. The bill then went to conference and on Jan. 21 both Houses accepted the conference report. The conference report included a compromise amendment proposed by the House conferees that Section 13 of the Federal Farm Loan Act as amended (U. S. C., Title 12, Chapter 7, Section 781) be amended by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

Tenth, when in the judgment of the directors conditions justify it, to extend, in whole or in part, any obligation that may be or become unpaid under the terms of any mortgage, and to accept payment of any such obligation, during a period of five years or less from the date of such extension in such amounts as may be agreed upon at the date of making such extension. The sum of $25,000,000 of the amount authorized to be appropriated under Section 5 of this Act, as amended, shall be used exclusively for the purpose of supplying any bank with funds to use in operations in place of any amounts of which such bank may be deprived by reason of extensions made as provided in this paragraph.

President Hoover, in signing the bill, said:

I am glad to sign the third of our reconstruction measures, that providing additional capital to the Federal Land banks. It should (a) reinforce the credit of the Federal Land Bank System and reassure investors in Land Bank bonds; (b) thus enable the banks to obtain capital for farmers at reasonable rates, and (c) above all, bring relief and hope to many borrowers from the banks who have done their honest best, but, because of circumstances beyond their control, have been unable to temporarily make the grade.

THE NATIONAL CREDIT CORPORATION STILL FUNCTIONING.

A call for an initial payment of 10% of the subscriptions of approximately $500,000,000 to be gold notes of the National Credit Corporation was issued on Jan. 2 by Mortimer N. Buckner, President of the Corporation, and who is also Chairman of the New York Trust Co. Payment was called for on Jan. 7. Newspaper reports stated that the cash raised through this call would be used to repay New York banks which had advanced funds to the corporation. The National Credit Corporation, it was stated, had been enabled to borrow locally sufficient funds to cover all loans applied for up to that time, without the necessity of issuing a call for payment by member banks of any part of their subscription to the Corporation's gold notes. A second call of 10% was announced on Jan. 15. This call was payable on Jan. 18. On Jan. 22 a third call for 10% went forth and was payable on Jan. 25, making altogether $150,000,000 called. On Jan. 27 advices from Chicago to the New York "Times" stated that the Credit Corporation had practically discontinued making additional loans, although it still would function in an emergency and would hold itself in readiness until the Reconstruction Corporation was on a working basis.

This statement was credited to George M. Reynolds, Chairman of the $500,000,000 Credit Corporation, who explained that as the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Corporation entered the field, backed by Government funds, its ability to make long-term loans and its freedom from any drain on the banking funds of the country, there would be no need, it was held, of a further call upon the funds of the banking group. But Mortimer M. Buckner, President of the Corporation, issued the following statement on returning from Washington on Jan. 27:

I have been in communication by telephone with George M. Reynolds of Chicago, Chairman of the National Credit Corporation, and he authorizes me to say that any reports that the Credit Corporation would wind up its affairs and turn them over to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were unwarranted.

The fact is that there is no provision in the Act creating the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under which the Credit Corporation might be combined with or absorbed by the Reconstruction Corporation.

Under the Credit Corporation, local loan associations have been duly organized in 41 States. Subscriptions to the debentures have been reported to an amount in excess of $450,000,000. Loans and commitments outstanding amount to upward of $155,000,000. Some 750 separate loans have been made to upward of 575 different banks.

The Credit Corporation is functioning actively and will continue to do so until the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is fully organized and operating throughout the country. Afterward it is the purpose of the Credit Corporation to keep its organization intact and in readiness to render such services as may be needed in fulfillment of the original purpose for which the Credit Corporation was formed. That purpose was to provide additional credit facilities when needed to banks throughout the country on sound assets not eligible for rediscount with Federal Reserve Banks.

It appeared that the National Credit Corporation had been lending freely to the failed Peoples State Bank of Charleston and other institutions in the Richmond Federal Reserve District. John M. Miller Jr., director for the Corporation in the Fifth [Richmond] Federal Reserve District, commenting on the failure of the Peoples State Bank of Charleston, with forty odd branches, to open for business in South Carolina, was quoted as saying the Corporation had been lending freely to the bank and was ready to furnish additional cash, it only being necessary for the National Credit Association No. 6 of South Carolina to approve the collateral and assume its proper liability.

"I was in touch over the telephone last night (Jan. 2) with officials of the National Credit Association of S. Carolina," he said, "and it appeared that the officers of the Peoples State Bank of Charleston were unable to get together promptly the collateral necessary to make additional advances. The Peoples State Bank and its forty odd branches are scattered over the entire State of South Carolina, which made it difficult, if not impossible, to get together promptly the securities necessary for additional large sums, which would be necessary to carry on the business of its forty odd branches." "The Association," Mr. Miller said, "already has lent substantial amounts to banks in various sections of the district, averting threatened embarrassment, and is prepared to render similar assistance to other banks when necessary, on sound collateral." "The Corporation," said Mr. Miller, "is anxious to lend to banks needing assistance, but 'when applying banks delay to the eleventh hour and fifty-ninth minute it is sometimes impossible to render assistance in time to meet the emergency.'"

RAILROADS REACH AN AGREEMENT WITH UNIONIZED LABOR FOR A REDUCTION IN PAY OF 10%, THIS HOWEVER CONTINUING FOR ONLY A SINGLE YEAR AND TO TERMINATE AUTOMATICALLY AT THE END OF THAT YEAR.

As stated at the beginning of this article, the long continued parleys between the railroad executives and the chiefs of the different labor unions for a lowering of the scale of wages came to a successful conclusion on the last day of the month Sunday, Jan. 31, late at night. The deliberations began on Jan. 14 and were continued thereafter with occasional intermissions of a day or two to deal with new snarls that were constantly arising and to take up and consider statements and counter-statements from the two parties. David B. Robertson, the head of the Firemen's Brotherhood, acted as spokesman for the labor executives and he proved himself an adept in sweeping aside the array of figures and statistics which the railroads presented in support of their position at the request of the labor executive themselves. He argued for a six-hour day, tried to exact from the railroad Presidents a promise of larger employment (in face of the fact that there was no traffic to move that would warrant the employment of additional forces of men, the absence indeed of the customary volume of traffic being the cause of the extremity to which the roads had been reduced) and brought forward various other propositions which if adopted would have caused further embarrassment to the roads instead of providing the relief of which the carriers stand in such sore need. This kind of thing went on day after day until it seemed almost hopeless to reach a settlement, but all the time these labor leaders were aware that public sentiment would not support them if they refused to make the concessions required, so in the end they gave way with the best grace possible. In the meantime the railroad Presidents showed rare patience under the leadership of Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio RR. and indulged the whim of these labor chiefs to the utmost, confident that at the end they would bow to the inevitable. As to the demand for a 6-hour day, labor got considerable comfort from the adoption by the United States Senate on Jan. 22 of a resolution calling on the Inter-State Commerce Commission to study the feasibility of the six-hour day in the railroad world. The resolution was offered by Senator Couzens of the Inter-State Commerce Committee of the Senate which earlier had approved it unanimously. The Commissions requested a report by Dec. 31 1932. Mr. Couzens said that reports had come to him from the Chicago conference between the railroad brotherhoods and the road Presidents that if Congress took some interest in the six-hour day an agreement might be reached between the contending parties. Mr. Couzens stated that he had been informed that the principal point of difference at the Chicago conferences was the six-hour day and there was a lack of information as to the effect the shorter work day would have on railroad conditions.

It is estimated that the 10% reduction in wages will involve a saving of $210,000,000 to $215,000,000 a year to the railroads and one of the things that the labor chiefs requested of the railroads was what the latter meant to do with this saving—this notwithstanding that the Presidents had submitted statistics showing that the gross earnings of the roads for the calendar year 1931 were estimated at only $4,259,000,000, against $5,342,957,046 for the calendar year 1930 and $6,360,303,775 for 1929, showing that in the two years the gross revenue of the roads had suffered a reduction in amount of over $2,000,000,000. As to the net results of operation the net railway operating income for 1931 was only $534,000,000, against $1,274,595,403 in 1929. In other words, the 1931 net (out of which fixed charges have to be met) was $740,000,000 less than the amount two years before. And yet the labor chiefs asked the roads to justify a wage reduction that would make good only $210,000,000 of this huge loss in net. Mr. Willard also showed that 72 railways had in 1931 failed to earn their fixed charges and said, that unless the net earnings could be increased, the number in 1932 would inevitably be much larger. Mr. Willard also noted that in 1932 $405,000,000 of railroad mortgage bonds, equipment trust obligations and other loans will fall due and that the obligations must be satisfied to avoid bankruptcy. Originally there were 21 unions or brotherhoods engaged in the negotiations, but the latter part of the month representatives of the International Longshoremen's associations decided to negotiate separately with the roads with which they have contracts and were permitted to withdraw, leaving 20 different labor organizations at the conclusion of the negotiations. At the separate sessions of the different brotherhoods some 850 to 1,200 labor chiefs were in attendance.

As to the nature of the agreement finally entered into, the following is the text of the unions' acceptance:

After a painstaking review of the proposals and arguments which have been ably and forcibly presented in behalf of the railroads, we feel compelled to reiterate our previous opinion that as a matter of pure right and justice the railway employees could not be called upon to agree to a 10% reduction of their meager earnings.

Nor do we wish to give any assent to the theory that wage reductions are to be regarded ordinarily as the appropriate means to promote prosperity. We cannot believe that the public welfare is advanced by reducing the purchasing power of labor.

But, with a profound sense of responsibility to the workers whom we represent and to our country, we have weighed the urgent needs of the railroad industry and the demands of the public welfare in this present unparalleled situation against the individual sacrifices requested of the railroad employees.

In the hope that our action may improve the health of our industry, may improve the co-operative relations of management and employees, may stimulate a revival of business, and may advance the general welfare, we have decided to accept the proposal of the railroads to the employees whom we represent, that:

Ten per cent shall be deducted from each pay check for a period of one year, beginning Feb. 1 1932.

Basic rates shall remain as at present.

This arrangement shall terminate automatically Jan. 31 1933.

Replying in behalf of the railroad presidents, Mr. Willard, said:

We fully appreciate your co-operation, patience, tactfulness and patriotism. We men on this side realize that you have had a difficult problem to contend with.

You might have delayed this agreement for months and forced us to take a long and tedious course which would have left bitterness where now there is friendship and harmony.

Even so, you would have been following the law set down by Congress providing for an unwieldly settlement of our problem. But you recognized and took a great opportunity to join in a constructive movement.

I wish to emphasize our sincere admiration for the remarkable leadership you displayed, and I know I voice the sentiments of my colleagues.

I am going to ask them now to rise in token of their esteem for you and together we say to you we thank you.

The other presidents arose and bowed as the audience of union executives and the union chiefs broke into applause.

"I believe that this is the first time in history that so many men and so much capital has been involved in negotiations of this sort," Mr. Willard added. Mr. Robertson made the following further statement:

In reaching an agreement with the railroads the employees were strongly influenced by—

1. A desire to do all within their power to aid in lifting the nation out of the worst depression of business we had ever experienced.

2. A desire to show the capacity of organized labor to do a big thing in a constructive way to advance the general welfare, even at the expense of personal sacrifices that would deter narrow-minded persons.

3. A desire to encourage our friends, and not to encourage our enemies in the railroad industry and elsewhere.

25% WAGE CUT EFFECTIVE MAY 1 ANNOUNCED BY BUILDING TRADES EMPLOYERS' ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK.

A reduction of 25% in the wages of all classes of workers employed in the building industry has been decided upon by the Building Trades Employers' Association, it was announced by Christian G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the organization, on Jan. 27, at the 36th annual convention in New York City of the New York State Association of Builders. The New York "Herald Tribune" of Jan. 28 further said:

The 30 trade groups affiliated with the association are to meet next Wednesday afternoon at 2 Park Avenue to vote formally on the proposed cuts. Some of the groups which have already considered the reductions privately, it was announced, have approved them.

The reductions, said Mr. Norman, are to become effective May 1, when the current contracts with the employees expire. About 125,000 workers will be affected. Mr. Norman said that regardless of whether the employees resist the cuts, the members of the builders' organization have determined to stand together as a unit to carry out the reductions.

William J. T. Getty, President of the Builders' Associations, reported that seven up-State cities had reached agreements in the building industry providing for wage cuts of 20%, that others were planning to follow suit, and that where no agreements can be reached the operators were preparing to put the reduction into effect with formal adjustments at the expiration of present contracts.

Bricklayers to Get $12.

In accordance with Mr. Norman's announcement, all bricklayers, stone carvers and others of similar classification as outside workers, who have been receiving $15.40 a day, are to receive under the new cuts around $12 a day.

Inside employees, such as asbestos workers, carpenters, plumbers and tile setters, who have been receiving in excess of $14 a day, will be given around $10 a day. Plasterers, who have previously been classed as outside workers and have been getting $15.40 a day, are now to be listed as inside workers and to receive the $10 a day wage.

Plasterers' helpers, who have been getting $10.12 a day; masons' helpers, getting $9.90; concrete workers' helpers, getting $9.35; and all others in the general labor classification, who have been receiving $8.15, are now all to be reduced to a flat $7 a day.

Mr. Norman said the decision to put the cuts into effect was reached at a private meeting of the Board of Governors of the Employers' Association last Wednesday.

"This reduction of approximately 25%," he declared, "would bring the wage scale down to that of 1923. We don't know if we are going to have a strike on May 1, but one thing is certain, the members of the Employers' Association will stand together as a unit to carry the reductions into effect. To-day one can get plenty of bricklayers for $7 or $8 a day right in the heart of the city."

Mr. Norman offered a survey of business and labor conditions throughout the State, asserting that New York City to-day has the highest building trades wage scale in the country. He added that the present contracts running from August 1929 until April 30 of this year, will be allowed to run their course because of the amicable relations which he said have existed in the past between the employers and the unions. The two parties, he added, have always respected their contracts. In addition, he added, there was a very small amount of building going on at the present time.

After the formal voting takes place among the affiliated groups next Wednesday, Mr. Norman said no contracts with labor will be made at wages higher than those announced yesterday. Mr. Norman explained a difficulty in this direction. "You can't negotiate reductions in wages with organized labor," he declared. "No officer of a union could afford to advocate a reduction of wages because he might as well resign. Positions at the head of union groups are being shunned because no one wants to be at the head of a union when this reduction becomes effective."

Many Already Work at Cut.

The announced decreases are understood to have created little surprise in the labor world, since it had been generally known that large numbers of the union workers had accepted work where they could get it at the best wage possible, and that because of the lack of opportunity and keen competition the pay accepted has ranged in cases from 10% to 30% below the union scale.

STATE OF TRADE.

There was no improvement in the state of trade and business during January. If there was any change at all it was a change in sentiment, based perhaps on the hope that with lower wage costs for the railroads, confidently counted upon all through the month, but which was not definitely agreed upon until Sunday night, Jan. 31, and with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation established to provide much new capital in many of the country's different fields of activity, the indications appeared to be bright for a better state of things in the near future. "A perceptible improvement in business sentiment has appeared since the beginning of the year," said the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York in "The Guaranty Survey," its monthly review of business and finance, published Jan. 25. "Thus far there is no definite evidence to show that the better feeling has been based on actual increases in production and trade, except in certain industries where the suspension or curtailment of operations at the year end is always followed by expansion in the ensuing weeks." The "Iron Age" in its issue of Jan. 21 spoke of the "slowness of steel to reflect the usual seasonal influences," which ordinarily make for greater activity in January, said that delays in certain developments were at least in part responsible for this. The automobile industry was to some extent marking time, pending the final disclosure of the new Ford model, the release of some expected railroad buying was undoubtedly held back by the prolonged negotiations over railroad wage reductions and a good deal of public construction work that has been authorized was in abeyance because of financing difficulties. In its issue of Feb. 4, bringing conditions down to Tuesday, Feb. 2, the "Iron Age" discussed the steel situation as follows:

Although steel ingot production is believed to have made a slight gain in January over December, pig iron output failed to increase, having, in fact, decreased 0.8%, but apparently this loss was caused by a decline in merchant iron which offset a minor improvement in the steel-making grades.

Steel ingots and pig iron do not always move in unison, as recently as last November there having been a gain in steel ingots of 8% against 5% reduction in pig iron.

The "Iron Age" estimate of January pig iron output is 972,784 gross tons, or 31,380 tons a day, against 980,376 tons, or 31,625 tons a day, in December. The loss in production occurred despite a net gain of five active furnaces during the month, indicating that some furnaces operated with the blast slowed down. On Feb. 1 there were 61 furnaces in blast, against 56 on Jan. 1.

Rate Now at 28%.

The pig iron figures and this week's reports on steel-making operations are evidence of the absence of the usual seasonal recovery. In January 1931 pig iron production gained 3%, with a 12% rise in steel-making, iron and ingot output advanced 19%. This week the steel ingot rate for the entire country has declined to 28% from 29% last week.

There are sharp distinctions, however, in activity. At least three plants in the country are running at 50% or higher, yet there has been a decline in the Pittsburgh district to 22%, and the mills in the Valleys are also on a lower basis of output. Some steel companies last month sold less stee and shipped less than in December, while others had fairly good gains.

The "Age" made the composite price of finished steel Feb. 2, 2.037c, a pound, against 2.052c. on Jan. 5; the composite price of pig iron $14.65 a gross ton, against $14.79 Jan. 5 and the composite price of steel scrap $8.33 a gross ton against $8.50 on Jan. 12. As noted above the steel mills of the country averaged only 28 at 29c. of capacity at the end of January, showing thus only a slight improvement as compared with the low record in December during the Christmas holidays of 21%. In January of the previous year there was an improvement to 48% of capacity, against 30% in the Christmas holiday immediately preceding.

THE COURSE OF THE NON-FERROUS METALS.

The non-ferrous metals were all dull, with prices hard to maintain in face of an absent demand, and with the price of copper quite weak at the close of the month. On Jan. 29 copper export prices dropped below the domestic equivalent when customs smelters quoted 7⅛c. a pound c.i.f. Hamburg, Havre and London to foreign buyers. This was the first time in the history of Copper Exporters, Inc. that the foreign price fell below the domestic. The regular price for export copper was 7⅝c. per pound and the domestic price 7½c. a pound although a few sales were reported at 7¼c. New New York "Evening Post," in discussing this development, said that "accumulations in the hands of custom smelters prompted them to avail themselves of the clause in the new rules of Copper Exporters which permit the sale of surplus stocks abroad at whatever prices they will bring. As soon as the tonnage of accumulated metal is disposed of the price automatically returns to the 7⅝c. level. This clause was inserted in the rules to give relief to custom smelters who must pay cash for the copper shipped to them for smelting on custom account whether they have an immediate market or not." In the early part of the month approval by directors of Copper Exporters, Inc. of revised marketing rules resulted in strengthing domestic prices for the time being, but this did not last long. In the New York market electrolytic copper was advanced from 7c. to 7⅛c. on Jan. 11 and to 7¼c. on Jan. 12, but the price dropped back to 7⅛c. Jan. 20 which was the price the rest of the month. Lake copper was advanced from 7⅜c. to 7½c. on Jan. 11 and to 7⅝c. Jan. 12. The price of tin moved within a narrow compass, with the quotation on Jan. 4, 21.10c. and Jan. 30, 21.70c. Lead at New York ruled at 3.75c. throughout the month.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS—MARTIAL LAW RESTRICTION IN TEXAS HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Petroleum production was maintained at a pretty nearly even level as a result of the restriction policy pursued in several of the oil producing states, the daily average production for the week ending Dec. 26 having been 2,292,900 barrels; for the week ending Jan.2, 2,209,100 barrels; for the week ending Jan. 9 2,234,200 barrels; for the week ending Jan. 16 2,193,450 barrels; for the week ending Jan. 23 2,161,500 barrels, and for the week ending Jan. 30 2,170,800 barrels, but there seemed to be some concern as to the outcome of an action in the Federal Court to set aside martial law which Governor Ross Sterling has been enforcing in the east Texas oil fields in order to limit the output of oil. There were the usual price changes in different parts of the country, which however were less important than those in some other recent months. In the following we show the leading changes of the month both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products.

Jan. 29.—Humble Oil & Refg. has reduced retail price of gasoline 1c. per gallon and tank wagon prices 2c. per gallon at Houston, Tex. This reduction was caused by local competition and does not effect the State-wide structure.

Jan. 30.—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio advanced tank wagon and service station prices 1 cent a gallon in Hamilton County.

Jan. 30.—The Texas Corp., Magnolia Pete and Shell Oil met the cut made the day before by the Humble Oil & Refining Co. of 1c. per gallon and tank wagon price 2c. per gallon at Houston.

THE TEXTILE MARKETS—THE LAW FOR COTTON RESTRICTIONS IN TEXAS HELD TO BE ILLEGAL.

The textile markets were quiet and on the whole disappointed, owing to the absence of the demand looked for by many with the change of the year. The bargain sales arranged to get rid of accumulated stocks and which in recent years have become a feature during January, proved less satisfactory than usual in the great majority of cases. The weather, which was unusually warm for the season, retarded the sales of seasonal goods. Plans developed for further curtailment of certain lines of goods. A favorable feature of the month was the upward trend in the price of cotton. Spot cotton at New York as against 6.25c. Jan. 4 sold up to 6.85c. Jan. 18 and closed Jan. 30 at 6.80c. Print cloth at Fall River for 28 in. 64 x 60 were marked up from 2⅝ to 2¾c. Jan. 1, to 2⅞c. Jan. 28 and 3c. Jan. 30. The Census in its report issued at Jan. 14 showed that the amount of cotton consumed in the United States during December 1931 had been 415,517 bales of lint and 44,491 bales of linters, compared with 405,518 bales of lint and 43,522 bales of linters in December 1930. What helped the price of cotton was the fact that owing to the low market prices planters were holding back their cotton instead of letting it go to market. This is evident from the fact that total receipts from the plantations from Aug. 1 to Jan. 29 1931 were 8,637,353 bales and that this compares with 8,323,158 bales in the same period of 1930-31, and 8,256,695 bales in the corresponding period in 1929-30, showing only a very moderate increase while the crop is estimated as being nearly 3,000,000 bales larger than that of 1930 and the ginning report, issued on Jan. 23 showed that 15,992,294 bales of cotton had been ginned up to Jan. 16 1932 as against 13,594,388 bales in the same period of the previous year and 14,176,936 bales ginned to the same date two years ago. The statistical report made public Jan. 11 by the association of Cotton Textile Merchants in New York showed that production of goods during December had amounted to 254,692,000 yards, which was 12% less than the rate of production during the month of November. Shipments during December were 237,834,000 yards, equivalent to 93.4% of production. Sales amounted to only $204,916,000 yards, equivalent to no more than 80.4% of production. The further statement was made that "while shipments and sales seldom equal production during December because of the reluctance of purchasers to increase their year-end inventory, both of these items were substantially greater than during December 1930—shipments being 5% more and sales 12% more." Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 290,248,000 yards, representing an increase of 6.2% during the month. Unfilled orders on Dec. 31 1931 were 322,039,000 yards, representing a decrease of 9.3% during the month. Both shipments and sales for the calendar year 1931, it is stated, were substantially in excess of production. Sales for 1931 amounted to 2,891,229,000 yards compared with 2,774,712,000 yards for 1930. It is also stated that during 1931 stocks were reduced 73,714,000 yards, equivalent to 20.3%; and unfilled orders increased 33,083,000 yards, equivalent to 11.5%. It is evident from these figures that if the cotton goods market did not come up to expectations, at least it was not altogether devoid of favorable features.

Uncertainty developed as to the effectiveness of the laws passed in many of the Southern States for the restriction of cotton acreage during the coming season. An Associated Press dispatch from Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20 said that the Mississippi's cotton acreage reduction law which was enacted at a special legislative session last Autumn automatically expired on that day. The provisions of the law called for automatic repeal if a majority of cotton growing States failed to pass similar legislation. Only Texas, Arkansas and South Carolina besides Mississippi passed similar laws. It later developed that just before departing for Washington to be seated in the Senate, Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana repealed by proclamation the cotton holiday law passed at his request the previous Aug. 23 at a special legislative session. In Texas a suit was pending attacking the validity of the law in that State designed to restrict cotton production. Immediately after the close of the month a decision was rendered in that suit declaring the law invalid. The law was held unconstitutional, null and void in a ruling by District Judge W. C. Davis. He denied an injunction sought by County Attorney T. L. Tyson to restrain Fred L. Smith a farmer from using more of his land for cotton than the restrictive measure would permit. The law undertook to restrict cotton planting to 30% of 1931. Judge Davis declared its enforcement would be "the essence of tyranny and destructive of the fundamental principles of free Government, would violate sacred guarantees of our Constitution and would make the bill of rights a nullity and a farce." It had been previously indicated, however, that the bankers would enforce a restriction policy even if the courts failed to uphold the law.

COURSE OF THE SILK AND RUBBER MARKETS.

Raw silk prices failed to show any recovery and the crisis in affairs which developed the latter part of the month, when Japan extended its military operations into the Shanghai area, necessarily introduced a new element of disturbance, both sellers and buyers being completely at sea as to the course of prices for the immediate future. On Jan. 30 Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $1.87½@$1.90, against $1.85@$1.90 Dec. 31; $2.20@$2.25 on Nov. 30 and also on Oct. 31, and comparing with $2.25@$2.30 Sept. 30; $2.50@$2.55 on Aug. 31; $2.30@$2.40 on July 31; $2.35@$2.40 on June 30; $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29; $2.35@$2.40 April 30; $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28 and $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31 1931, and $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $1.95@$2.00 Jan. 31, against $1.85 Dec. 31; $2.30@$2.32½ Nov. 30; $2.10@$2.15 Oct. 31; $2.25@$2.35 Sept. 30; $2.45@$2.55 Aug. 31; $2.25@$2.30 July 31; $2.40@$2.50 June 30; $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29; $2.25@$2.30 April 30; $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31 1931 and $4.60@$4.65 on Jan 31 1930.

Crude rubber while showing considerable irregularity touched new low levels during January on statistics placing the world supply of rubber at the close of 1931 at the record figure of 625,000 tons said to be approximately equivalent to a year's supply. There was some recovery later, on the visit of a number of representatives of the Dutch growing industry to Government offices at The Hague to discuss the policy of restriction. On Jan. 19 the price touched a new low level of 4¼c. In the New York market ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted Jan. 30 at 4 5-16@4 7-16, against 4 13-16c. bid and 4 15-16c. asked a pound Dec. 31; 4 5-16@4⅜c. on Nov. 30; 4 9-16@4⅝c. Oct. 31; 4½@4⅝c. Sept. 30; 5@5⅛c. Aug. 31; 5⅛@5¾c. July 31; 6 13-16@6 15-16c. June 30; 6½c. bid May 29; 5⅞@6c. April 30; 6⅞@7c. March 31; 7⅝@7¾c. Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. Feb. 28 1930.

COURSE OF GRAIN, COFFEE AND SUGAR PRICES—SENATE ADOPTS CAPPER RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR DISTRIBUTION OF GOVERNMENT-OWNED WHEAT FOR RELIEF PURPOSES.

Grain again moved within narrow limits, with prices generally a trifle lower at the end of the month than at the beginning, though in the case of wheat most of the options were slightly higher. At Chicago the March option for wheat opened on Jan. 4 at 54¾c. and closed Jan. 30 at 56c. In the meantime the price was 53⅝c. Jan. 4 and as high as 59⅝c. Jan. 18. The May option for wheat in Chicago showed an opening price of 56¾c. Jan. 4 and a closing price Jan. 30 of 58c. At Winnipeg, on the other hand, the May option for wheat showed an opening price Jan. 4 of 63½c. and a closing price Jan. 30 of 62¼c. March corn at Chicago opened at 39¾c. Jan. 4 and closed Jan. 30 at 38c. and the May option an opening price Jan. 4 of 41½c. with a closing price Jan. 30 of 40⅜c. May oats in Chicago had an opening price Jan. 4 of 26⅛c. and a closing price Jan. 30 of 25⅝c.

The U. S. Senate without a record vote adopted on Jan. 4 the Capper resolution which authorized "a distribution of Government-owned wheat to the American National Red Cross and other organizations for the relief of people in distress." The resolution proposes the distribution of 40,000,000 bushels of wheat of the Grain Stabilization Corporation "or as much thereof as in the judgment of the President may be needed . . . in providing food for the needy and distressed people of the United States."

Coffee prices did not change greatly during January, though continuing to move slightly higher. Notwithstanding that Brazil continued its policy of coffee destruction, the world's visible supply of coffee on Jan. 1 1932 was 34,695,599 bags, or the highest figure in history, according to statistics released by the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange on Jan. 15. No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 7⅛c.

Jan. 30, against 7@7¼c. Dec. 31; 6½@6⅝c. Nov. 30; 5¾@6c. Oct. 31; 5½c. Sept. 30; 5½@5¾c. Aug. 31; 5⅞@6c. July 31; 6⅞@7c. June 30; 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c. April 30; 5½c. March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 8⅝c. Jan. 30, against 8@8¼c. Dec. 31; 7¼@7½c. Nov. 30; 7¼c bid Oct. 31; 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30; 6⅝@6⅞c. Aug. 31; 7½@7⅝c. July 31; 8½@9c. June 30; 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figures for April 30; 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼. Oct. 31 1930.

Sugar developed further weakness and Cuban raw sold down to 1.08c. on Jan. 22 against 1.20c. at the close of December. The wholesale price of refined sugar was marked down on Jan. 13 by the leading refineries in this city from 4.20c., the price which had prevailed since Dec. 10, to 4.15c. With his return from Europe on Jan. 13 Thomas L. Chadbourne, the author of the Chadbourne plan for stabilization of the world's sugar industry, issued a statement with regard to the conference in Paris of the International Sugar Council, and indicated that on Jan. 5 the conference adjourned for some weeks to assemble additional data. The results of the workings of the international agreement in the first year of its operation were brought out at the Paris conference, according to Mr. Chadbourne, who expressed the belief that further limitation on both export and production would be made. "The countries whose production and export still constitute a problem are," said Mr. Chadbourne, "Cuba and Java." Earl D. Babst, Chairman of the American Sugar Refinery Co., declared on Jan. 18 on arriving in Cuba that the most serious menace to the island now was the importation into the United States of refined sugar from Germany and England. He also pointed out that shipments of refined sugar from Cuba to the United States increased demoralization of raw sugar prices in the United States market.

LOW PRICES FOR HOGS AND STEERS.

Reports from Chicago indicated that average prices of hogs for the last week of January and for the month of January were the lowest in 34 years, as receipts continued heavy and demand remained poor. The average for the week ending Jan. 30 at $3.88 a hundred weight was 5c. below the $3.93 of the preceding week and compared with $7.47 in the same week of 1931. January average was $4, the lowest for the month since 1898, and compared with $7.65 in the previous year. Average price at Chicago of all grades of beef steers sold during the week ended Jan. 30 out of first hand for slaughter was $6.45 per hundredweight, against $6.38 a week earlier, $9.17 in the corresponding week of 1931 and $11.29 the three-year average for the corresponding week.

THE FOREIGN DEVELOPMENTS—THE SHANGHAI CRISIS.

The Far East held the interest of the business and political worlds to an extraordinary degree during January, not only because of the Sino-Japanese clash which developed toward the end of the month, but also on account of the civil disobedience campaign in India, which was resumed in the opening days of the year. Difficulties between China and Japan as they have now developed in the Yangtze Valley followed fast upon the realization of all Japanese aims in the Manchurian military adventure, and they are in great part due to the Manchurian affair. The occupation of Manchuria was completed by the Japanese forces on Jan. 7, or somewhat less than four months after the "incident" north of Mukden on Sept. 18 last, which was the signal for the advance. Throughout the later months of last year Chinese resentment was keen at the unopposed advance of the Japanese troops, and a fall of the Nanking Government followed, which brought the Cantonese faction of the Kuomintang into power. The resentment found expression also in other ways, particularly in the proverbial Chinese fashion of a huge organized boycott against Japanese goods. Japanese susceptibilities were seriously offended, moreover, when, on the occasion of the attempted assassination of Emperor Hirohito, Chinese journals expressed regret over the assassin's lack of success. Matters came to a head, finally, when five Japanese monks were assaulted in Shanghai and seriously injured, Jan. 21, one of the monks dying as a result. Reprisals followed on the part of a Japanese patriotic association in the Shanghai international settlement, and a tense situation speedily developed.

The events that followed at Shanghai in the final days of the month are confused and uncertain, with the accounts conflicting sharply, as they always do in such circumstances. It is certain that Rear Admiral Koichi Shiozawa, Commander of the Japanese fleet regularly stationed off Shanghai in the Whanpoo River, received authority from his Government to put an end to the anti-Japanese demonstrations and the boycott. The means used by the Japanese naval officer proved highly unfortunate from every viewpoint. Indeed, it seems hardly an exaggeration to state that the entire Shanghai incident, as it developed, was due to the mistaken judgment of Admiral Shiozawa. He demanded, correctly enough, that anti-Japanese organizations cease functioning, and presented, late Jan. 22, an ultimatum threatening action if this were not done. Numerous additional Japanese warships arrived at Shanghai at the same time, giving considerable point to the demand. Chinese uncertainty as to procedure was reflected in the resignations, Jan. 25, of Premier Sun Fo, and Foreign Minister Eugene Chen.

The Japanese demands were repeated and discussed at a series of conferences between Japanese Consul-General Murai and General Wu Te-Chen, Mayor of the Chinese areas of Shanghai. Mr. Murai declared, Jan. 25, that he would wait a "reasonable time" for a satisfactory answer to the Japanese demands, threatening "necessary and appropriate measures of self-protection" if such a reply was not forthcoming. Late Jan. 27 Mr. Murai presented a "final" ultimatum to General Wu, demanding action on the part of the Chinese authorities before 6 p. m. the following day. General Wu responded with an order for the suppression of anti-Japanese associations. An acceptable direct reply also was made, Mr. Murai and the Tokio Government both having indicated that this was the case, although the text has not been divulged.

Additional Japanese ships arrived in the meantime, and more troops were landed, and it was estimated that 4,000 Japanese marines and sailors were on duty in the area of the International Settlement regularly patrolled by them on Jan. 25. Crack Chinese troops had been sent down from Nanking, however, reports indicating that 25,000 were assembled in the native city of Shanghai. Notwithstanding the reply of the Chinese to the ultimatum, Admiral Shiozawa issued a statement Thursday evening which indicated that drastic action would be taken by the Japanese. In addition to their normal patrol within the International Settlement, he said, Japanese landing parties would be distributed throughout Chapei, the Chinese portion of the city immediately north of the international area. It is "absolutely imperative" for all Chinese troops to evacuate Shanghai immediately, he added.

Shortly before midnight, Jan. 26, Japanese warships shelled the Chinese forts at Woosung, defending Shanghai. Eight minutes after midnight, Japanese troops made a concerted move from the streets of the International Settlement into Chapei, where heavy fighting immediately started. Although the Japanese headquarters issued a statement two hours later saying that most of Chapei was in Japanese hands, this proved erroneous. The important North Station, not far from the Settlement boundary, was stubbornly held by the Chinese forces, and the Japanese were repulsed. Airplanes from the ships in the harbor were brought into action early Jan. 27, and bombs were dropped at regular intervals on the Chinese city, and particularly on the North Station and the contiguous area. Fires were started by the bombs in various parts of Chapei, and these spread steadily and merged until the whole area was in flames, causing the deaths of numberless Chinese civilians. A truce for the cessation of hostilities was arranged Jan. 29, but it was not observed at first, and the fighting continued through Jan. 30. The Chinese authorities warned the foreign officials of the International Settlement that they would be forced to occupy the Settlement area unless influence were used to put an end to the occupation of Chinese territory by the Japanese.

Japanese troops, forced back to the International Settlement area, set up their machine guns in some of the most important streets of the Settlement, and cleared the streets of milling Chinese people by firing down the walks. Japanese civilians were given arms to reinforce the weary marines and sailors, and these exceeded their authority seriously, reports said, also exceeding the boundaries allotted to Japan for protection. Several instances were reported Jan. 31 where such civilians marched into the section patrolled by American forces, who promptly arrested the over-zealous Japanese. Fears were general for a time of a Chinese military attack on the portion of the Settlement area held by the Japanese, and some color was given this surmise by an artillery bombardment of the area. Fortunately, however, there was no general movement by the Chinese troops, and matters began to quiet down on Feb. 1. On the latter date, however, a new complication arose in a bombardment of Nanking, the Chinese capital, by Japanese vessels, which gave no warning of their intentions. China had moved its capital to Loyang, in the interior, in anticipation of this action. Although it was rumored for a time that China would declare war on Japan, Government officials asserted Jan. 31 that this would not be done.

These incidents occasioned much anxiety in foreign capitals, with the result that rather strong joint representations were finally made by the United States and Great Britain, at Tokio. First endeavors were directed to securing the neutrality and the protection of the International Settlement at Shanghai, and assurances were readily given on this point by Japan. Great Britain appeared unwilling to take a more decided attitude at first, owing to the stern attitude adopted by that country in 1927, as a matter of self-protection against Chinese boycotts and violations of treaty obligations. As the Shanghai situation became more serious, however, both Britain and the United States announced the dispatch of important naval and military units to Shanghai from the nearest available points. It was indicated Feb. 1, moreover, that a vigorous verbal protest was lodged at Tokio by the American and British Ambassadors against the Japanese action in China, and it was understood that Italy associated herself in this step. Foreign Office officials in Tokio stated, thereafter, that there was no reason for a change in Japanese policy.

These events far overshadowed the developments in India, earlier in the month, which followed soon after the return of Mahatma Gandhi from the Round Table Conference on India in London. While Mr. Gandhi was en route a series of repressive ordinances was passed by the Government at New Delhi, making applicable in Bengal and other areas measures that had been applied previously only in the North-west Frontier Province. On his arrival at Bombay, Dec. 21, Mr. Gandhi promptly urged the Viceroy, Lord Willingdon, to repeal the measures. An exchange of messages followed, which Lord Willingdon brought to a close by the statement that "no Government consistent with the discharge of their obligations can be subject to the conditions sought to be imposed under the menace of unlawful action by any political organization, nor can the Government of India accept the position implied in your telegram that their policy should be dependent on the judgment of yourself as to the necessity of measures which the Government have taken after most careful and thorough consideration of the facts and after all other possible remedies had been exhausted." After receipt of this message the Mahatma urged the National Congress to resume the disobedience movement, which was promptly done. Mr. Gandhi was arrested, together with other leaders of the movement, and sporadic disorders continued throughout the month.

Also significant was a continuing discussion, throughout the past month, of the problems of German reparations and of intergovernmental debts. Informal exchanges between the British and French Governments for a conference to consider the B. I. S. Advisory Committee report on reparations were started even before the report was issued, last December, and they continued intermittently through all of January, with the picture changing frequently. A British proposal for a conference of interested governments, to meet at Lausanne Jan. 18, made much headway early in the month, and formal steps were taken to bring the meeting into action. A new note was introduced in the international discussion, however, when Chancellor Bruening declared in a formal statement on Jan. 9 that Germany is unable to make any further reparations payments. He made the statement while defining the policy to be pursued by the German delegation at the Lausanne meeting.

After referring to the measures taken by the German Government for aiding German economy and balancing the budget, Dr. Bruening added that the experts' report itself indicated the stringency of these measures. "But at the same time," the Chancellor added, "the report attests that action taken by Germany alone is inadequate, that Germany's situation—in itself the cause in high degree of the progressive financial paralysis of the world—demands common action and instant action on the part of the other governments. As to what that ought to be the Basle report, though abstaining from formulating proposals, yet quite clearly gives the directive. It shows not only Germany's inability to pay, but, beyond that, the intimate causal interconnection between German reparations and the present world situation. The report specifically emphasizes that the presuppositions from which the framers of the Young Plan started had changed fundamentally—and that really tells the whole story. It is clear as day that Germany's position makes it impossible for her to continue political payments. It is equally plain that every attempt to maintain intact a system of such political payments must lead to disaster, not only for Germany, but for the whole world. In the existing state of affairs the German Government has no alternative. At the impending conference it can only picture the actual state of things and request the other interested governments to take it into account and not seek for compromise solutions for which a real possibility no longer exists. I am convinced that insight into the necessity of conclusions along this line is not lacking in any quarter. What is wanted is courage for materializing that insight, and, as the experts' report says, preventing the distortion of the treatment of economic problems by political preconceptions."

Official London viewed the German declaration with great calmness, considering it merely a statement of the German case which was to be presented at Lausanne and for which Chancellor Bruening was to endeavor to obtain the support of the other Powers. Prime Minister MacDonald studied the pronouncement carefully, and after consultation with Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, issued a statement Jan. 10 to the effect that the declaration was not unexpected. "The policy and point of view of his Majesty's Government could be announced only at the proper time and place," Mr. MacDonald observed. "In the meantime it might be said that in view of the economic conditions disclosed by the report of the experts and of the internal political problems of Germany, it was not unlikely that some such declaration as that of Dr. Bruening would be made at the Lausanne conference. The fact that it has already been made has rendered the conference more necessary than ever, for it is impossible to leave things as they are. The present situation was the result of an internotional agreement, and an international conference is therefore necessary to deal with it." Prime Minister MacDonald felt sure "it would be found that all the governments concerned realized that European recovery and appeasement depended upon facing hard facts." The view held by the British Treasury, a London dispatch to the New York "Times" stated, is that in all likelihood Chancellor Bruening deliberately underestimated Germany's capacity to pay. The Basle experts' report, it was suggested, does not admit that Germany is hopelessly insolvent. It was significantly remarked that the report establishes the financial solidity of the German railways.

In France a profound impression was created by the German declaration, the first reaction being sharply unfavorable. The declaration provoked a retort by Finance Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin, Jan. 9, that if Germany makes a declaration of default on the eve of the Lausanne conference, it hardly is worth while holding the meeting. M. Flandin, who made his statement without consulting Premier Pierre Laval, declared that if the news were correct it would be impossible for France to accept what would amount to destruction of her "sacred right" to reparations. "It often has been said that the present crisis is a credit crisis," the French Finance Minister remarked. "It would only be rendered more insurmountable if complicated by new doubts thrown on contracts, creating still greater distrust among hoarders of capital." The French press, Jan. 10, was much more disposed than ever before to consider the possibility of an actual suspension of reparations, notwithstanding the comments of M. Flandin. Chancellor Bruening's action and his method of taking it were severely criticized, but it was added in numerous instances, dispatches said, that if Lausanne was to mean the end of reparations, it must mean the end of debt payments as well. In one Paris newspaper this idea was conveyed pointedly by the headline: "Not One Pfennig? Not One Cent!"

Reparations developments followed thick and fast thereafter, with the fact gradually emerging that postponement of the Lausanne conference would result from the various statements and exchanges. A temporary postponement to Jan. 25 was first announced, but as the scheduled date approached the meeting was put off indefinitely, largely as a result of the various national elections now in prospect in important countries. Paris reports of Jan. 16 began to suggest the advisability of a delay in the Lausanne meeting, and a series of conferences followed the next day between Premier Laval and the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, the United States and Germany. The exchanges finally resulted, Jan. 20, in a formal announcement by the Foreign Office in London that the conversations would not begin Jan. 25. "The conversations which have been taking place between the governments chiefly concerned with the conference at Lausanne are not yet concluded," the statement said, "and it is evident the conference cannot begin as early as next Monday, the date which had been previously fixed. Further conversations are now in progress, and the British Government entertains the hope that it may be possible to come to a satisfactory agreement regarding the procedure to be adopted in the course of a few days."

The German position was made plain in an official notification by Chancellor Bruening to Sir Horace Rumbold, the British Ambassador to Berlin, that Franco-British suggestions for a temporary adjustment would prove unacceptable. The British representative called at the Wilhelmstrasse, it was indicated, to learn whether Germany would consent to a 12-month prolongation of the present moratorium, pending final action. The proposal was definitely rejected by the Chancellor, a Berlin dispatch to the New York "Times" said, and the stand taken that definitive solution of the problem must be undertaken before July 1. "The proposal that the formal conference be deferred to some date next autumn, before the Allied war debt payments to the United States are due, also was rejected," the dispatch added. "To-day's announcement was supplemented by a positive declaration that the German Government would stoutly oppose any sort of provisional adjustment which sought to evade a final showdown. The Government, it was said, had reached the conclusion, supported by the Basle experts, that the resumption of payments under the Young Plan, including the non-postponable annuities, was no longer within the capacity of German economy."

THE JANUARY FINANCING OF THE U S. TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury was obliged to do some extensive financing during the opening month of the new year, notwithstanding the magnitude of the quarterly financing done the previous month, when he made allotments aggregating $1,323,483,700 on subscriptions to an offering of Treasury notes and Treasury certificates of indebtedness—the allotments comprising $324,578,500 of six months' certificates bearing 2¾% interest; $398,355,000 of nine months' certificates bearing 3% interest, and $600,550,200 of one-year 3¼% Treasury notes, the greater part of which, however, was intended to take up maturing obligations of the United States Government, as explained in our summary of Treasury financing for the month of December. In January the Treasury brought out two issues of Treasury bills sold on a discount basis, each for $50,000,000, and supplemented this the latter part of the month by offering an aggregate of $350,000,000 of Treasury certificates of indebtedness. The announcement of the first issue of Treasury bills to be sold on a discount basis came on Jan. 6. On that day the Secretary of the Treasury invited tenders for 91-day bills to the amount of $50,000,000, "or thereabouts." Bids were received up to 2 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard time on Monday, Jan. 11. The bills were dated Jan. 13, and to mature on April 13. The tenders for this issue aggregated $169,337,000, and the amount accepted was $50,175,000. The average price obtained was 99.272, the average rate on a bank discount basis being about 2⅞%. This was somewhat better than the price obtained at the last previous sale on the $101,332,000 of 91-day bills bearing date Dec. 30, and maturing March 30, where the average price obtained was 99.178, or an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 3¼%. It compared, however, with an average rate of only 0.46% obtained the previous July, when $51,806,000 of bills were disposed of.

Announcement of still another offering of Treasury bills came on Jan. 17, and at this sale the Treasury was able still further slightly to improve the price obtained. The offering this time was of 93-day bills for amount of $50,000,000, "or thereabouts," bearing date Jan. 25 1932 and maturing on April 27 1932. Tenders were received at 2 o'clock p. m. on Jan. 21, and the subscriptions aggregated $191,581,000, of which $50,937,000 were accepted. The average price of the accepted bids was 99.358, or an average of 2.48%, which compared with about 2⅞% the average price, as already stated, at the earlier sale. On Sunday night, Jan. 24, announcement came of an offering at par and accrued interest of two new issues of Treasury certificates of indebtedness to an aggregate of $350,000,000. The announcement said that the certificates would be in two series, both dated and bearing interest from Feb. 1 1932, series A-1932, running for six months and being payable on Aug. 1 1932 with interest at the rate of 3⅛% per annum, and series A-1933, running for a year and payable on Feb. 1 1933, with interest at the rate of 3¾% per annum. The amount of each series to be issued, it was stated, would be in the proportion that the total subscriptions for that series should bear to the total subscriptions for both series. The rates of interest fixed in the certificates was in accord with the prevailing trend to higher levels in the cost of Government borrowing, and though the two offerings of Treasury bills during the month, as just shown, showed slightly better rates to the Government than those at the December sale, this December sale, as noted further above, comprised an offering of six months certificates bearing 2¾% interest and also an offering of Treasury notes running for a year and bearing 3¼% interest.

The subscription books for the new offering of certificates were closed at the close of business on Jan. 27, and on Jan. 28 Secretary Mellon reported that subscriptions for the two series combined for $350,000,000 had amounted to $646,086,500, of which $395,938,500 was for the six months issue and $250,148,000 for the 12 months certificates, the short-term issue being in ready demand notwithstanding the lower rate of interest, just as was the case at the December offering. It was stated that the 3⅛%, or six months certificates, would be issued in the amount of $228,000,000, and the 3¾%, or one-year certificates, in the amount of $145,000,000, or a combined allotment of $373,000,000. As to the purpose of the new issue, Mr. Mellon, in announcing the new offering, took pains to say: "These certificates are being issued in order to make funds available to meet initial needs under the present emergency program, and will provide for the payment of $50,000,000 of maturing Treasury bills." Mr. Mellon was evidently looking ahead as regards the Treasury's emergency needs, since notwithstanding repeated calls made by the Treasury upon the $698,544,000 of Government deposits growing out of the December financing (of which $358,547,100 was in the New York Federal Reserve District), $256,150,200 still remained ($131,862,600 being in the New York Federal Reserve District) after the last call for the month, on Jan. 28, for $18,296,400 withdrawal on Feb. 1, and a like amount for withdrawal on Feb. 2.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING JANUARY.

To those who had been looking for a strong recovery in security values after two years of almost continuous shrinkage, the month of January proved a distinct disappointment. A quite substantial upward swing did occur after an early break, but the recovery was not maintained and was followed by a new decline the latter part of the month. Speaking in a general way, the first half of the month (except the first three days) proved a good period, but the last half of the month prices receded and part of the improvement was again lost. The course of prices at all times was uncertain, but in this the stock market resembled the state of trade. The absence of improvement in the stock market simply reflected the lack of improvement in trade, and in the last analysis the stock market was disappointing because trade and business were disappointing. The moderate change for the better in the market the first half of the month reflected the confidence so strongly entertained that business was about to embark upon a state of greater activity, and the subsequent downward turn indicated disappointment that these expectations were not being realized. The railroad stocks showed a disposition to cut loose from the general market in its downward turn, and much was hoped for as a result of the efforts to get the wage earners to consent to a reduction in wage schedules, but the negotiations to that end proved aggravatingly slow, and, as already related elsewhere, a definite agreement for a 10% reduction in wages was not signed until late at night on the last day of the month, which happened to be Sunday. The industrial stocks were under pressure owing to the continued prostration of trade, the poor income statements that kept coming to hand for the last quarter of 1931, as well as for the full calendar year, and also owing to the further suspension or reduction in dividend payments which came with such unerring repetition. As one illustration, the reports of the big steel companies proved worse than anyone would have supposed possible even in a nightmare. This is particularly true regarding that giant in the steel trade, the United States Steel Corp., to whose income return reference more at length is made further below.

The stock market opened the new year on Saturday, Jan. 2, in a gloomy and dismal sort of way, and further heavy declines occurred on Monday, Jan. 4, thereby creating a feeling that the situation during 1932 was to be no better than the sad experience in nearly the whole of the period back to the autumn of 1929, but the market quickly retrieved itself and thereafter for 10 days or more it enjoyed quite substantial advances, completely changing the aspect of things and inspiring hope that the long-continued depression might now soon become a thing of the past. There were times during this period when the market had a decidedly buoyant appearance. The subsequent course of the market, however, suggests that the rise in the market during this time was, in part at least, due to extensive covering of outstanding short commitments which nevertheless might be interpreted as signifying that the bear contingent was seeing visions of brighter things ahead. The recovery in the bond market at this time also proved a feature of great encouragement. Bonds now gave evidence of sustained buying which was especially important since a general belief has all along existed that no permanent rise in the stock market could be counted upon until the bond market itself gave the cue in moving steadily and persistently toward higher levels. Encouragement from that source was very essential, since in the break in the stock market on Saturday, Jan. 2, and Monday, Jan. 4, the bond market also suffered unexpected collapse, with bond prices tumbling in a most striking fashion and in a way that proved extremely dispiriting. On Tuesday, Jan. 5, however, bond prices sharply recovered, and for the rest of the month they moved steadily upward, and in a way calculated to re-establish confidence in security values generally. Stocks, after the severe break on Saturday, Jan. 2, and Monday, Jan. 4, touched further low levels the early part of Tuesday, Jan. 5, but after that displayed a rallying tendency which left most stocks at the end of that day not much lower than at the close on Jan. 4. For about 10 days thereafter, as already stated, the course of the market was strongly upward. The upward reaction during this period was based mainly on the idea that at the conference which was to begin on Thursday, Jan. 14, and which did begin on that day, between the labor chiefs and the railroad presidents a voluntary agreement would be reached for a 10% reduction in the wages of the different classes of railway labor. However, the negotiations proved very slow and difficult, and the resulting delay acted as a sort of damper upon the market, and finally eventuated in a feeling of renewed depression. The lowering of the buying rate for bankers' acceptances by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which occurred on Tuesday, Jan. 12, also acted as a sort of stimulant while the market was on its upward course. The action was construed as meaning that the Federal Reserve banks were going to embark upon a new endeavor of creating credit ease and promoting inflationary monetary tendencies. United States Government obligations, as a consequence, enjoye a sharp rise in prices. The Treasury's 3s of 1951-55, for instance, sold up from 82 3/32, Tuesday, Jan. 12, to 86 14/32 on Wednesday, Jan. 13; they closed Jan. 30 at 86 2/32.

The latter part of the month a general recession in prices occurred, but with the volume of trading light. The report of the United States Steel Corp. for the December quarter and the calendar year 1931 was scheduled to appear after the close of business on Tuesday, Jan. 26, and had been looked forward to with great interest and no little anxiety. It made a worse exhibit than anyone had been prepared to see. There had been much discussion as to what action would be taken on the dividend on the common shares of the company. The doubt was dispelled in the reduction of the dividend for the quarter to only ½ of 1%. But, in addition, a statement was given out by the Board of Directors saying that during the year 1931 nothing whatever had been earned on the common shares, the total distribution in 1931 (approximately $43,500,000) in dividends on such shares having been taken from surplus. The further statement was made that it must be manifest that continuance of dividends must depend upon an improvement in the Corporation's volume of business and earnings. Owing to this action and announcement, U. S. Steel common opened Wednesday, Jan. 27, at 1¾ points off from the close on Tuesday, and touched 37¾ later in the day. On Friday, Jan. 29, it sold still lower, to 36⅜, and it closed on Saturday, Jan. 30, at 37⅜, but it did not get back to the low for the month, which was 35½, Jan. 4, from which there had been an advance to 46⅞, Jan. 21, before the break the latter part of the month. This last shows how substantial the advance was in the early part of the month. The Bethlehem Steel statement made its appearance after the close of business on Thursday, Jan. 28, and was equally unfavorable, no more than $115,745 having been earned to pay the $6,895,000 dividends on the preferred stock. The directors declared the regular quarterly dividend on the preferred shares, but decided to omit the dividend on the common stock. The course of individual stocks varied quite considerably. Some of them reached their low figure for the month in the break during the first few days, and others in the renewed decline which came the latter part of the month. American Tel. & Tel. sold down from 116⅝ Jan. 2 to 107¾ Jan. 5, recovered to 124⅞ Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 111⅞; J. I. Case dropped from 41¼ Jan. 2 to 31¾ Jan. 4, sold up to 43⅜ Jan. 18, and closed Jan. 30 at 34⅞; General Electric was at its high for the month at 26⅛ Jan. 14, and then dropped to 19¼ Jan. 30, which compares with an opening price of 25 Jan. 2; North American sold down from 33 Jan. 2 to 29 Jan. 5, then advanced to 36⅝ Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 31¾; Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 68½ Jan. 2 to 62¼ Jan. 5, then moved up to 74⅝ Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 66⅞; American Water Works & Electric dropped from 28¼ Jan. 2 to 25½ Jan. 4, advanced to 32½ Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 26⅞. As for the railroad stocks, Atchison declined from 83¼ Jan. 2 to 75½ Jan. 5, advanced to 94 Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 82; New York Central declined from 29¼ Jan. 2 to 25 Jan. 5, rose to 36⅝ Jan. 15, and closed Jan. 30 at 28⅞; Pennsylvania RR. (par $50) declined from 18¼ Jan. 2 to 17⅛ Jan. 4, advanced to 23⅜ Jan. 21, and closed Jan. 30 at 21; Union Pacific dropped from 74½ Jan. 2 to 65 Jan. 5, rose to 86⅞ Jan. 14, and closed Jan. 30 at 75; New York New Haven & Hartford declined from 20⅞ Jan. 2 to 17⅝ Jan. 5, rose to 31⅝ Jan. 21, and closed Jan. 30 at 26¾.

Trading was light, as already stated, the number of shares sold during the month aggregating only 34,362,383 shares, which compares with 42,423,343 shares in January 1931, 62,308,290 shares in January 1930, and 110,805,940 shares in January 1929. On the New York Curb the sales were 5,111,437 shares against 9,348,900 shares in January 1931, 16,108,800 shares in January 1930, and 43,546,800 shares in January 1929.

As remarked above, one of the gratifying features of the month was the sustained rise in the bond market. To show the extent of this advance in the case of a number of selected issues we introduce here the following table:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING JANUARY 1932.

The New York money market during January was without feature except for the action of the New York Federal Reserve Bank in reducing its buying rate for acceptances. This naturally led to a general reduction in rates for acceptances, but was wholly without influence in other branches of the money market, at least as far as rates are concerned, though it is to be observed that there was no repetition of the tension in the money market which was so strongly in evidence during December and which found such strong reflection in many actions in the closing week of that month, when huge expansion in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding occurred. The lowering of the buying rate for acceptances was widely described as a move by the Federal Reserve banks to check deflation through the implied invitation to member banks to make more extensive use of the credit resources of the Reserve institutions. The real purpose was merely to assure to the Reserve banks a larger supply of new bills to make good the loss in the holdings of bills resulting from the constant running off of the volume of old bills held not alone by reason of their maturity, but because of the taking up under repurchase agreements. If that was the purpose—that is, if the intention was to acquire a new supply of bills—it failed of its object, inasmuch as the weekly returns of the Federal Reserve banks showed a constant reduction in the total of the bill holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, indicating that dealers in acceptances were able to dispose of their new volumes of bills without recourse to the facilities of the Reserve banks. If the purpose was to counteract general deflationary tendencies the move also failed, since, owing to the reduction in the bill holdings, the volume of Reserve credit outstanding was to the same extent diminished. It deserves to be recorded here that about this time there was much talk about the Federal Reserve Bank embarking upon a new policy of credit ease and credit inflation. Apparently, too, the Federal Reserve authorities were engaged in discussing the subject. The lowering of the bill buying rate occurred on Tuesday, Jan. 12. The day before, a Washington dispatch to the New York "Journal of Commerce," dated Monday, Jan. 11, said that the open market policy to be followed by the Federal Reserve System during the ensuing six months had been developed on that day. Governors of the Federal Reserve Bank, meeting in secret session as the Open Market Policy Committee of the System, had considered the situation, it was stated, and had laid down a program for the half-year period. It was furthermore reported that Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills had conferred with the Committee at the afternoon session, principally to explain to the Governors the Treasury's financial requirements for the next half-year and probably to give them some details of President Hoover's program for the strengthening of business and of the banks, though no official statement was forthcoming. Among the economic proposals receiving much attention, we were told, and which probably had been taken up at the meeting, was that of a further ease of the credit situation, possibly through some type of inflation by issuance of a greater volume of Federal notes. "Some inflation would prove beneficial, it is held, although those opposing such a program pointed to the danger of its getting out of control and causing more harm than good. The object of inflation would be to cause an increase in commodity prices, necessary to restoration of good business conditions, in the view of some experts." The next day (Jan. 12) the same correspondent remarked that with virtually a complete picture of the banking, financial and business situation, and details of the Administration's plan for rehabilitation clearly outlined, the Open Market Policy Committee of the Federal Reserve System had adjourned its midwinter meeting. It was also stated that after extensive conferences with Governor Eugene Meyer, of the Reserve Board, Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, Deputy Comptroller of the Currency F. A. Awalt, and other officials, the Committee, which consisted of the Governors of the various Reserve banks, held a formal meeting with the entire Federal Reserve Board. The nature of the discussion, it was stated, was closely guarded, but the general impression was that the Federal Reserve would work in conjunction with emergency organizations authorized already, or to be set up, in an effort to bring about a turn in the tide of the depreciation. Especially would the System be in a position to aid banks. The possibility of this assistance, it was declared, would be strengthened materially by the establishment of the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The accounts in some of the other papers with regard to the matter presented the situation in even stronger light. The New York "Times," in speaking of the reduction in the buying rate for acceptances, described it as the first move in what was believed to be a new and aggressive anti-deflation campaign, adding: "The action was widely interpreted in Wall Street as the prelude to a new effort by the Federal Reserve authorities to combat the crushing deflation in security prices. It is believed that the Central Bank will shortly follow up with heavy purchases of United States Government bonds and a direct-action campaign among the banks urging them to avail themselves more fully of Federal Reserve credit for the purpose of extending assistance to their customers and obviating continued forced sales of securities." Governor George L. Harrison, of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, who expressed similar views in an address delivered by him at the midwinter meeting in New York City of the New York State Bankers' Association on Jan. 8. Governor Harrison seemed at great pains to declare his position in that respect, saying, among other things, after an analysis of the situation as it appeared to him: "One thing is certain, deflation of credit must stop if we hope to see an early turn in the tide." "As I see it," he said, "the machinery to stop this deflation and gradually to build up a structure of sound values and sound business is available. What we need is to release the brakes. . . . We need a restoration of confidence in ourselves and the courage to go ahead."

In leading up to this conclusion, Mr. Harrison made the following statement: "The total volume of bank credit in the country has declined oved 6½ billion dollars in the past two years; over four billion dollars in the past year, and probably over 2½ billion dollars in the past three months alone—a terrific deflation of loans and investments at increasing momentum. Incidentally this is perhaps the main reason why you have had such a rapid reduction in bank deposits." Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Co., expressed himself to the same effect, saying that deflation had gone far enough and should cease lest it result in general disaster.

It seems important to note here the views that were uppermost in men's minds at this time. However, if there was any intention to promote greater ease, or to check deflationary tendencies so called, they were certainly not carried to fruition during the month of January, as our analysis further below of the statements of the Federal Reserve Banks makes plain. The lowering of its buying rate for acceptances by the Federal Reserve was not followed by any reduction in the rediscount rate of the N. Y. Reserve bank, though towards the close of the month the Richmond Reserve bank and the Dallas Reserve bank both reduced their rediscount rates to the same figure as that maintained by the N. Y. Reserve bank and the other Reserve institutions, namely 3½%. The Reserve officials, however, may have been deterred by the resumption of gold withdrawal for exports on a large scale for account of France and several other European countries and the attending news from Paris that France intended recalling home about $125,000,000 of its gold deposits in this country. At all events there was plainly no need for additional volumes or even the same volume of Reserve credit. That was made plainly evident by the failure of the lower buying rate for acceptances to attract any supplies of bills. The truth is that, with year-end monetary turnover accomplished, funds once more gravitated to the N. Y. money market, as is customary at the opening of the year. Exports of gold were on a large scale, but even this was a matter of no great consequence in the absence of any demand for accomodation, either from the business world, with the times so bad, or on stock market account with speculation almost wholly dormant.

The call loan rate on the Stock Exchange on Monday Jan. 4, was 3½%, both for new loans and for renewals. On Tuesday Jan. 5, after renewals had again been effected at 3½%, the rate for new loans dropped to 3%. On Jan. 6, all loans were at 3% and on Jan. 7, after renewals had again been put through at 3%, the rate for new loans was marked down to 2½% and this latter remained the rate unchanged for the rest of the month for renewals and new loans alike. Outside the Stock Exchange there were occassional offerings at concessions from the Stock Exchange figure of 2½%, the rate on such occasions being usually 2¼%, with the offerings as a rule quite meager.

In the time loan branch of the market there was no change in conditions. As a matter of fact there was little or nothing doing in time money, with almost a complete absence of any demand for this class of accommodation. Rates were nominally 3½@3¾% for all periods and with each transaction (whenever there was one) the subject of special negotiation. Nor was there any change during the month in the commercial paper market. Very little paper was available and such as could be obtained was quickly disposed of. Rates remained unchanged with quotations for choice names of 4 to 6 months maturity at 3¾@4%, with the rate on names less well known 4¼%. On some very high class 90-day paper occasional transactions were noted at 3½%. The N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank in an announcement on Jan. 22, said that reports received by it from commercial paper dealers showed a total of $117,714,784 of open market commercial paper outstanding on Dec. 31 1931. A similar statement for Nov. 30, made the amount then $173,684,384. In its "Monthly Review," issued under date of Feb. 1, the N. Y. Reserve Bank had the following to say with reference to the commercial paper market.

"Bank investment demand for open market commercial paper showed some improvement following the turn of the year, although, in the aggregate, takings of paper by the banks throughout the country continued small, in keeping with the limited amount of new paper coming into the market. Choice paper maturing within 90 days was the most desired, but the dealers reported particular difficulty in acquiring this type of paper. Reflecting the continued small supply of open market commercial paper, outstandings of the reporting dealers aggregated $118,000,000 at the end of December. This represents a decline of 32% from November and of 67% from December 1930."

In the market for bankers acceptances, the feature of course was the action of the N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank in reducing its buying rate for bills. This occurred on Tuesday Jan. 12. Previously the Bank had been buying acceptances with a maturity of from 1 to 45 days on a discount basis of 3% per annum and bills running from 46 to 120 days on a discount basis of 3⅛% per annum. Now it lowered its rates for the purchase of bills to 2¾% on maturities of 1 to 45 days and to 3% on maturities running from 46 to 120 days, with 3¼% the rate on bills running from 121 to 180 days. Following this action open market rates for acceptances were also marked down, though not for all maturities simultaneously, reductions being made on successive days, first for one or two maturities, then for others with some further cuts as late as Friday Jan. 15, on which latter day the American Acceptance Council quoted the prevailing rate as being 2⅞% bid and 2¾% asked for bills running 30, 60, and 90 days; 3⅛% bid and 3% asked for 120 days and 3⅜% bid and 3¼% asked for 150 days and 180 days. These rates remained unaltered for the remainder of the month. The underlying conditions influencing the action of the Reserve authorities in lowering their rates for the purchase of bills have been discussed above in the opening paragraph regarding the money market. The American Acceptance Council on Jan. 20, reported a further reduction of $28,245,355 in the volume of bankers acceptances outstanding from $1,002,304,705 Nov. 30, to $974,059,350 on Dec. 31. This last was the smallest volume of the year and $581,906,851 less than the amount at the end of 1930 and $750,000,000 less than the all time high of Dec. 31 1929. The Federal Reserve Bank of N. Y. in dealing with the acceptance market for January had the following to say:

"The bill dealers began the new year with a fairly large volume of bills in their portfolios, due to substantial sales by New York banks at the year-end. Early in January the investment demand for bills on the part of domestic institutions increased, which, together with continued purchases of bills by foreign central banks, resulted in a reduction of dealers' holdings to comparatively small proportions. Consequently, open market rates were reduced following the changes made in the Reserve Bank's buying rates on Jan. 12, and a few days later certain maturities of bills were reduced further in an effort to attract offerings of bills. The net result of these changes was to reduce open market offering rates for unindorsed bills up to 90-day maturity to 2¾%, a decrease of ¼% for the month; five- and six-month bills showed a decline of ⅜% in offering rates and of ½% in bid rates; and the four-month maturity was lowered ⅛% in the bid rate, with the offering quotation unchanged. The changes made in the bills of longer than 90-day maturity narrowed the spread between bid and offering rates to ⅛%, the same range as prevailed for the shorter bills.

"Notwithstanding the lower rate structure in the bill market, the investment demand for bills continued rather active and on the whole banks were not disposed to sell bills from their holdings, due to the ample supply of funds in the money market resulting from a substantial movement of funds to New York from other districts. Consequently, the amount of bills in the portfolios of discount houses continued small through the balance of the month.

"The Federal Reserve Banks' holdings of acceptances declined continuously during January, due to the good investment demand from domestic and foreign banks, and on January 27 amounted to $162,000,000, compared with $327,000,000 on December 30. The retirement of Reserve Bank bill holdings was largest during the first part of the month when bills which had been sold to the Reserve Banks under repurchase agreement in the closing days of December were repurchased by the dealers. Maturities from outright holdings also were heavier in the early part of the month."

In the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks there were two changes during January. Both the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas and the Reserve Bank of Richmond marked their rates down from 4% to 3½%. The Richmond Reserve bank announcement came on Jan. 23, the lower rate being made effective on Jan. 25. The change by the Dallas Reserve bank was announced Jan. 27 and became effective Jan. 28. This brought the rate on all the 12 Reserve banks to the uniform basis of 3½%.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

After the sharp expansion in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding during December there came in January the usual contraction following the turn of the year. The money withdrawn for holiday purposes returned to the banks and the money needed for the end of the month and the end of the year settlements, likewise returned. Recourse to the facilities of the Federal Reserve Banks in like manner lessened. As narrated further above, in our discussion of the money market, there was much talk about the Reserve banks desiring to ease the credit situation, and the lowering of the buying rate for acceptances by the New York Reserve bank on Jan. 12, was made with that object in view or rather it was made with the idea of attracting a supply of bills, but as already shown it proved ineffectual for the purpose, as there was no difficulty in finding a market for acceptances and accordingly there was no need of tendering bills to the Reserve banks. The acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions fell from $326,975,000 Dec. 30 to $162,261,000 Jan. 27. At the same time the discount holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions fell from $1,024,133,000 Dec. 30 to $818,216,000 Jan. 6, and the last week of the month (Jan. 27) increased again to $837,639,000. Holdings of U. S. government securities were also somewhat reduced, falling from $803,228,000 Dec. 30 to 751,716,000 Jan. 27. As against this the holdings of other securities representing loans to the Intermediate Credit banks were somewhat larger, standing at $36,296,000 Jan. 27, against $30,880,000 Dec. 30. The final result was that total bill and security holdings, representing the amount of Reserve credit outstanding, decreased from $2,185,216,000 Dec. 30 to $1,787,912,000 Jan. 27. It is important to note, however, that there was no corresponding reduction in the amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation. The amount fluctuated considerably from week to week and on Jan. 27 stood at $2,627,296,000 against $2,613,104,000 Dec. 30, at which date there had been a decrease from $2,661,206,000 Dec. 23. Gold reserves were $2,986,986,000 Jan. 27, as compared with $2,987,564,000 Dec. 30. The ratio of reserves of all kinds to deposits and Federal Reserve note liabilities combined was considerably improved, rising from 61.9% Dec. 30 to 67.4% Jan. 27. While the acceptance holdings of the Reserve banks were heavily reduced as already indicated, their holdings for account of foreign central banks increased and Jan. 27, were reported at $304,777,000 against $248,529,000 Dec. 30. Deposits of foreign banks with the Reserve institutions fluctuated somewhat and Jan. 27 were $79,937,000 against $77,259,000 Dec. 30 and $107,823,000 Dec. 23.

Broker's loans have undergone such huge diminution that little interest attaches to the figures. Suffice it to say that the amount of these loans further declined during January dropping from $591,000,000 Dec. 30, to $513,000,000 Jan. 27 or the lowest since Feb. 1 1918 when the amount reported was $510,179,000. The borrowings by Stock Exchange members, as reported once a month by the Stock Exchange itself, also showed further contraction. The total of such borrowings for Saturday Jan. 30, is reported at $512,017,942 against $587,159,813 Dec. 31; $730,151,908 on Nov. 30; $796,268,768 on Oct. 31; $1,044,107,879 on Sept. 30 and $1,354,067,350 on Aug. 31.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING JANUARY.

Sterling exchange showed decided improvement during January, though experiencing considerable fluctuations. Seasonal influences have a tendency to stiffen sterling at the current time, in the removal of a good part of the pressure to pay for importations of grain, cotton, &c., though it is recognized that the normal functioning of international exchanges must await the solution of International banking problems of large consequence. There were also expectations, nearly all through the month, that the Bank of England might lower its discount rate from the high figure of 6% established the previous September. Open market rate for money sharply declined and at the close of January discounts for short bills were 4½@5¼ against 5⅝@5⅞ at the end of December while three months bills were quoted at 5@5¾% as against 5 9/16@6% at the end of December. Then also Great Britain's position was being strengthened by large shipments of gold from India, aside from the regular importations from South Africa. Associated Press advices from Bombay Jan. 16, stated that India had shipped more than $100,000,000 worth of gold to London since Great Britain abandoned the gold standard on Sept. 21 1931, and if shipments were continued at the present rate they were expected to double the entire world output of gold in the year 1931 which was estimated at approximately $420,000,000. Despite adverse trade conditions created by the disturbed political situation in India, more than $9,000,000 in gold had been shipped to London on that very day. It was added that this steady outgo was regarded by financiers as an important contributing factor to the recent rise in the pound sterling. Further evidence of the improvement that was taking place came on Jan. 25, when a statement from the Bank of England announced that the Bank would terminate at maturity on Feb. 1, the £15,000,000 gold credit still carried with the Federal reserve banks and also a similar credit of £15,000,000 still open with the Bank of France. The credits in both instances, when negotiated the previous Aug. 1, were for an amount of £25,000,000 each but repayment of £10,000,000 of each credit was effected at the end of October. In other words on Aug. 1 1931 the Bank of England obtained a credit of $125,000,000 from our Federal Reserve banks and another credit of $125,000,000 from the bank of France, making $250,000,000 together, but repaid $50,000,000 in each instance at the end of three months, leaving $75,000,000 of each credit still out or $150,000,000 together. While the $75,000,000 credit in each instance was still outstanding it was apparantely not in use, at least not in the United States, since the announcement of the termination of the same was accompanied by the statement that "this repayment will not involve any reduction in the Bank of England gold reserves." As to the French portion of the credit reports Feb. 1 stated that reimbursement had been effected through francs which the Bank of England bought in the Paris market thus avoiding touching British gold reserves.

There was apparently also support of sterling from another source. Foreign exchange circles the latter part of the month stated that sterling was being supported by French pegging operations. A systematic transfer of French balances from London to Paris by way of New York was reported to be in progress and French banking interests were seemingly controlling the sterling market to ensure an orderly transfer of these funds. The operation was described as beginning by the selling of sterling against dollars for French account, with the next step the purchase of francs for which there has been a steady demand in the exchange market. The sterling balances are being transfered to New York, it is explained, for two reasons: first because the sterling-franc market is too thin to allow successful operation; second, gold can be obtained in New York for shipment to Paris whenever the exchange rates permit the purchase of the metal. The French were also said to be capitalizing the seasonal trends. Normally for the ensuing few months sterling receives support against dollars for commercial requirements. This support was strongly apparent during the latter part of January. A fluctuating rate, it was argued, would interfere with the French program and consequently, so foreign exchange brokers stated, at any sign of weakening in the sterling rate a French bid of substantial size would make its appearance. This, coupled with the normal seasonal demand, was said to be sufficient to discourage the formation of a substantial short interest. On Jan. 2, the rate here for cable transfers on London ranged between 3.39¾ and 3.40¾. On Jan. 6, sales were reported at as low as 3.35. A quick improvement to 3.41⅝ on Jan. 8 followed. Then there occurred some weakness for a couple of days after which the rate resumed its upward course and touched 3.49⅞ on Jan. 15. After that the market sagged somewhat and on Jan. 30 the range was 3.45⅛@3.54¾. The latter part of the month sterling futures sold at a premium whereas previously they were quoted at a slight discount. The Bank of England showed only slight changes in its gold holdings from week to week. The return for the week ending Jan. 6, registered a loss of £24,091, that for Jan. 13, a gain of £6,205; that for Jan. 20 a loss of £9,664; and that for Jan. 27, a gain of £28,662. On Jan. 30 it was announced that the period for the maintenance of the fiduciary note issue at £275,000,000 had been extended to April 30; it will be recalled that £15,000,000 had been added the previous August.

Canadian exchange continued to show a heavy discount throughout the month, but the depreciation of the Canadian dollar lessened to some extent the latter half of the month. The discount was only 13⅛@13¾ Jan. 30 as against 15⅞@16¼% on Jan. 4. It was stated on Jan. 18 that the action taken by the Canadian Bankers Association the previous month to control, inso far as they were able, the purchase abroad of securities by residents of Canada had had a remedial effect and restrictions on the sale of foreign exchange by the banks would be relaxed. This was according to an announcement on Jan. 18 by John A. McLeod, President of the Association. However, the banks would, wherever possible, discourage purchases of securities held abroad, appealing to their customers to refrain from making such purchases while the excessive exchange rates continued.

As to the gold movement in and out of the United States it has already been indicated in our remarks further above with reference to the money market that exports of the metal were heavy especially to France which had resumed withdrawals of the metal on a large scale, and indicated that she contemplated ultimate withdrawals of $125,000,000 from our Federal Reserve banks on this new movement. During January $83,700 000 altogether were taken on French account, but $25,400,000 of this seems to have represented gold held under earmark. The N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank summarizes U. S. gold movement for the month as follows:

"During the first half of January, gold exports and imports and changes in earmarked gold held for foreign central banks largely balanced, and the monetary gold stock of the United States showed virtually no net change from the end of December. In the second half of the month, there were fairly substantial exports, principally of gold which had been previously earmarked, but at the same time there were additional amounts of gold placed under earmark for foreign central banks. The net result was a decline of about $45,000,000 in the country's gold stock during this period.

"Gold shipments for the month, including shipments from earmark, involved exports of $83,700,000 to France, $12,400,000 to Belgium, $6,200,000 to Holland, $3,400,000 to England, and $1,700,000 to Switzerland. Partially offsetting these exports were $9,100,000 of gold received at New York from Argentina, $4,500,000 from India, $3,900,000 from Canada. $2,900,000 from Colombia, and $650,000 from Cuba; also $10,100,000 of gold received at San Francisco from Japan. In addition to these imports there was a net decrease of $25,400,000 in the amount of gold held under earmark for foreign account."

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

French exchange, and also exchange on some of the other Continental countries, was to a considerable extent governed by the operations growing out of the action of the Bank of France in resuming withdrawals of gold in this country for shipment to France. As stated immediately above, the export movement of gold from the United States was again on a large scale. The exports of the metal to France for the month aggregated no less than $83,700,000, besides which $12,400,000 was taken for Belgium, $6,200,000 for Holland, $3,400,000 for England and $1,700,000 for Switzerland, or a total of $107,400,000, part of this but only a part represented gold previously earmarked for foreign account and now packed for shipment abroad. This is evident from the fact that the net decrease for the month in the amount of gold held under earmark for foreign account was $25,400,000. There was a repetition of the rumors, so widely circulated the previous September when Great Britain abandoned the gold standard, that the United States was engaging in a policy of credit and currency inflation, and that as a consequence the country might be forced to follow in the footsteps of Great Britain and depart off the gold standard. These rumors gained such wide currency and repeated so persistently that our Government found it incumbent to issue a statement denying that there was any basis for such rumors. A Paris cablegram, Jan. 18, to the New York "Times" stated that the American Embassy had issued a statement to the French press on that date calling its attention to a declaration by President Hoover on Jan. 19, not previously published in Paris, in which the President asserted that the budget of the United States would be balanced for the year beginning July 1. "The policy thus enunciated by the President would seem to insure against inflation of the public debt" the Embassy's announcement concluded, according to the cablegram, which also said that the statement was believed to have been called forth by dispatches from H. Parker Willis, New York banking expert, to a French daily which had been widely quoted there.

It appears also that Paris was much disturbed by a report that Senator David A. Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania had said that the United States might seize French assets in the United States as part payment for debts owed by France to this country. The statement, it seems, appeared in an article by the former Prime Minister of France, M. Herriot, in which he said: "David A. Reed, United States Senator, has told us that his country might under certain circumstances seize our assets." But Senator Reed denied that he ever said anything of the kind. "I never made any such statement. It would have been silly of me to have made any statement like that, or any statement susceptible of such construction. In discussing the intergovernmental debts in a radio speech last week I did make a statement that the French Republic had on deposit in New York ten times as much money as was necessary to make the annual installments due on her debt to us; that she had enough on deposit there to pay for ten years installments on her obligations to this country. I made that statement for the purpose of showing that no question of exchange, or balance of commodities, or trade balance, was involved in her capacity to pay. I did not say this country would or could attach those balances which she has in New York City. It would have been silly to say so. If we were at war with her we might seize them as enemy property, but we are not going to war to collect that debt." However, it became pretty well established that the Bank of France contemplated withdrawal altogether of $125,000,000 of gold held in this country. Thus the New York "Times," in its issue of Jan. 20, in referring to the movement to France, had the following to say:

The Bank of France has arranged to repatriate $125,000,000 of gold which it holds under earmark in the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The transfer, which is to be made in ten shipments of about $12,500,000 each, will not involve any increase in the gold holdings of the French central bank nor any decrease in the monetary gold stocks of this country, which amounted on last Wednesday to $4,457,000,000.

In discussing the operation yesterday bankers here explained that the Bank of France had conveyed its intention of taking home its store of earmarked gold last October, when two representatives of the French bank were in this country. Since no loss of gold to this country is involved, the action will be without effect upon the money market, bankers said.

About $400,000,000 gold is set aside in the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank under earmark for foreign account, of which the Bank of France owns $125,000,000; the National Bank of Belgium is estimated to hold nearly as much, and the rest is owned by other central banks, including the Central Bank of Switzerland and the Bank of the Netherlands.

None of this gold is included in the $4,457,000,000 of monetary gold stocks of the United States. The foreign central banks for whose account the earmarked gold has been set aside regard the metal as though it were lodged in their own vaults and include it in their statements of gold reserves.

In addition to the $125,000,000 of earmarked gold which the Bank of France holds in this market, the French bank of issue is estimated to have about $100,000,000 of deposits with commercial banks and to own the bulk of the $75,129,000 of deposits and $285,141,000 of acceptances held by the Federal Reserve banks for the account of foreign correspondents.

Total dollar balances of the Bank of France were estimated last fall to amount to $600,000,000, but since then the Bank of France has repatriated some of its funds, little by little, and the total amount now held in this market is believed to be substantially less, possibly $400,000,000 or $450,000,000.

Recent reports from Paris have indicated that the Bank of France may accelerate the repatriation of its foreign balances. Bankers here are without information on the subject, but see no cause for concern. The opinion has been current for some time that a diminution in the volume of Bank of France dollar balances would be a healthy development.

In London, however, the belief prevailed in certain quarters that the action of the Bank of France in withdrawing such amounts of gold from the United States was partly political and intended to bring pressure upon the American Government with the view possibly of influencing it to act with the French Government with respect to German reparations payments. As to the reasons influencing Belgium in its withdrawals of Belgium balances in the United States, Associated Press cablegrams from Brussels Jan. 23 said that the director of the National Bank of Belgium had stated that withdrawals of Belgium gold from depositories in the United States were in pursuance of a policy adopted last September. At that time, he explained, Belgium decided to abandon the gold exchange standard, substituting the gold bullion standard, and to convert its balances in all markets, including New York, Paris, Amsterdam and Stockholm. On the other hand the opinion of Dutch bankers seemed to be divided about the reason for the recall of her foreign balances by France, with the resultant gold movement. At least that was what Amsterdam cablegram, Jan. 22 appearing in the New York "Times" of Jan. 25 said, adding: "All bankers recognize that excessive foreign credits of the kind mean danger, as was abundently proved by the experience of London last summer. Therefore it is agreed that some correction in existing conditions is not undesirable. Nevertheless present circumstances make large gold movements, from whatever cause, an object of suspicion."

The French franc was firm throughout the month and generally above the gold export point except for an occasional dip downward. At the beginning of the month there was some weakness and cable transfers on Paris dropped from 3.93 13/16 on Jan. 2 to 3.91 13/16 on Jan. 9, but quick recovery followed and on January 16 the French franc touched 3.94; on January 30 the range was 3.93½@3.93⅝. It was noticed that whenever the rate dipped, whether because of inactivity in trading or from any other cause, the market became aware that the French authorities were ready to step in with the result that the rate would turn sharply upward again. Reference was made above in our discussion of sterling exchange that the opinion prevailed that a systematic transfer of French balances from London to Paris by way of New York was being engaged in. The Bank of France in its statement for the week ending Jan. 8 recorded an increase in gold holdings of 416,426,077 francs; in the week ending Jan. 15 it showed a further gain of 567,356,957 francs; in the week ending Jan. 22 still another gain of 842,372,418 francs and in the week ending Jan. 29 a gain of 936,000,000 francs. That the Bank was calling home its foreign balances appeared from the fact that its credit balances abroad declined 1,223,000,000 francs in the week ending Jan. 8; 726,000,000 francs in the week ending Jan. 15; 951,000,000 francs in the week ending Jan. 22 and 572,000,000 francs in the week ending Jan. 29.

As to changes in discount rates by central banks the National Bank of Belgium on Jan. 13 advanced its rate 1% to 3½%, this being the first change since July 31 1930. On Jan. 12 the Bank of Greece raised its rate from 11% to 12%, the 11% rate having been in effect since Oct. 29 1931. The Hungarian National Bank on Jan. 20 reduced from 8% to 7% and the Bank of Estonia on Jan. 29 reduced from 6½% to 5½%. On Jan. 14 the Imperial Bank of India reduced from 8% to 7%, the 8% rate having prevailed since Sept. 22 1931. On Jan. 21 the Banco de Republica of Colombia lowered its rate from 7% to 6%.

The German mark turned sharply lower during January, but with substantial recovery the latter part of the month, though what significance attached to the changes is not known, since all the foreign exchange and financial operations in Germany are under the control of the Government and the Bank of Germany, exercised by means of decrees. Cable transfers on Berlin dropped from 23.80 Jan. 2 to 23.55 Jan. 19 and then recovered, so that the range Saturday Jan. 30 was 23.61@23.69. There were some important developments in German affairs which have been noted further above in the earlier portion of this article. The most of these were political factors, such as the declaration on Jan. 9 by Chancellor Bruening that Germany is no longer able to make reparations payments of any kind and the repercussions to which this led. Germany was pleased, however, that the large body of short term private credits included in the standstill agreement was to be extended for another year, though with qualifying conditions to cover possible contingencies. Governor Moret of the Bank of France stated at the annual meeting of the Bank stockholders on Jan. 28 that the Bank's share ($25,000,000) in the $100,000,000 credit to Germany granted the previous summer and due Feb. 4 would be renewed but only for one month. The renewal was subject to similar action being taken by three other participants in the credit, namely the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the Bank of England and the Bank for International Settlements. The latter had on Jan. 11 agreed to extend its portion of the credit on condition that the other participants in the credit would agree to a similar extension. The Bank for International Settlements also at the same time renewed for three months its share in the $27,000,000 credit to Austria expiring on Jan. 16, the $20,000,000 to Hungary expiring on Jan. 18 and the $4,000,000 to Yugoslavia expiring on Jan. 28. It did so after noting that all the other contributors had agreed to do the same. It should be added that the French Bank agreed to leave its money in the hands of the Reichsbank for another month only if the latter obtained from the German Government assurance that no obstacle would be put in the way of the export of German gold to amount of $25,000,000 should the credit be recalled after the new term. Extension for one month of the $25,000,000 Federal Reserve credit was announced Feb. 3. The Bank of Germany in its return for the first quarter of January recorded a loss in gold of 4,912,000 marks, for the second quarter a loss of 12,802,000 marks for the third quarter a loss of 9,844,000 marks, and for the final quarter of the month a loss of 8,572,000 marks.

Austrian affairs became further greatly disturbed. Associated Press advices from Vienna Jan. 9 stated that the Austrian National Bank had ordered the banks of Vienna to declare a moratorium on further payments to foreign creditors under the stand still agreement of September 1930; that agreement provided that short term credit totaling about $27,000,000 then falling due were to be repaid in installments over a three year period. In a circular letter the National Bank said that: "In view of the present situation" it no longer will prevent export of foreign exchange for that purpose. Foreign creditors were invited to a conference to arrange a new agreement. A cablegram Jan. 15 said that international bankers, including American interests, had agreed to a revised "still-haltung" agreement respecting Austrian short term credits, with the scale of payment under the new plan reduced in conformity to the volume of foreign exchange at the disposal of the Austrian National Bank. American bankers, the committee declared, had consented to make the new agreement effective as of Jan. 11 and to extend it to Dec. 31. On the other hand United Press advices from Vienna stated that the Bank of England had agreed to a three months extension of the 100,000,000 Austrian schillings ($21,000,000) loan. The cable added that when the loan was made last summer without guarantee it was understood that it would be renewed as long as necessary. Bankers here explained the discrepancy between the American agreement and the three months agreement of the Bank of England by the statement that their agreement would only be continued beyond the three months time limit if all other interested countries concurred. It was stated that under the new arrangement Austrian banks, other than the Credit Anstalt, would undertake to pay every ninety days 5% of the total volume of credits outstanding. Previously they paid 15% every ninety days. On Jan. 20 Vienna advices to the New York "Times" stated that a fresh postponement of the settlement of foreign short term debts of all Austrian banks, except the Credit Anstalt, amounting to $23,000,000, had been announced that night. The National Bank which three weeks previously had notified foreign creditors that Austrian banks were unable to continue their quarterly amortization payments of 15% of the sums due them, later agreed to a continuance of these payments, which, however, were subsequently reduced from 15% to 5%. The Bank now announced that it was unable to sanction the agreement just reached between the Austrian banks and their foreign creditors. The Bank supported its action by a reference to the insistence of the League of Nations on the necessity of maintaining Austria's reserves in foreign exchange and said it must press for a further reduction in the amortization payments.

The affairs of Hungary also became more deeply involved and on Jan. 17 the New York "Times" reported that the Committee of New York bankers in charge of working out a stand-still agreement between the American creditor banks and the Hungarian debtor banks, had abandoned further efforts along this line, because the Hungarian banks had notified them that they would not have sufficient exchange to pay the interest and commissions on the short term debts due American bankers. The "Times" noted that towards the close of 1931 Hungary had declared a moratorium on most of its foreign debts, but excepted the short term loans of foreign bankers, at the same time saying that it would seek to obtain a stand-still agreement regarding these credits. Bulgaria also found itself compelled to ask for relief. A cablegram from Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 12, stated that a cabinet council had decided that night to demand a moratorium for foreign debts of the Bulgarian states. The Minister of Finance pointed out that foreign exchange at the disposal of the National Bank was only sufficient to pay Bulgarian private commercial debts abroad. The Reserve of the Bank coverage of notes has been reduced to 34%, and the Minister said it was , therefore, essential, if the level of stability was to be maintained, that a moratorium for the State debts be arranged. Bulgaria's total debt to the United States was estimated at $27,000,000. On the other hand reports that Yugoslavia was "on the brink of default," was officially denied by the Consul General at New York, who said "the kingdom of Yugoslavia has paid until now all its loan obligations and has not defaulted on any." From Prague came a cablegram Jan. 20 saying "The Czecho-Slovak Finance Ministry has announced further currency restrictions. As a result of the adverse effect of the financial restrictions of her neighbors on Czecho-Slovak trade the Ministry said it had become necessary to restrict allotment of foreign exchange for import payments. All future applications for foreign exchange must be for vital necessaries, such as foodstuffs, and will be subject to rigorous examination by a commission of experts, who will forward their recommendations to the National Bank." Greece also found itself in a bad way and United Press advices on Jan. 8 stated that "Greek merchants and members of professions in various provincial towns have proclaimed a moratorium on debts to individuals and banks. The situation of many towns in the interior of Greece is desperate due to lack of food and extreme cold."

Italian Exchange moved substantially lower and the lira on Italy for cable transfers dropped from 5.10 Jan. 2 to 5.00 Jan. 29 and was 5.00@5.01⅛ Jan. 30. A dispatch from Milan Jan. 16 stated that restrictions on the purchase of foreign exchange were being more strictly enforced of late—an indication of the difficulties the Government was having in keeping capital from fleeing to France, Switzerland and other nations. The Government, it was stated, undoubtedly would continue to maintain the present rate of stabilization to the very best of its ability. For the immediate outlook the worst contingency appeared to be some sort of controlled exchange system—similar to the systems enforced currently in Austria and Germany. The two rate systems, namely of holding the lira at one rate on the Bourse and at another in the banks had been abandoned. The Central bank was now providing other banks with foreign exchange at the official rate; each bank turning in each morning its list of requirements for that day. The purchase of securities in foreign currencies, even if of Italian issue such as the Morgan loan to Italy, was prohibited by a new ruling put into effect.

Exchange on the countries neutral during the war showed on the whole an upward trend, with no distinctive special feature. Some of these, especially the Scandinavian currencies, move most of the time in unison with the course of sterling exchange, and the latter, as already indicated, showed an improving tendency. The early part of the month there was some weakness in the Scandinavian exchanges, but this gave way later to an upward trend, as in the case of exchange on London. The Danish crown on cable transfers after selling at 18.80@18.90 Jan. 2 dropped to 18.57@18.65 Jan. 6, but then moved upward, selling as high as 19.19@19.30 Jan. 16, with the range Jan. 30 18.96@19.05. The Swedish crown for cable transfers sold down from 19.15 Jan. 4 to 18.95 Jan. 11 and then moved up to 19.42 Jan. 18 with the range Jan. 30 19.33@19.38. The Norwegian crown for cable transfers sold down from 18.75 Jan. 2 to 18.40 Jan. 5, then advanced to 19.10 Jan. 16, with the range Jan. 30 at 18.76@18.80. Dutch guilders after early weakness also moved sharply upward. It has already been noted that $6,200,000 gold was taken for export to Holland during January and it was noted in the foreign exchange market that one reason for these large takings of gold was that Dutch and other European investors frequently order the sale of their securities and specify that the proceeds abroad be returned in gold. Such gold transfers are of course not on an exchange basis, and often involve losses to the European investors. The same observations apply to some of the shipments of gold to Switzerland. Cable transfers on Amsterdam, as against 40.26½ on Jan. 4 sold as low as 40.07 on Jan. 8 but touched 40.30 Jan. 16 and again Jan. 23, with the range Jan. 30 40.24½@40.27. Swiss francs moved rather irregularly, but much in the same way as the other neutral exchanges, though not showing the same sustained strength as these other exchanges. The exports of gold from the United States to Switzerland reached $1,700,000. Cable transfers on Switzerland touched 19.53½ Jan. 4, were down to 19.46 Jan. 9, sold up to 19.54 Jan. 16 and closed Jan. 30 at 19.51@19.51¾. The Spanish peseta moved still lower, presumably because of the internal troubles in Spain, some of which needed military intervention for their suppression. The peseta for cable transfers on Jan. 30 sold down to 8.21@8.25 against 8.45@8.47 on Jan. 4.

The South American exchanges were without special feature. Quotations of the South American countries are as a rule merely nominal, exchange transactions being at a standstill owing to moratoria and Governmental control of exchange and of other financial operations. The Central banks of Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and Colombia as a result of conferences held by them in Lima, Peru, from Dec. 1 to Dec. 12, decided to withdraw their legal reserve balances from London and deposit them at New York. Selling of sterling by these countries for the purpose of transfer into dollars was in evidence the early part of the month. The amounts involved, however, were not large, as a rule. It was estimated that the Central Bank of Chile held balances in London amounting to £1,600,000 and Bolivia approximately £1,000,000. Peru was thought to have only £50,000 in London. The sterling reserves of Ecuador and the Banco do Brazil are also believed to have been insignificant. The foreign currency reserves of Venezuela and Colombia, it was understood, were being held in New York in dollars. The Argentine peso showed no important fluctuations nor did the Brazilian milreis. On cable transfers the peso was quoted at 25.70@26.09 Jan. 30 against 25.80@26.00 on Jan. 2, and the Brazilian milreis for cable transfers was 6.00@6.38 Jan. 30 as compared with 6.00@6.30 Jan. 2.

Exchange on the Far East was of course affected by the disturbance in the relations between China and Japan, yet in most cases the rates on the leading Eastern centers were slightly higher at the close of the month than at the opening. The reason for this was that the crisis in these relations was not reached until the last week of the month, when the Japanese extended their military operations from Manchuria into the Shanghai area. Before this matters in Manchuria appeared to be gradually settling down, and after the Japanese occupation of Manchuria, accordingly exchange rates moved higher. On the development of the crisis growing out of the Shanghai operations, exchange rates dropped back, but in some instances the declines then sustained did not wipe out the whole of the early gains. The Japanese yen for checks moved up from 34.75@35.25 Jan. 2 to 37.63@37.81 Jan. 15, but on Jan. 30 sold down to 34.57@35.00. Taels on Shanghai for checks were 32.52@33.38 Jan. 30 against 33.16½@33.63 Jan. 2. The Hong Kong dollar was quoted at 24.95@25.50 Jan. 30 in comparison with 25.08@25⅜ Jan. 2. Rupees on Bombay for checks were 25.98@26.19 Jan. 30 against 25.81@26.00 Jan. 2. The course of silver prices, which ordinarily would exercise a controlling effect on the Eastern exchanges, did not prove of any aid to these exchanges during January, inasmuch as silver moved downward, though with some upward reaction again the latter part of the month. The London price of silver on Jan. 2 was 20 5/16 pence per ounce, from which there was an advance to 20 7/16 on Jan. 5, but on Jan. 18, and again on Jan. 20, the price was down to 18 15/16 pence; the quotation Jan. 30 was 19 5/16 pence.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during January and range for year 1931. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.
